

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

STATE OF WISCONSIN.

IN SENATE.

JOURNAL OF PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL SESSION

OF THE

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

BY AUTHORITY.

MADISON, WIS.:
E. B. BOLENS, STATE PRINTER.

1876.

IN SENATE.

JOURNAL OF PROCEEDINGS

OF THE

TWENTY-NINTH ANNUAL SESSION.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1876.

The Twenty-Ninth Annual Session of the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin, began at Madison, the Capital of the said State, the second Wednesday, being the 12th day of January, 1876.

Pursuant to law, at 12 o'clock M., of said day, the Senate was called to order by Lieutenant-Governor C. D. Parker, in the following words:

SENATORS:—The hour fixed by law, for the convening of the Legislature of our State, for the year 1876, has arrived.

On assuming the position of President of this honorable body for the third time, I feel no less the great responsibilities resting upon me than when I first took this chair.

I shall still need your assistance and indulgence, without which no presiding officer can succeed.

In return for this courtesy, I shall, to the best of my ability, endeavor to be impartial and just in all my rulings, carrying out the wishes of the Senate, as expressed in its rules and practice.

I hope each Senator will labor earnestly to promote the interests of the whole State, and that our Centennial Session may long be noted for the harmony and practical ability of its Senate.

The roll of Senators holding over from 1875 was called by Fred. A. Dennett, Chief Clerk of that session, and the following Senators from their respective districts appeared and took their seats:

List of Senators holding over from 1875.

REPORT of the Women's State Centennial Executive Committee of Wisconsin.

To the Honorable Legislature of the State:

The one thousand dollars, ($1,000.) appropriation of the Legislature of 1875 to the Women's Centennial Executive Committee, have been used—as audited by the committee—in the following manner: Six hundred dollars, ($600,) were deposited on interest in the State Bank at Madison, in the month of April, 1875, where it still remains.

By the vote of the committee and the local chairmen throughout the State—as announced by published circulars distributed in the month of November, 1875—it is held by the committee as a contribution to the "Women's State Commemorative Work of Art" for the International Exhibition. One hundred dollars, ($100,) have been sent to Beloit to aid in the execution of the memorial work from that city, for the same purpose. One hundred and seventy-two dollars and fifty-two cents, ($172.52,) have been used for purposes of State organization, printing, and circulating information throughout the State in reference to the general interests of the women's department of the centennial enterprise. Accounts in detail may be found at the office of W. W. Field, Secretary of State Board of Centennial Managers. One hundred and twenty-seven dollars and forty-eight cents, ($127.48,) remains in bank to be used at the discretion of the committee for general State work.

All of which is respectfully submitted by the Women's State Centennial Executive Committee.

MRS. J. G. THORP,

Chairman.

MISS MARTHA PEET,

Vice Chairman.

MRS. PRES. BASCOM,

Secretary.

MRS. PROF. KERR,

Assistant Secretary.

MRS. JUDGE J. C. HOPKINS,

Treasurer.

MISS MINNIE ATWOOD,

Assistant Treasurer.

The report was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

REPORT OF THE STATE BOARD OF CENTENNIAL MANAGERS.

To the Honorable, the Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin:

In accordance with the provisions of chapter 167, of the general laws of 1875, a State Board of Centennial Managers was created, consisting of Hon. David Atwood, United States Centennial Commissioner, and E. D. Holton, alternate commissioner, who were members ex-officio, and five members appointed by the Governor, as follows:

Prof. J. B. Parkinson, Eli Stilson, Esq., Col. E. A. Calkins,* Hon. J. I. Case, and Hon. Thad. C. Pound.

The State board thus created met in the State Agricultural Rooms in the capitol on the first Wednesday, being the 7th day of April, 1875, as provided by law, and organized by the election of J. B. Parkinson, president, and W. W. Field, secretary.

By virtue of the law referred to the board issued the following circular letter and classification of the material interests of the State:

*Col. Calkins resigned May 4, 1875, and Adolph Meinecke, of Milwaukee, was appointed in his place.

STATE BOARD OF CENTENNIAL MANAGERS.

Circular and Classification.

The propriety of having the vast natural resources of Wisconsin, with her varied agricultural products, manufactured articles and fruits of other industries, properly presented at the International Exhibition at Philadelphia, in 1876, can hardly be questioned. The magnitude of the labor necessary to collect these various samples, and put them into presentable shape, leads one to the inquiry: How can it best be done?

The State Board of Managers, having had the matter under careful consideration, has adopted a plan, and earnestly solicits the aid of our people in carrying it out.

The Director-General of the United States Centennial Commission has given notice that the work is so far advanced that he is now ready to receive applications for space, and blanks for this purpose have been issued, accompanied with specific directions as to how they are to be filled, and how space may be obtained. These blanks can be had by applying to W. W. Field, of Madison, Secretary of the board. Goods should be ready for shipment by the first of January, 1876. The classification is wide enough in its range to embrace everything that contributes to the welfare of our race, religiously, socially, mentally, morally, and physically.

The State board has made a classification of the various interests of Wisconsin, which, it is thought, will include all that it is desirable to have represented; and would solicit the aid of experts in the several specialties, in procuring samples and in preparing them for exhibition. A sub-committee of one or more will be designated to take charge of each class, as fast as suitable persons can be found who will assume the labor imposed. All questions pertaining to each specialty will be referred to the committee who has it in charge, the State board retaining a general supervisory control over all the collections. The sub-committees will also be required to report progress, from time to time, to the State-board, and each committee will be expected to have the articles included in its specialty, prepared for shipment at the place to be designated by the board, and by the first of January, 1876.

The classes or groups will be known [and designated by numbers, as follows:

1. Geological strata of the State.
2. Rock, stone, and slate.
3. The various soils, with analyses.
4. Sands, gravel, gypsum, ochres, &c.
5. Minerals, producing metals.
6. Minerals, not producing metals, as coal, peat, &c.
7. Vegetables for man or beast.
8. Fruits.

9. Grains, seeds, and grasses.
10. Animals, domesticated and others.
11. Ornithological specimens, especially of domesticated fowls.
12. Entomological specimens.
13. Conchology of the State.
14. Fishes and water animals.
15. Wood-producing plants, with cross-section of each kind of tree above six inches in diameter.
16. Agricultural machinery and implements.
17. Other mechanical products—of wood.
18. Other mechanical products—of iron.
19. Ship-building.
20. Special manufactures, including beers, wines, and spirits, with statistics relative to the manufacture of the same.
21. Tobacco-samples, with statistics relative to manufacture.
22. Domestic fabrics, manufactured by hand.
23. Fabrics manufactured by machinery.
24. Leather and fabrics of leather.
25. Fancy and ornamental handiwork.
26. Plastic and graphic arts.
27. Dairy products.
28. Architectural drafts, penmanship, &c.
29. Newspaper and book publications.
30. Photographs of Wisconsin scenery and Wisconsin men and women.
31. Wisconsin patents and useful inventions.
32. Railroad system—extent of road and management.
33. Navigable waters and commerce on same.
34. Water powers, natural and developed.
35. Territorial and State history, showing organization, progress, &c.
36. Schools, colleges, &c., including succinct history and statistics of the educational system of the State.
37. Benevolent, Charitable, and Penal Institutions.
38. Church History, including statistics of all religious denominations in the State.
39. Immigration—Social and vital statistics of—means of promoting.
40. Professional Associations.
41. Scientific Associations.
42. Social, Moral, and Benevolent Associations.
43. Banking and Insurance.

J. B. PARKINSON,
President.
W. W. FIELD,
Secretary.

Suitable persons were selected and commissioned by the board as sub-committees upon most of the classes or groups mentioned in the above classification, to take charge of, and report upon the particular specially assigned to each.

Some of the sub-committees have been quite efficient in the discharge of these duties, while others have done but little, as their time has been fully occupied with private and public matters. This work has been entirely gratuitous, stimulated only by patriotism, by State and National pride, as the board has not had funds at its disposal to warrant a promise of compensation for such service. The board had partially made arrangements with the late Professor I. A. Lapham to exhibit his large and valuable collection of minerals, representing in part classes one to six inclusive. Since the death of the professor the board has contracted with his son, S. G. Lapham, Esq., to arrange said collection for exhibition, on condition that the State place at its disposal funds to enable it to do so.

The act creating this board appropriated the sum of two thousand dollars for necessary preliminary expenses in preparing to exhibit our varied products, and to display in a fitting manner our vast resources and material interests at the Centennial Exposition. A portion of this money has been expended as follows:

Expense account of members of the board.....	$280 40
Printing, stationery, postage-stamps, and incidentals.....	90 15
Services in arranging collection of minerals..	208 40
Services of secretary.....	200 00
Total.....	<hr/> 778 95
Balance unexpended.....	<hr/> 1,221 05 <hr/>

Vouchers for each item may be found in the office of the Secretary of State. The small appropriation has not been sufficient to enable the board to make its plans as broad and comprehensive as the interests of the State and the occasion seem to require, and yet with the foundation it has laid, and in view of the desire now manifested by the people to have Wisconsin creditably represented with other northwestern States, if a liberal appropriation is made, at an early day, it doubts not its ability, with the substantial aid our patriotic citizens will afford, to make a grand exhibit, one worthy of our young and prosperous State. His excellency Governor Ludington has very wisely, the board think, called your attention to this important Centennial Exhibition in these words:

"You will recognize the importance of providing for the adequate representation of Wisconsin at the Centennial Exposition, which is to take place at Philadelphia during the present year, both as a matter of State pride and for more substantial considerations. The occasion will afford an excellent opportunity to display the resources and products of the State, and to attract hither capital and immigration. Nearly all of the States have appropriated liberal sums for the purpose, and Wisconsin should be creditably represented or not at all. I submit to your generosity and patriotism to appropriate such an amount as shall seem to you to be sufficient, to be placed in the hands of the State Board of Centennial Managers, leaving it to them to determine how it shall be expended."

The members of the board unanimously ask you to appropriate and place at their disposal, under such restrictions as you think advisable, the sum of thirty thousand dollars for State centennial purposes.

They believe the advantages resulting to the State in the next decade by a full and complete exhibit of our soils, mines, and manufactures, with condensed statements of our natural resources, our social, educational, and religious advantages, and all other material interests, will many fold repay us for this generous outlay, and beside, we shall feel a State pride in knowing that we have discharged our duty as one of the States of this great nation in contributing what we could to make the Centennial anniversary redound to the highest good, not only of our own country, but of the world.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Leaves of absence were granted,

To Senator Potter until Monday evening.

To Senator Douglas until Saturday morning.

To Senator Blair until Monday evening.

To Senator Silverthorn until to-morrow morning.

On Motion of Senator Reed,
The Senate adjourned.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1876,

10 O'CLOCK A. M.

The Senate met,

The Lieutenant Governor presiding.

Prayer by the Rev. Mr. Wilkinson.

The roll was called, and the following Senators answered to their names:

Senators Baker, Barden, Barney, Barron, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, R. E. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Eastman, Farr, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Hudd, McFarland, Mitchell, Nevins, Reed, Rounds, Ryan, Schuette, Scott, Tate, Treat, Welch, and Wilmot.

MEMORIALS PRESENTED AND REFERRED.

By Senator R. E. Davis:

Mem. No. 4, S.,

Memorial of S. D. Carpenter and others in reference to sinking fund.

MEMORIAL.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of Wisconsin:

The undersigned, a citizen of Wisconsin, ventures to memorialize your honorable body on a subject, vital to every citizen of the realm, and the reason why your memorialist presents his supplications to the Honorable Legislature, instead of the Congress of the United States, which is the proper body to grant the relief the people need, is, that your memorialist is but an unpretending individual, unannounced by the national trump of fame, and while he doubts not his petition would be respectfully received by the national Congress, yet, in the multitude of like prayers, it would probably gravitate to the pigeon-holes of oblivion, because your memorialist has no fame to enforce his views on the attention of strangers, to him personally, and for aught he knows unwilling minds. He therefore respectfully, yet earnestly asks your honorable body, to unite in examining the suggestions he has to submit, and the high and honorable historical events by which they are backed, and if in your deliberative opinion they be found worthy, that you will add the force of legislative approval, by memorializing Congress to adopt the plan proposed, or a better one, if in your wisdom such may be found, to relieve the people from the pall of financial embarrassment that hangs over them, crippling every branch of productive industry, and shaking the very foundations of trade and commerce. Your memorialist need not stop to prove that which is patent to all, that our currency and finances are in a state of dilapidation, owing in a great degree to our vast public debt, and are likely to continue thus, so long as we are the debtor nation, and cannot control a metallic currency, even if we had it.

Like England, during her war struggles with continental Europe, from 1784 to 1821, and France, during her recent terrible and costly conflict with Prussia, we must use a vast volume of paper currency, submitting to great and constant sacrifices to obtain coin to pay interest and to meet the "balance" of trade, &c.

Under this state of things, inseparable upon the closing out of a most expensive war, your memorialist believes with a great many of our wisest financial experts, that it would be a national calamity to continue the funding of our non-interest bearing debt, and that both wisdom and prudence dictate we should contract the debt as much as possible without expanding the currency beyond the limits of want, and to provide a sinking-fund ample to clear off the entire interest-debt in, say 27 years; meanwhile retiring the national currency—taking up, and stopping interest on the $400,000,000 of bonds, of securities for said notes, or an equal amount, by issuing inter-convertible legal tenders to the amount, and no more, of the national notes retired, and paying the balance from surplus revenues. This will leave the paper-circulation as it is now, without "inflation," while, since we must have a paper-currency, it should be admitted our legal tenders, owned by the people, and to the people, would be at least as good as the best national currency, saving twenty-four millions of gold-interest annually.

It has been announced in congress that from the maritime, war and civil lists, fifty millions of dollars may be saved per annum, without detriment to the Public Service, of which your memorialist has not the slightest doubt "in law or equity," and even that amount may be doubled on the other side of the ledger, if all the "crooked" whisky and other "crooked" "ways that are dark" can be made straight in the general scrimmage for the succession. But, at any rate, it seems to be conceded that seventy-four millions might be saved, as above stated, so that the government might spare $50,000,000 annually, and then cut down the general budget of expenses $24,000,000.

Now, it occurs to your memorialist, that this surplus or saving of $50,000,000 annually might be utilized to pay off the remaining interest bearing debt in say 27 years, leaving a sinking fund of over $2,293,000,000, which at three per cent. compound interest, or simple interest payable semi-annually, after the usual custom of bank discounts, would be sufficient not only to meet all the legitimate expenses of the government for all time, without any direct or indirect taxation whatever, but would yield an annual surplus over all expenses of $30,000,000, which by the cumulative process of compound interest must soon create a fund to meet any war emergency likely to occur.

In the opinion of your memorialist the loaning by the Government of such vast sums annually, at a rate of interest below the common usage, would have a tendency to reduce the rate in this country, and thus indirectly benefit the people almost, if not quite equal to the extinction of the debt itself. It is stated that the whole volume of private, public, and associate debts amount to ten billions, of dollars, and as interest is a part of the debts, and a very large factor at that, the general reduction of one per cent. would aggregate a saving to the debtor classes of $100,000,000, per annum, and the reduction of four per cent. would be correspondingly advantageous. Your memorialist believes the high rates of interest are the bane of our financial system, and yet no faith can be placed in usury laws as a remedy. The only panacea, in the opinion of the undersigned is competition on a large scale, and on this is hinged one of the main reasons for adopting the geometric sinking fund system.

In view of these facts, and in view of the lamentable tendency to fund all our non-interest-bearing debt, thus increasing the annual gold interest burdens of the people, by $26,532,947.87, instead of decreasing them by $24,000,000, making a difference in gold interest of $50,532,947.87, and increasing the premium on gold as the demand increases, would it not be an act of wisdom and statesmanship to let the non-interest bearing debt remain where it is. useful as a needed currency and means of exchange, and to apply $50,000,000, annually of the savings, admitted possible, to a sinking fund, which if kept sacred from vandal spoliation, would in the not distant future, pay every obligation, and leave our nation a prodigy of financial soundness?

What more befitting act to commemorate our first centennial, than to plant the seed that shall emancipate us, in its maturity, from the incumbus of a monstrous debt, that like a cancer, preys upon every interest?

The following table will show the cumulative power of $50,000,000, at the start adding fifty millions annually, at six per cent. interest payable semi-annually, and reloaned the same as the principal.

The interest on this at an average of $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., will annually amount to \$72,859,198, instead of \$94,859,198, as at present, (average of $5\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.) though the interest reported paid in 1874, was \$108,000,000. The budget of expenses for all purposes for the year 1875, amounted to \$274,000,000, in round numbers.

The saving of $50,000,000 on current expenses, and $24,000,000 on interest, will provide for the annual contribution of $50,000,000 to the sinking fund, and also reduce the annual expenses by $24,000,000, or to $250,000,000, showing that the people will have to pay (without regard to considerable deductions on account of decreasing pensions) for the 27 years in which the sinking fund is at work, an aggregate of $6,750,000,000, whereas, if the expenses be not reduced, nor the 200 millions of bonds taken up, and the annual budget is allowed to remain as it is, without check, the people would have to pay in the 27 years the enormous sum of $7,398,000,000. In the former case the interest debt is paid off and over two billions in the sinking fund, and in the latter case not a dollar of debt would be paid, and not a shilling in a sinking fund.

The financial problem that less cost brings more assets, and more cost brings less assets, is herein seen exemplified.

Nor can the problem be disposed of by the outcry of "sophistry," and "Utopian theories," that "look well on paper, but never did, nor ever can, work in practice," &c.

Your memorialist is no plagiarist, and hence it is due to state that he claims no originality in the conception of the sinking fund herein set forth. History claims the plan, and history has demonstrated its success. Its author was one of the most celebrated statesmen and financiers known to any age. Your memorialist alludes to the right Honorable Wm. Pitt, Chancellor of the British Exchequer, seconded by these great historical lights : Fox, Sheridan and Burke, and the era of its trial extended from 1787 to 1831. The only difference between Mr. Pitt's plan of a sinking fund and that suggested above, consists in the difference of annual contributions, and interest. Mr. Pitt's fund commenced with a little over $3,000,000, at 4 per cent. annual instead of semi-annual compoundation, yet, considering the times and the relative purchasing value of money, and the fact that England was almost constantly engaged in her continental and colonial wars, the disparity in value is not so much as might appear.

*At same rate, up to the year 1917, or 40 years, the sum would reach over 8 billions.

Your memorialist, for the purpose of showing your honorable bodies what was actually accomplished under Mr. Pitt's sinking fund, and what it would have accomplished had it not been destroyed by Vandal hands, reproduces herewith the table presented by Mr. Allison in his History of England. vol. 2, p. 391, and also briefly the remarks of Mr. Pitt in presenting his plan to Parliament, as also some of the comments of the historian on the merits and success of the measure, and his denunciation of the "demagogues that destroyed the fund."

For the following quotations your honorable bodies are referred to vol. 2, Allison's History of Europe, pages 386, 387, 390. After setting forth the fluctuations of revenue under the administration of the Tudors, the Stewarts, &c., Mr. Allison remarks, (p. 386.)

"It is unnecessary to follow the successive steps by which both the public revenue and the national debt of Great Britain were increased after this period; suffice it to say that both were largely augmented during the glorious war of the succession; that the long and pacific administration which followed affected no sensible reduction in their amount; that the chequered contest of 1739, and the more triumphant campaigns of the seven year's war contributed equally to their increase, and that the disasters of the American struggle were attended by so great an augmentation of the national burdens, that at its termination, in 1783, in the opinion both of Mr. Hume and Adam Smith, they must inevitably prove fatal in the end to the independence of the nation. At the close of the last contest the public revenue was £12,000,000, and the debt £240,000,000, the interest of which absorbed no less than £9,319,000 of the annual income of the State. The loans contracted during the less unfortunate contest, having been no less than £100,000,000.

"It was at this period that Mr. Pitt came into office on the resignation of Mr. Fox and the coalition ministry. His ardent and sagacious mind was immediately turned to the consideration of the finances and the means of extricating the nation from the embarrassments, to ordinary observers inextricable, in which it had been involved by the improvident expenditure of preceding years. It was evident from a retrospect of history, that no sensible impression had been made on the debt by any efforts of preceding times, that though a sinking fund had long existed in name, yet its operations had been very inconsiderable, and that all the economy of the long periods of peace which had intervened since the revolution, had done little more than discharge a tenth of the burdens contracted in the previous years of hostility. The interest of the debt absorbed now more than two-thirds of the public revenue. It was impossible to conceal that such a state of things was in the highest degree alarming, not only as affording no reasonable prospect that the existing engagements could ever be liquidated, but as threatening at no distant period to render it impossible for the nation to make those efforts which its honor or independence might require. It was easy to foresee that in the course of events wars and changes would arise which would render it indispensable for the government to assume a menacing attitude, and possibly engage in a long course of hostilities, but how could any administration venture to assume the one or the people bear the other, if an immense load of debt hung about their necks, absorbing alike, by its interest, their present revenues and paralyzing by its magnitude the credit by which their resources might be increased, on any unforeseen emergency.

"These dangers took strong possession of the mind of Mr. Pitt; but, instead of sinking in despair under the difficulties of the subject, he applied the energies of his understanding with the greater vigor to overcome them. Nor was it long before he perceived by what means this great object could, with ease and certainty, be effected. The public attention at this period had been strongly directed to the prodigious powers of the accumulation of money at compound interest, and Dr. Price had demonstrated with mathematical certainty, that any sum, however small, increasing at that ratio, would, in a given time, extinguish any debt, however great. [A foot note states that "a penny laid out at compound interest at the birth of our Savior would, in the year 1775, have amounted to a solid mass of gold eighteen hundred times the whole weight of the globe.""]

"Mr. Pitt, with the instinctive sagacity of genius, laid hold of this simple law to establish a machine by which the vast debt of England might, without difficulty, be discharged. All former sinking funds had failed of producing great effects, because they were directed to the annual discharge of a certain portion of the debt; not the formation, by compound interest, of a fund destined to its future and progressive liquidation. They advanced, therefore, by addition, not multiplication; in arithmetical, not geometrical progression. Mr. Pitt saw the evil, and not merely applied a remedy, but more than a remedy. He not only seized the battery, but turned it against the enemy. The wonderful powers of compound interest; the vast lever of geometrical progression, so long and sorely felt by debtors, were now to be applied to creditors, and inverting the process hitherto experienced among mankind, the swift growth of the gangrene was to be turned from the corruption of the sound to the eradication of the diseased part of the system. Another addition, like the discovery of gravitation, the press and the steam engine, to the many illustrations which history affords of the lasting truth that the greatest changes, both in the social and material world, are governed by the same laws as the smallest; and that is by the felicitous application of familiar principles to new and important objects, that the greatest and most salutary discoveries in human affairs are affected.

Mr. Pitt's mind was strongly impressed with the incalculable importance of this subject; one before which all wars or subjects of present interests, excepting only the preservation of the constitution, sunk into insignificance. From the time of his accession to office, in 1784, his attention had been constantly united to the subject, and he repeatedly expressed in the most energetic language, his sense of its overwhelming magnitude. "Upon the deliberation of this day," said he, in bringing forward his resolutions, on the subject, on the 29th of March, 1786, "the people of England place all their hopes of a full return of prosperity, and a revival of its public security, which will give vigor and confidence to those commercial exertions on which the flourishing state of the country depends; yet, not only the public and this House, but other nations are intent upon it, for upon its deliberations, by the success or failure of what is now proposed, our rank will be decided among the powers of Europe. To behold this country, when just emerging from a most unfortunate war, which had added such an accumulation to sums before immense, that it was the belief of surrounding nations, and of many among ourselves that we must sink under it—to behold this nation, not despairing at its alarming condition, looking boldly its situation in the face, and establishing upon a spirited and permanent plan the means of relieving itself, from all its incumbrances, must give such an idea of our resources as will astonish the nations around us, and enable us to regain that prominence to which, on many accounts, we are so justly entitled.

“The propriety, and even necessity of adopting a plan for this purpose, is now universally allowed, and it is also admitted that immediate steps ought to be taken on the subject. It is well known how strongly my feelings have been engaged, not only by the duties of my situation, but the consideration of my own personal reputation, which is deeply committed in the question, to exert every nerve—to arm every vigilance—to concentrate my efforts towards that great object, by which alone we can have a prospect of transmitting to posterity that which we ourselves have felt the want of, an efficient sinking-fund for the national debt. To accomplish this is the first wish of my heart, and it would be my proudest hope to have my name inscribed on a pillar to be erected in honor of the man who did his country the essential service of reducing the national debt,

“In pursuance of these designs, Mr. Pitt proposed that a million yearly—composed partly of savings effected in various branches of the public service, to the amount of £900,000, and partly of new taxes, to the amount of £100,000—should be granted to his Majesty, to be vested in commissioners chosen from the highest functionaries in the realm; that the payments to them should be made quarterly; and that the whole sum thus drawn should be by them vested in the purchase of stocks, to stand in the name of the commissioners, the dividends on which were to be periodically applied to the farther purchase of stock, to stand, and to have its dividends invested in the same manner. In this way, by setting apart a million annually, and religiously applying its interest to the purchase of stock, the success of the plan was secured; because the future accumulations would spring, not from any additional burdens imposed on the people, but the dividends on the stock thus bought up from individuals, and vested in the public trustees.

“The powers of compound interest were thus brought round from the side of the creditor to that of the debtor—from the fundholders to the nation, and the national debt was eaten in upon by an accumulating fund, which, increasing in a geometrical progression, would to a certainty, at no distant period, effect its total extinction. “If this million,” said Mr. Pitt, “is to be so applied, is to be laid out with its growing interest, it will amount to a very great sum in a period that is not very long, in the life of an individual, and but an hour in the existence of a great nation. And this will diminish the debt of this country so much as to prevent the exigencies of war from raising it to the enormous height it has hitherto done. In the period of twenty-eight years the sum of a million annually improved would amount to four millions per annum, but care must be taken that this sum be not broken in upon. This has hitherto been the bane of this country, for if the original sinking fund had been properly preserved, it can easily be proved that our debts at this moment would not have been very burdensome, but this hitherto has been found impracticable because the minister has uniformly, when it suited his convenience, gotten hold of this sum, which ought to have been regarded as most sacred. To prevent this, I propose that this sum be vested in certain dignified commissioners, to be by them applied quarterly to buy up stock, by which means no considerable sum will ever be open to spoilation, and the fund will go on without interruption.

"Long, and very long, has the country struggled under its heavy load without any prospects of being relieved, but it may now look forward to the object upon which the existence of the country depends. A minister could never have the confidence to come down to the House and propose the repeal of so beneficial a law, and one so directly tending to relieve the people from their burdens. The essence of the plan consists in the fund being invariably applied in diminution of the debt. It must forever be kept sacred, and especially so in time of war. To suffer the fund at any time, or under any pretense, to be diverted from its proper object, would be to ruin, defeat and overthrow the whole plan. * * * * *

"Attacks on the sinking fund," says Mr. Allison, (P 390), "were rapidly diffused and generally credited—the delusion of Mr. Pitt's system—the juggle so long practiced on the nation, were in every mouth. The meanest political quacks—the most despicable popular demagogues—ventured to discharged their javelins at the giants of former days, and a system on which the greatest and best of men in the last age had been united, in commendation of which Mr. Fox had vied with Pitt, and Sheridan with Burke—was universally denounced as the most complete and ruinous deception that ever had been palmed off by official fraud on the credulity of mankind.

"Had the doctrines been confined to the declamations of the hustings, or [the abuse of newspapers, they would have furnished the subject only of curious speculation, on the way in which principles just to a certain extent, and truths undeniable, as they were originally stated, became perverted when they were employed as an engine for the purposes of faction or ambition, but unhappily the evil soon assumed a much more serious complexion, the prevailing idea spread to the legislature, and the statesmen who succeeded to the Government, imbued partly with the declamation of the period, influenced partly by the desire of gaining a temporary popularity [does not this hit our times as well as that of the last century?] by the reduction of the public burdens, without any regard to the interest of future times, went on borrowing or abstracting from the sinking fund till it was totally extinguished during the great convulsion of 1832."

On page 392, Mr. Allison makes this declaration:

Not a shadow of doubt can now remain that Mr. Pitt's and Mr. Addington's anticipations were well founded, and that if the system had been adhered to, since the peace, the whole national debt would have been discharged by the year 1843.

In a foot note on page 388, Mr. Allison produces a table showing that £200,000, at five per cent. the tenth year would amount to £2,500,105, and a table on page 393, shows the progressive growth of a sinking fund of £15,000,000, and that in twenty years it would amount to £534,127,430.

So much for the facts and the arguments of history, as monuments erected by the wisdom of the great men of the past.

The sinking fund suggested by your mamorialist, if sacredly kept intact, and its annual accretions by appropriation kept up, would in 27 years ammount to the enormous sum of.....	$3,417,782,272
Costing the people but $1,350,000,000.
Add proceeds of custom-house, &c. at.....	200,000,000
Total sinking fund	3,617,782 272
Deduct interest bearing debt.....	1,324,712,691
Leaving a sinknig fund of.....	2,293,069,581
The annual interest on the same at three per cent. amounts to nearly	$73,000,000
Add receipts from miscellaneous sources, that is not taxation.....	10,000,000
And it will give an annual income of.....	83,000,000

The expenses per annum computed for the 27 years, after deducting $24,000,000 as intrest on bonds taken up (400,000,000) as already stated was $250,000,000, devoting $50,000,000 to sinking fund. The reduction to be made at the end of the 27 years, (and much of it before that time,) may be expressed as follows:

On account of interest	$72,859,198
On account of collection of the revenue, building, repairs, &c., of Custom Houses, Revenue Cutters, &c.....	30,000,000
On account of pensions, est	20,000,000
On account of army and civil list, &c.....	50,000,000
On account of discharge of an army of officer's salaries and other expenses	25,000,000
Reductions that might be made	197,000,000

This would leave for the actual expenses of government, on the scale of primitive economy, with no taxes to collect, no interest to pay—pensions nearly exhausted by the scythe of time, only $53,000,000, which [is about $9,000,000 less than under Mr. Buchanan, and which deducting from the $83,000,000 revenue, leaves annually $30,000,000 to go on at compound interest for the benefit of National improvements, and to help the finances in case of war, &c.

Such is the plan suggested by your memorialist, to prospectively lift the burdens of a mountainous debt off the shoulders of a tax-ridden people, and your memorialist asks the Honorable the Legislature to memorialize Congress to at once take steps to inaugurate the sinking fund proposed (or a better if the wisdom of the legislature shall discover it) all of which may, in the opinion of your memorialist, be accomplished without increasing the burdens of taxation a dollar, and without repudiating a shilling of the public debt or interest thereon. Your memorialist has no expectation of living to see the hour of the nation's deliverance from debt and taxation, even if the sinking fund be established, but he is proud to share in the ambition (though he aspires not to the greatness) of the immortal Pitt, that he has endeavored to do something towards extinguishing the National debt.

The plan proposed rests not on theory alone, but is backed by the assured practical success of 44 years trial. Should the measure be recommended by your honorable bodies, and should the seed of progress happen to fall on good congressional ground, and eventuate in final success of the measure, this legislature need ask for no higher monument of glory in the future than the acknowledged fact, that it was the first to memorialize Congress to emancipate the nation from a debt, which if not checked, promises to rival the monster debt of England, long since repudiated and resolved into annuity pledges of perpetual duration.

Your memorialist would also further represent that the average cost of maintaining the penitentiary for the last three years amounts to $47,286.69, and that it is asserted and believed that if the Illinois system was in force, of letting the services of able bodied convicts to the highest bidder, if the prison were in close proximity to such a large city as Milwaukee, that the institution would be self-sustaining, and it is said, backed by very plausible reasons, that the sale of the lands, stock, tools, and materials at Waupun would pay the cost of transporting the building and walls of the penitentiary to Milwaukee, and putting them up at the latter place, and that the enterprising citizens of that city will agree to give the necessary land, and remove the buildings, taking the "traps" and land at Waupun, and saving the State harmless from further expense, and will stipulate, under proper regulations, to pay the current expenses of the institution for a series of years, for the labor of the able bodied convicts.

For the truth of this proposition your memorialists does not pretend to vouch, but he is safe in affirming that if such terms can be had, it would save near $50,000 per annum, and if such can be done your memorialist further asks, in the interest of the tax paying people, that your honorable bodies provide out of this amount saved, a sinking fund for the State of say $30,000 per annum, which can be loaned out at seven per centum, on good, safe, bonded security, as well as can the trust funds, which now costs the people an annual interest of $157,640. If this debt can be wiped out by a sinking fund in 30 years, or by 1907, it will restore the school and other educational funds to their former equilibrium, and save the annual drain upon productive industry.

Thirty thousand dollars, put at 7 per cent interest, as per the principle already set forth for the national sinking fund, would amount in 1907 to the enormous sum of $4,136,117, and after deducting the whole State debt would leave a sinking fund of $1,884,117, capable of yielding an annual revenue of $172,384. The whole $4,136,117, will have cost the people only $900,000, and that too, without increasing the taxes, provided always your memorialist is correct as to the disposition that may be made of the State prison, and even if he is not, in that regard, he nevertheless asks the honorable legislature to provide for a State sinking fund, on a scale that shall clear off the State debt in some 25 or 30 years.

Your memorialist desires to call the attention of the legislature to the further fact, in reference to the national sinking-fund that it will aid the people who borrow, as well as the government that lends, since, with scarcely an honorable exception all classes of securities draw as much as 7 per cent., while the government would loan at 6, thus saving to the borrowers one per cent., and if our State could borrow of the government at six per cent., paying up the trust-funds, it would save on its indebtedness, over $22,500 per annum, amounting in thirty years to $675,000. One per cent. on the amount supposed to be loaned by the government, equated as per the table herewith, would amount to a saving to the borrowers of $327,372,389.35, so that the plan, like the dews of heaven, showers its benefits upon all.

Your memorialist deems it improper to further extend this memorial, in suggesting details, by which the system should be conducted. He will be content by saying, that so far as government loans should be made, he utterly repudiates the idea of the securities being of a lower grade than government bonds or bonds of States, or municipalities of good financial repute—in short, that the loans should be proof against “straw” securities.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

S. D. CARPENTER.

Having heard the foregoing memorial read, and in view of the vast importance of the subject, without, however, indorsing particular details upon which opinions may differ, the undersigned cheerfully unite in requesting such form of legislative action as in its wisdom may be deemed most appropriate to further the end in view.

MEMORIALS PRESENTED AND REFERRED.

By Senator Hudd:

Mem. No. 5, S..

To the honorable, the Legislature of Wisconsin:

The memorial of the undersigned respectfully shows:

Several years since a petition was presented to the legislature for a submission of my claim against the State, for damages actually sustained, to arbitration.

Accordingly a law was passed, page 563, laws of 1873, authorizing the appointment by the Governor, of three disinterested citizens, with full power to hear and decide the matter, and on approval of their report, the Secretary of State was required to draw his order on the treasurer for the amount awarded, and an appropriation was made sufficient to carry the provisions of the act into effect.

By a subsequent amendment to said act, page 273, laws of 1874, "the said commissioners were fully authorized and empowered to act as arbitrators in the premises, and to make such awards as they deemed just and equitable."

The subjoined statement, (exhibit "A,") shows the damages sustained by me, and although the amount awarded was less than two-thirds of the actual damages sustained, I was willing to accept it as a full settlement of my claim.

The secretary having declined to audit a portion of the sum awarded, the subject was presented at the last session of the legislature and a favorable report thereon, submitted by the Judiciary Committee of the Assembly, to which I beg respectfully to refer (as exhibit "B.")

That I have a just and fair demand against the State, no one acquainted with the circumstances can doubt. The State was deeply involved in liabilities to the general government, and to individuals, and by my efforts and sacrifices, a work which is now acknowledged to be of vast importance, was prosecuted to completion, the State was relieved of liabilities to a large amount, and these objects were attained by a loss to me of the entire accumulations of a long and active life.

Having been fairly adjudicated by a complete tribunal selected by the Governor of the State the undersigned can perceive no sound reason, why payment of his claim should be longer delayed. And would respectfully ask for the passage of a bill appropriating to me the sum of such interest.

M. L. MARTIN.

EXHIBIT A.

To the Honorable, the Commissioners:

In addition to the general statement, heretofore presented, the following itemized account of damages sustained under my contract with the State, is presented for your consideration:

1st. Amount of work done at Kaukaulin, from February, 1852, to May, 1853, as shown by estimate of engineer, $42,445.84.
Increased cost, in consequence of interruptions during the months of May, June, and July, 1852—30 per cent.....	$12,733 75
2d. Amount of work done at Little Chute, from February, 1852, to May, 1853, $31,091.18
Increased cost, from same cause—30 per cent.....	9,327 35
3d. Amount of work done at Rapide Croche, for same period, $1,027.20
Increased cost, from same cause—30 per cent.....	308 16
4th. Deterioration of work and material during suspension in summers of 1852 and 1853.....	5,000 00
5th. Extra care of work, teams, tools, etc., during suspension in summers of 1852 and 1853	2,500 00
6th. Loss on certificates of work done in 1852 and winter of 1853, $73,537.02.
Discounts paid—10 per cent	7,353 70
Expense of negotiation—5 per cent.....	3,676 85
	40,899 81

The failure of the State to furnish me the vouchers called for by my contract, and the misapplication of funds which should have been applied in payment for work, forced a suspension of the work during all the best seasons of the years 1852 and 1853, to wit: May, June, and July, 1852, and May and June, 1853. The best season for doing canal and lock-work is the three months above stated. The same amount of work can be accomplished for one-third less than in the average of the balance of the year. My contract gave two years for doing the whole job—a time barely sufficient—and with a loss of the best portion of the period for doing it, the necessity was forced upon me of constructing in the fall and winter, at greatly increased cost.

When I first made the contract, I concluded a negotiation with responsible parties in New York for all the scrip to be issued under it, at par. Instead of receiving the scrip as provided by contract, the board of public works gave me certificates for work done, upon which I was compelled to sacrifice a large per centage for the purpose of raising money to carry on the work.

That my estimate of the amount of damages sustained by me is reasonable, is abundantly proved by the testimony of David M. Loy and Theodore Conkey.

Loy says (Case, fols. 671 to 675,) that he was in charge of work at Kaukaulin, in 1851, 1852, and 1853. The whole cost of the work at that point was about $150,000, and the damage occasioned by stoppage was from 25 to 30 per cent. That is, from $37,500 to $45,000.

Conkey states (Case, fols. 270, 271,) that he made an estimate in 1853, with a view of giving evidence in a suit to be instituted against the State, and estimated the damages to be from $30,000 to $40,000.

The losses to which I have referred involved me in irretrievable ruin. The company took the work from the State, and instead of relieving me from embarrassment, the pledges contained in its charter were continually violated; it was constantly hampered by hostile legislation, and finally reduced to insolvency. To myself, it proved an absorption of my whole estate.

The performance of my contract relieved the State from heavy liability to the United States. A settlement would have been exacted by withholding payment of the five per cent. due under the act admitting the State into the Union, (which has since been paid), and amounting to a large sum. Can the State conscientiously enjoy this large benefit from the contract, without remunerating me for the losses by which it was obtained?

The completion of a great public enterprise has also been secured, of inestimable value to the people of the State.

The legislature has very justly provided for the adjustment of my claim upon principles of equity and good conscience, as a slight reward for the sacrifices incurred by me in her service.

The act (chap. 243, laws of 1873, and amendment, chap. 152, laws of 1874.) make an unqualified submission of the matter to the commissioners, and authorized them "to make such award as they may deem just and equitable."

EXHIBIT "B."

The Judiciary Committee to whom was referred

Mem. No. 93, A.,

Of Morgan L. Martin, for the allowance of the interest awarded by the commissioners who considered his claim against the State and made an award thereon,

Have had the same under consideration and submit the following report:

That by act of March 19, 1873, laws of 1873, 563, provision was made for the settlement of the claim of the memorialist for damages sustained by him under the contract made between him and the State, dated May 14, 1851, by the award of three commissioners to be appointed by the Governor, and upon a report made and certified by a majority of such commissioners to the Secretary of State, awarding any sum of money in satisfaction of his claim, and on his approval thereof, the Secretary of State was directed to draw his warrant for the amount so awarded, and an appropriation was made for the purpose of carrying the provisions of this act into effect.

By chapter 152, laws of 1874, 273, the first-named act was amended by adding to section 1 of this act a provision that "the said commissioners be fully authorized and empowered to act as arbitrators in the premises, and to make such awards as they may deem just and equitable."

M. P. Lindsley, Theodore Rodolf and B. B. Eldredge, were appointed such commissioners, and on the 24th of June, 1874, a majority of such commissioners made an award, from which one of the commissioners, Mr. Eldredge, dissented, stating that the facts stated in said Martin's claim were substantially proved, to-wit:

"That he entered into contract with the State, May 14, 1851, for the improvement of Fox River, and faithfully fulfilled the same on his part; that the execution of the contract prevented the entire abandonment of the enterprise in 1851, and a similar catastrophe in 1853, and its fulfillment relieved the State from future liability to government of the United States, and indebtedness already incurred to contractors; that in consequence of the non-fulfillment of said contract on the part of the State, during the year 1852 and the early part of 1853, he sustained damages exceeding the sum of thirty-five thousand dollars, which he is fully entitled to, but has received no remuneration; that deducting therefrom the amount of the bond of indemnity executed by said Martin to the State, July 6, 1853, of $25,000, and allowing him the balance, to wit:

"The sum of ten thousand dollars, with interest thereon as claimed by him, in his said memorial, furnishes a basis of settlement of his claim, extremely liberal on his part, and which, in our judgment is just and equitable, the State having received large pecuniary benefits from his labors and sacrifices in carrying forward the said improvement to completion, and the act first above referred to, authorizing the settlement of his claims upon principles of justice and equity, that they therefore awarded that the State should pay to Morgan L. Martin, in full satisfaction of all damages sustained by him under his contract above referred to, the sum of ten thousand dollars and interest thereon at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from July 6, 1853, to the date of such award, amounting in all to the sum of twenty-four thousand six hundred and seventy-eight dollars and fifty-six cents, and that the bond of indemnity executed by the said Martin to the State on said date, to be delivered up to be canceled."

This award of ten thousand dollars, with the amount of interest accruing from February 5, 1873, the date of the claimant's first application to the legislature to the date of the award, in all amounting to the sum of $10,974.16, was allowed and approved by the Secretary of State.

It will be perceived that the majority of the commissioners (and the majority had power under the law to make an award) find that on July 6, 1853, there was justly and equitably due to the memorialist the sum of $10,000, and that he ought to have interest on it from that date.

It is a general rule, that upon all moneys due or wrongfully or unjustly withheld from a claimant, he is entitled to interest from the time such moneys ought to have been paid, and so far has the rule been carried, that in the case of Vaughan vs. Howe & Robbins, 20 Wis., 523, 525, it was held proper for the jury to allow interest on the amount which a plaintiff was entitled to recover as damages for not performing a contract for the delivery of saw-logs; and many other similar cases might be cited.

The allowance or non-allowance of interest in such cases is largely a matter of discretion, and the claim for interest is equitable in its nature, and founded on the theory that when a party withholds what is due, he ought in justice and equity to pay interest so long as he withholds it.

We think that the question whether interest should be allowed to Mr. Martin, was one for the commissioners to determine, the legislature having empowered the commissioners, "as arbitrators * * * to make such awards as they may deem just and equitable."

The Secretary of State approved the award as to the principal sum and interest from the 5th of February, 1873. If the award was correct as to the principal sum, and it was justly and equitably due July 6, 1853, then we see no reason upon the face of the award why interest should not be allowed from the latter date. The time which we are allowed for the consideration of this claim, makes it impossible for us to investigate the foundation or state of facts upon which the award was made, nor do we wish to be understood as expressing the opinion that it would be proper to go back of the award, which, so far as we are able to discover, may be entirely just and fair.

The question arising upon the award seems to be dependent upon equitable considerations, and upon the award of the commissioners allowing interest.

The amount claimed is for interest from July 6, 1853, to February 6, 1873, and we are of the opinion that its allowance will be in conformity with the award of the commissioners, and the theory and spirit of the acts of the legislature under which the commissioners acted.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A resolution is herewith reported to the Assembly for its action in the premises.

W. J. KERSHAW,
Chairman.

MILWAUKEE, January 20, 1876.

SIR:—We have the honor to transmit herewith a memorial in behalf of the president and board of directors, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, and the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, which we respectfully request may be submitted by you to the house over which you preside.

We are, very respectfully, your obedient servants,

ALEX. MITCHELL, President.

ALBERT KEEP, President.

HON. C. D. PARKER,

President of the Senate.

To the Honorable, the Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin :

Your memorialists, the president and board of directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, and of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, respectfully represent:

That in the discharge of their duty to their stockholders they are again compelled to ask the attention of the honorable, the legislature, to the existing laws of the State, limiting their earnings from the business done within its limits.

Your memorialists ask leave to again refer to the statements showing the cost, gross and net earnings, operating expenses and interest payments, bonded debt and capital stock of the respective companies contained in the memorial they had the honor to submit to the legislature of 1875, copies of which will be submitted with this.

By that memorial it will be seen that the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company own and operate within the State 565 23-100 miles of road, consisting of the following lines:

1. From Sharon, Wis., to the Michigan State line, 220.80 miles.
2. From Beloit to the west end of the Winona bridge, at Winona, Minn., 205.60 miles.
3. From Milwaukee to Fond du Lac, 62.63 miles.
4. From Kenosha to the State line, east of Harvard, Ill., 27.50 miles.
5. From the Illinois State line to Geneva Lake, 8.70 miles.
6. From Milwaukee south to the Illinois State line, 40 miles.

Of the second line, that portion from Madison to Trempealeau Junction, 30 miles south of Winona, is subject to a first mortgage drawing seven per cent. gold interest, amounting to $3,150,000. From Trempealeau Junction to the west end of the Winona bridge, it is subject to a first mortgage of $1,000,000, drawing ten per cent., currency, interest. The line from Beloit to Madison is subject to a first mortgage bearing seven per cent., currency, interest, amounting to $306,000.

The third line is subject to a first mortgage of $3,500,000, drawing seven per cent., gold, interest. Of the line first named, 23 miles, from Oshkosh to Appleton, are subject to a first mortgage of $147,000. From Appleton to Ft. Howard the line is subject to a first mortgage of $282,000. The two last mortgages are at seven per cent., currency, interest. From Ft. Howard to Menomonee the line is subject to a first mortgage amounting to $1,172,340, drawing gold interest.

All the lines named are covered by two mortgages, being part of the consolidated mortgages of the company, of which the proper portion applicable to the Wisconsin lines, amount to $3,618,925.50 drawing seven per cent. interest, partly gold and partly currency.

The line from Sharon to Oshkosh is subject to three mortgages, in connection with the rest of the line from Sharon south to Chicago, of which the portion applicable to the Wisconsin portion of the line, amounts to $3,561,786, drawing seven per cent. currency interest.

The sixth line, before named, is subject to two mortgages, of which the amount applicable to the State of Wisconsin is $874,822.80, drawing interest at seven per cent.

The amount of money required each year, to pay interest on that part of these Mortgages, which lie in the State of Wisconsin is $1,350,135.35.

To this amount must now be added the sum of $42,774.57, being the increase in the amount of annual interest payments, belonging to the Wisconsin lines, for new construction since the last memorial was submitted, caused principally by the substitution of steel for iron rails, and iron for wooden bridges.

This makes the annual charge for interest, applicable to the Wisconsin lines, on the 30th of September last, $1,392,909.92.

The line from Madison to Trempealeau Junction, before named, has cost, besides the amount realized from the sale of the mortgage bonds above named, $2,559,135.38, and is represented only by stock, common and preferred, of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.

The line from Trempealeau Junction to the west end of Winona bridge has cost, besides the proceeds of the mortgage, $376,774.06, which is likewise represented only in the stock of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.

The amount realized from these mortgages was used only in the construction of all the lines named, and in so far furnishing them as to make it possible to use them. A very large portion of the rolling stock required to do their business is only represented by the stock of the company.

The gross earnings of these roads for the year ending September 30, 1875, was $3,205,805.70.

The operating expenses for the Wisconsin lines, as nearly as they can be apportioned to them, for the same time, amounted to the sum of $2,071,511.51, leaving as net proceeds of the business of the State applicable to the payment of interest upon its bonded debt, and dividends upon stock, the sum of $1,134,294.19.

The account, therefore, for that year's operations, stands thus :

Gross earnings.....	$3,205,805 70
Operating expenses.....	2,071,511 51
Amount applicable to interest.....	1,134,294 19
Amount required to pay interest.....	1,392,909 92
Deficit	258,615 73

The capital stock of this company, applicable to the lines in Wisconsin, ascertained upon the principle that was applied in determining the earnings and operating expenses, amounts to $15,097,902.24. No portion of this capital has received a dollar of return for more than two years. At existing rates of transportation there is no hope that it ever will. It would make this communication too long to state in what manner and for what purposes this stock was created. It is enough for the present purpose to show that in this State over three millions of dollars have been expended within the past five years, that is represented only by this capital stock. Many millions have also been invested in rolling stock by the company, which is only represented in the same manner.

That portion of the funded debt of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Company properly applicable to the property within the State of Wisconsin, amounts to the sum of $13,154,424.42. The annual payments of interest amount to the sum of $1,088,994.

Its total earnings from all sources, during the year ending September 30, 1875, within the State, were $4,803,692.13. Its operating expenses for the same time were, $3,171,236.51, leaving applicable to the payment of interest, and dividends on stock, $1,632,455.62.

The amount of preferred stock of the company, applicable to the State of Wisconsin, ascertained upon a strictly pro-rata per mile basis, (which as the trunk, and therefore most valuable lines are in Wisconsin, is not a just basis of division for the company,) is $5,834,546.96. Of common stock, the amount upon the same basis, is $7,319,877.46.

This account will therefore stand thus:

Gross earnings	$4,803,692 13
Operating expenses.....	3,171,236 51
Net earnings.....	1,632,455 62
Interest payments	1,088,994 00
Net applicable to dividends.....	543,461 62
Amount of capital stock.....	13,154,424 42

Equal to a dividend of about 4 per cent.

So far from the capital stock of this company being what is termed "watered," no similar property in this, or any country, has cost so little, and a careful and minute appraisement, of three well-known and disinterested experts, has determined the fact that its present cash value is in excess of the face or par of the bonds and stock by which it is represented.

The amount of funded debt and capital stock applicable to the property in this State has been stated at.....	$27,969,142
The value of the same property, as appraised by three disinterested civil engineers, in detail, after actual examination of each item, and reported by the company to the commissioners and published in their report.....	28,850,820
Excess of cash value over both stocks and bonds.....	881,678

Of this appraisal the commissioners say:

"The estimate made by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company deserves special consideration because of the completeness of its detail and the high character of the engineers by whom the estimate was made. Allowance must be made for the fact, however, that the investigation was made under the immediate direction of the company interested," &c.

If these statements of engineers, earnings and expenses, funded debt and stock are true, they show that in the case of the Chicago & Northwestern company, it does not earn enough to pay interest on its bonds, leaving nothing for its stock, and in the case of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul company, it earns about four per cent. per annum on its main trunk lines, where its business is greatest, and expenses proportionately least.

If the truth of these statements is doubted, your memorialists respectfully but earnestly ask an opportunity of demonstrating them in any manner before any committee or tribunal the legislature may please to assign to that duty.

Your memorialists are not unmindful of the fact that the board of commissioners profess not to be satisfied that the earnings are insufficient to pay fair return upon capital invested in this State by the companies. Your memorial represent—so far as their doubts are understood, they refer to what are alleged to be heavy disbursements, on account of unwise obligations assumed to connecting and feeding lines without the State.

We beg to call attention to the fact that we are not now seeking to justify or to challenge the approval of your honorable body to the investments that have elsewhere been made by our companies.

The only question we respectfully submit, of interest in this connection, to either the legislature or the people of the State, is whether their business is taxed to support lines out of the State?

That it is not by the Chicago and Northwestern company, will be evident from statements already made. That company has paid its interest on all the bonds properly chargeable to the property in Wisconsin. It has earned (after paying operating expenses,) from the business within the State, $258,615.73 less than that interest. Is any further demonstration needed to show that it has not taxed the people of this State for the benefit of others?

It is true the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company has earned a little more than enough to pay its interest within this State.

The question in reference to that company is simply: whether assuming that this excess is divided among the stockholders, the legislature think four per cent. per annum is all the owners of the property ought to realize from their investment in it, and whether their ability, if unrestricted, to earn six per cent., is an adequate reason for continuing to restrict them to four per cent.?

Whether the lines out of the state, connecting with the several lines of your memorialists in the State, are a benefit or an injury to the property within the State, will be determined by the consideration of the facts attending their joint operation.

It will be admitted that the only resource for revenues for the companies, is the earnings from business.

That these resources are from:

1st. Local business.

2d. Business done in connection with connecting lines without the State.

From the first source for the year ending September 30, 1875, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul company earned in the State of Wisconsin:

Excluding mail and express	$1,997,522 41
From the second source, excluding mail and express.....	2,556,486 12

During the same time, in the same State, the Chicago and Northwestern company, earned from freight alone:

From the first source	$636,511 00
From second source	1,607,938 41

What would be the financial condition of the companies, if their business was confined within the limits of the State, is too evident from this statement to need illustration. It is enough to say that if dependent upon local business alone, if they could be run at all, they would only be as freight roads, with the facilities and accommodations incidental to them.

Your memorialists respectfully ask the attention of the honorable the legislature, to the tables accompanying the former memorial, to which reference has been made. By these tables, comparisons are made with the business, cost, rates, receipts and expenditures, with a large number of railroads in the United States, England, and the Continental States of Europe.

The documents and other testimony, from which these tables have been compiled, are in possession of your memorialists, and will be submitted to the inspection and verification of any committee the legislature may charge with that duty.

Without repeating here the detailed information they contain, your memorialists beg leave to say, that they show beyond all dispute that the rates fixed by the laws of this State for the service rendered, are lower than those fixed by either law or the tariff of railroad companies in any State of the Union or any country in Europe.

This statement is admitted to be true in the first annual report of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

That board left no means untried to obtain information upon the past history and present condition of the railway interests of the State. They were armed with the whole physical power of the State and backed by its treasury.

That they met at least with no obstacles in the discharge of their duties from the management of railways, is shown by their statement that "they feel it their duty, as it is also their pleasure, to make acknowledgement of the uniform courtesy they have received from all railway officials with whom they have had relations in the discharge of their duties, some of whom have cheerfully undertaken expensive labors at the request of the board."

Upon this point the board say: "It is undeniable that the rates (rates fixed by the act of 1874,) are considerably lower than are at present charged by a great majority of the railroads of the country," as they state are shown by the published comparative statements accompanying their report.

An examination of these statements will show that they are made, among others, with railways in the States of Massachusetts and New York, where the population and business is very much larger than in this State, and where the power of the legislature over rates is as great as that possessed by the legislature of this State.

Your memorialists suppose the justification for so much of the existing laws as fix arbitrary rates for transportation is to be found, if at all, in the belief that the rates established by the companies themselves were extortionate.

To ascertain whether they had been so in fact, was one of the most important duties of the Board of Commissioners. If they had found the evidence of such extortion in the whole course of their investigations they would have stated it.

They have made no such charge, and the just inference is that they did not find such to have been the fact.

The rates heretofore established by your memorialists were never sufficient, upon the volume of business done by them, to yield an adequate return upon the investment in them. But, inadequate as they were, from the influence of competition and other causes, they were gradually and constantly reduced.

The attention of the honorable the legislature is particularly asked to the following table, which shows at the same time the effect upon rates, of the laws of business, and the extremely low rate at which all business was done when the laws were passed further reducing them.

The companies named are the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Michigan Central, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, and Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads.

* Records for 1869 destroyed in Chicago fire.

It will be admitted by all that the capital invested here in this kind of property was invited by the character of the laws passed by the legislature, and its expenditure only failed in being in exact accordance with the wishes of the entire people in so far as the amount expended fell short of their desires.

It will also be admitted that this capital has largely promoted the interests of the entire State:

It pays a very large annual tax into the State Treasury.

If the rates of freight ever charged by any railroad company were doubled, it would still be a much cheaper mode of transportation than any it superseded.

It has added very largely to the population of the State.

It has increased the value of real property in the State, not owned by the companies, many times the entire cost of all the railways.

No material agent has contributed so much to the prosperity and happiness of the people.

This capital has not, so far in its history, paid its contributors two per cent. per annum upon the amount actually invested.

With existing legislation it never can be made to pay anything to the stockholders and keep its property in such repair as to preserve itself against destruction from the wear its use in the public service necessarily entails.

Your memorialists are, however, compelled to admit, and the laws upon the statute book must be deemed conclusive evidence of the fact in the absence of any admission, that the relations heretofore existing between the companies they represent and the people of the State have not been as harmonious as their mutually great interest in each others, success would imperatively demand.

It is of no importance now to discuss the reasons for this unfortunate difference, or to point out its responsible cause. It is enough to say that it cannot continue without destruction to the interests your memorialists represent, and, as they believe, without injury to the people.

In that spirit of frankness that should characterize all communications to the law-making power, upon a subject of such vital importance as this, your memorialists beg leave to say that all legislation that shall tend to prevent all extortionate rates, all unjust or partial discriminations for or against persons and places, on the part of their officers or agents, all legislation that shall require the fullest information of all the acts and proceedings of the companies in any way affecting the public, all such police regulations as shall insure the safety and convenience of the patrons, will be heartily welcomed by them. Such legislation, wisely framed and fairly administered, will promote the best interests of their stockholders, to whom your memorialists are directly responsible.

But, your memorialists also ask leave to state, in the same spirit, that they cannot continue for any prolonged time the successful operation of their railways under existing legislation.

Heretofore, trusting to the conservative and kindly influence of time, and a more intimate knowledge of this subject, in all its relations, and firmly believing that justice would at last be done, your memorialists have, at the direct expense of their stockholders, not only continued the use of all their facilities to the public, but have greatly strengthened and improved them.

But your memorialists are, with great reluctance, compelled to say that, if such legislation is to become the settled policy of the State, it will become the imperative duty of your memorialists to attempt, by reductions in service and other radical modifications of expenditure, to endeavor to secure some return upon the capital invested by those they represent.

No honest man can desire that this capital shall be utterly lost to its owners.

These investments were made to furnish transportation to those who wanted to buy it.

It was purely a business transaction: Those who buy it are the great majority of the people. They are the same majority that make the laws. If the rates are made by law, then they are made by those who purchase the commodity, and not by those who own and sell it.

It surely needs only the statement of this fact, to show that no business can be successfully conducted upon such a basis.

If any need further illustration, they will find it by applying the like circumstances to the business of manufacturers or of agriculturists.

Who would engage in the sale of any commodity if the purchaser alone fixed the price?

Neither can the business of transportation be successfully conducted under fixed and arbitrary rules. It is as complicated as the business relations of the mass of individuals who make up a community, no two of which are precisely alike.

It was after long and patient investigation into the operation of the existing laws, with surely no prepossessions in favor of the railway companies, that the board of Railway Commissioners unanimously affirmed in their official report, under the sanction of their official oath, that "specific rates of charges fixed by any authority independent of railway companies, who have the responsibility of management, are everywhere found to be impracticable. That statutory provisions for the control of a business so intricate, and involving such an infinite variety of particulars, must of necessity be practically worse than useless, unless broad and general in character, compelling observance of established principles, rather than imposing regulations for all the details of practical operations."

Those your memorialists represent are citizens of the State, made such by its laws. Under these laws they have invested an immense amount of capital within it.

They respectfully insist that they are, with their fellows, entitled to the equal protection of the laws, and because, by the operation of these laws, they are not only deprived of that protection, but are singled out from all the other interests of the State, as sole objects of oppression and spoliation, they respectfully ask that the provisions of the laws of 1874 and 1875, fixing arbitrary rates of fare and freight, may be repealed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The chair presented the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

OFFICE OF THE RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
January 21, 1876.

To the honorable the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

The undersigned, Railroad Commissioners, have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of Resolution No. 9. S., directing them to request of the West Wisconsin Railway Company certain information relative to the sale and rent of lands, and would respond thereto as follows:

In answer to questions put by this commission, the West Wisconsin Railway Company has already made a sworn statement of the following facts concerning lands granted to, as well as received, sold, and contracted by said company up to the 30th day of June, 1875, to-wit:

Total number of acres of lands granted to the company.....	1,004.160
Number of acres received.....	759,990.60
Number of acres sold and conveyed.....	50,567,
Average price per acre realized.....	$4 23
Number of acres held by company at date of report.....	601,282.34
Amount of land sold, but not conveyed, under contracts in force at date of report (acres).....	108,140.56
Whole amount of cash, principal, received for lands hitherto sold and conveyed.....	$213,809 35
Whole amount of cash received, principal on outstanding contracts in force.....	208,223 00
Whole amount of cash received, principal and interest on contracts forfeited.....	1,128 75
Whole amount of cash received for stumpage, trespass, etc.....	54,029 79
Total receipts from lands sold and contracted to be sold during year ending June 30, 1875.....	23,299 17
Aggregate sum of receipts on account of lands, from all sources....	961,091 19
Amount due the company on lands sold or contracted.....	413,707 22

The foregoing information will be found printed on pages 87 and 88 of the official papers accompanying the second annual report of this commission, now nearly ready for delivery.

The further information demanded by your honorable body will be requested of the company without delay, and forwarded immediately upon receipt thereof.

Respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOS. H. OSBORNE,
GEO. H. PAUL,
Commissioners.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

By Senator Barron:

Res. No. 15, S.,

Relating to agents appointed by the Governor to protect the timber on the lands granted to the St. Croix and Lake Superior Railroad Company, granting permits to cut grass thereon.

Whereas, Chapter 46, of the general laws of 1869, provide that "the Governor be authorized and empowered to appoint one or more competent persons as agents of the State, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Governor, and whose duties shall be to protect the timber growing on said lands," and,

Whereas, It is creditably reported, and publicly known in the counties of Burnett, Polk and St. Croix, that permits to cut grass on said lands for hay, have been sold to homesteaders, settlers and loggers, and such homesteaders, settlers and loggers forbidden to cut said grass without first paying for such permits,

Resolved, That his excellency, the Governor, is respectfully requested to inform the Senate by what authority, and under what law, if any, said agents, or either of them, have sold such permits in Burnett, Polk, or any other county of the State.

Resolved, That his excellency, the Governor, is respectfully requested to inform the Senate whether the reports or accounts of any of said agents on file in his office show that any such permits have been sold, or that any moneys have been received for such permits, or paid or deposited with the State Treasurer, and if so, how much.

The resolution lies over.

Res. No. 16, S.,

Requesting the revisors of the statutes to report to the Senate the condition of the work in their charge.

Resolved, That the revisors appointed by the Justices of the Supreme Court under an act passed March 4, 1875, to revise the statutes of this State, are respectfully requested to inform this Senate at their earliest convenience, how far and in what proportion to the whole work, they have progressed in their duties, the expense attending it so far, and at what time they expect to be able to report the revision complete.

The resolution lies over.

By Senator Barron :

Jt. Res. No. 9, S.,

Instructing and requesting our Senators and Representatives in Congress, to oppose a certain bill in Congress relating to the St. Croix land grant.

WHEREAS, A bill was introduced in the United States Senate on the 10th day of January, 1876, by Senator Sargent, of California, entitled, "a bill to restore the lands conditionally granted, the conditions of which have lapsed, to the public domain," which bill would include the grant of lands made to the State of Wisconsin, by acts of Congress, approved June 3, 1856. and May 5, 1864. "to aid in the construction of a railroad from the St. Croix River or Lake, between townships twenty-five and thirty-one, to the west end of Lake Superior and Bayfield," and

WHEREAS, Forty miles of road have been built by the company to which has been given said grant by the State of Wisconsin in consideration thereof, and said company is preparing and proceeding to build the remainder of said road, and the passage of said United States Senate bill would work great injustice to the State of Wisconsin, to said railroad company, and especially to that part of the State through which said road is to run,

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That our Senators in Congress are instructed, and our Representatives therein are requested, to oppose so much of said bill now pending in the United States Senate as will affect said grant of lands made to the State of Wisconsin.

The resolution lies over.

By Senator Barron:

Res. No. 17, S.,

Calling for information from Attorney-General regarding suits against West Wisconsin Railway Company.

Resolved, That the Attorney-General be and is hereby requested,

First, To report to the Senate the present status of the case of the State of Wisconsin against the West Wisconsin Railway Company now pending in the Supreme Court to forfeit the charter of the company.

Second, His opinion as to the effect of the further prosecution of the case, especially whether it would prevent for a time the operation of any portion of the line of the West Wisconsin Railway Company.

Third, What legislative action, if any, in regard to such case and the subject matter thereof, would, in his opinion, best subserve the interests of the State.

The resolution lies over.

Relating to the reception of bills.

ASSEMBLY MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

Jt. Res. No. 4, A.,

Relating to the reception of bills.

Lies over under the rules.

BILLS REPORTED BY A COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE.

The consideration of bill

No. 26, S.,

A bill to amend chapter 111, of the revised statutes, entitled of divorce,

Which was set for to-day, was taken up.

Senator Reed offered the following substitute for section one:

"Section 1. Section nine, of chapter 111, of the revised statutes, is hereby amended by adding thereto the following additional cause for divorce: 8th. When the husband or wife shall have been incurably insane for the space of eight years immediately preceding the commencement of the action for divorce, but no such divorce shall be granted where it shall appear that the plaintiff in such action has, by reason of neglect, abuse or otherwise, contributed in any manner to the cause of such insanity. nor unless such incurable insanity shall be clearly established by the testimony of two practicing physicians, residents of the county where such action is pending; provided, that where such insane husband or wife is an inmate of any asylum or hospital for the insane, the testimony of the superintendent of said asylum or hospital shall be taken in lieu of one of the said practicing physicians."

The amendment was adopted.

The question being on the engrossment of the bill as amended, the ayes and nays were called for, and the Senate refused to order the engrossment of the bill by the following vote.

Ayes—Senators Baker, Barney, Barron, Blair, R. E. Davis, McFarland, Reed, Ryan, Silverthorn, Tate, and Welch—11.

Nays—Senators Barden, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Eastman, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Mitchell, Nevins, Potter, Rounds, Schuette, Scott, Trcat, and Wilmot—18.

On motion of Senator Barden,
The Senate resolved itself into a

COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE,

On the report of the Select Committee on the revision of the rules of the Senate,

Senator Barden in the chair.

After some time spent therein, the committee rose, and through their chairman reported as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT:—The Senate in Committee of the Whole has had under consideration the revision of the rules, has gone through with the same, and has instructed me to report the following rules to the Senate, with various amendments.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE CONSIDERED.

The several amendments to the rules, made in Committee of the Whole, were adopted by the Senate.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED.

Senator Barron, on leave, introduced,

Res. No. 18, S.,

Resolved, That Rule No. 13, entitled Committees, be suspended during the present session of the Senate, and that the standing committees of the Senate shall remain during this session, as constituted on page 10 of the Senate Journal.

On motion of Senator Barron,

The rules were suspended and the resolution was adopted.

On motion of Senator Campbell,

The Senate adjourned.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1876.

10 O'CLOCK, A. M.

The Senate met,

The Lieutenant-Governor presiding.

Prayer by the Rev. C. H. Richards.

The roll was called and the following Senators answered to their names:

Senators Baker, Barden, Barney, Barron, Blair, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, R. E. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Eastman, Farr, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Hudd, Mitchell, Nevins, Reed, Rounds, Ryan, Schuette, Scott, Tate, Treat, Welch, and Wilmot.

MEMORIALS PRESENTED AND REFERRED.

By Senator Hiner:

Mem. No. 26, S.,

Of Rosella M. Bowman.

To the Honorable, the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin:

The memorial of Rosella M. Bowman, formerly Rosella M. Downell, respectfully represents:

That under the law of 1859, providing for the erection of the State Capitol, Samuel H. Downell was appointed architect, and his compensation was fixed by said law, and the several subsequent acts. That afterwards, one A. Kutzbock, was associated with him as architect, that plans, specifications, and estimates, for the entire building were prepared and accepted by the State, and delivered to its custody. The east wing was erected under his superintendence, and payment made as the work progressed, according to the terms of the law. Mr. Downell, in December, 1860, while the work was in progress, died, leaving an unadjusted balance due him under the contract.

Your memorialist represents that, as his widow and administrator, she caused to be presented to the legislature, in 1861, an account against the State in favor of Downell & Kutzbock, claiming the balance due after giving credit for all services paid. This account necessarily embraced the interest of Mr. Kutzbock, who, upon the death of Mr. Downell, had succeeded him as State architect. The correct amount due for such services was easily determined by the committee on claims, and there was no difference between your memorialist and the committee.

But as the architect was to be paid as the work progressed, and Mr. Downell died before its completion, the committee were of the opinion that from the amount to become due a discount should be made in consideration of immediate payment. The claim embraced only the charge for superintendence of the completed wing, and plans, specifications, and estimates for the remainder, which was in progress of erection at the time of his death, and your memorialists protested that this was completed work, while conceding that the percentage for superintending was due to the successor. Mr. Kutzbock declined to make any discount upon his interest in the claim, but preferred and did subsequently receive his as the work progressed.

But the necessities of the estate of the deceased compelled your memorialist to submit to such discount upon her interest, amounting to $1,470, and the committee reported a bill appropriating $3,000 to Mr. Kutzbock and herself, in full for plans, specifications, and estimates of the west wing, then nearly completed, and $2,500 to your memorialist alone, for the half interest of the estate in the plans and specifications and estimate of the entire work. Your memorialist, therefore, respectfully presents a duplicate of the amount then presented, upon which she acknowledges the receipt of the amount then appropriated, and claims the balance then and now due, with interest from that time. She knows of no reason why a receipt in part of an undoubted claim should be held conclusive of payment in full, the only consideration on the part of the claimant being necessity, and on the part of the State an equitable discount for advance payment not admitted by her, and to which her associate declined to submit.

ROSELLA M. BOWMAN.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, Dane County, ss:

By Senator Scott:

Mem. No. 27, S.,

Of the county board of supervisors of Adams county, asking for a change in the laws for advertising and selling lands for delinquent taxes.

By Senator Flint:

Mem. No. 28, S.,

Of H. J. Goddard, George Ginty, and 52 other citizens, of Chippewa county, against the passage of any bill to authorize the construction of a dam or dams across the Chippewa River below the head of navigation.

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin in Legislature assembled:

WHEREAS, At different intervals during the past fifteen years, under different pretexts, parties have sought to secure the form of legislative authority from the legislature of this State to authorize the construction of dams across the Chippewa River at points below the head of navigation;

AND WHEREAS, The Chippewa River is one of the navigable waters leading into the Mississippi River, which by the ordinance of 1787, by the act of Congress, by the enabling act, under which the State was organized and admitted as a State into the Union, (the same having been re-enacted in our State Constitution) became and is a common and continuous highway from the head of navigation at the city of Chippewa Falls to the Gulf of Mexico over which a large and increasing inter-State commerce is carried on, amounting annually to over five millions of dollars, with also the possibility and right of inter-national commerce, thus placing all questions affecting the navigation of the river rightfully under the control of the general government;

AND WHEREAS, By and under an act of Congress, the general government has taken cognizance of this authority and duty, and has caused several surveys to be made of the Chippewa River, from Chippewa Falls to its confluence with the Mississippi River, with the view of improving the navigation of the river;

AND WHEREAS, Such acts as are sought to be passed by your honorable body, granting the occupancy of the channel of the river for private, local, and speculative purposes, no matter with how many or how apparently good promises of indemnification and safe-guards from danger to the public or private interests, would be an assumption of unwarranted legislation, provoking litigation and productive only of mischief.

Therefore, the undersigned earnestly remonstrate and protest against the passage of any bill authorizing the construction of a dam across the Chippewa River below the city of Chippewa Falls.

H. J. GODDARD,
GEO. C. GINTY,
AND FIFTY-TWO OTHERS.

SPECIAL ORDER.

M. C. No. 3, S.,

Requesting an investigation to be made into the right of Geo. W. Cate to occupy a seat as member of Congress for the 8th district of Wisconsin.

Being the special order for this hour,

Senator Silverthorn moved that the memorial be indefinitely postponed.

The ayes and noes being called, the motion was lost by the following vote :

Ayes—Senators Barney, R. E. Davis, Eastman, Hudd, Mitchell, Reed, Ryan, Silverthorn, and Wilmot—9.

Nays—Senators Baker, Barden, Barron, Blair, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Farr, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Nevins, Rounds, Schuette, Scott, Treat, and Welch—19.

Senator Silverthorn offered the following amendment:

Amend the memorial by striking out the whole of the last paragraph, commencing on page 4, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

Your memorialists further represent that in the county of Douglas, at said election, Mr. McDill received 109 votes, and Mr. Cate received 40 votes, but that in a contest for the office of county clerk of that county, in the case of the State of Wisconsin ex. rel., Vincent Cournoyer against Richard Relf, the court found the following facts, and rendered the following decision, viz:

DECISION OF JUDGE CLOUGH IN THE RELF-COURNOYER CASE.

Circuit Court, Douglas County, State of Wisconsin, ex. rel.

Vincent Cournoyer, plaintiff, against Richard Relf, defendant.

A jury trial having been duly waived in this action, and the same having been tried by the court without a jury, at a term of the circuit court begun and held in the county of Douglas, on the third Monday of June, A. D., 1875, and having heard and considered the allegations and proofs of the respective parties, and the argument of their respective counsel, I do find and decide as Facts.

1. That at the general election, held on the 5th day of November, A. D., 1872, in the town of Superior, (then and still the only town in Douglas county,) Richard Relf, the defendant, was, by a majority of the legal votes cast at said election for county clerk of Douglas county, elected such county clerk, for the term of two years, commencing on the first Monday of January, A. D. 1873, and thereupon the said Relf duly made and filed his official bond and oath of office in the office of the county treasurer of said county, and during all said term, and hitherto during all the time since the expiration of said two years, has been in possession, and has discharged the duties of said office.

2. That on the third day of November, A. D. 1874, at an election held in the town of Superior, in the county of Douglas (said town being the only town of said county,) as and for the general election for electing county and State officers, the whole number of votes given for county clerk was 147, of which number the relator, Vincent Cournoyer, received 81, and Richard Relf 66. Said election was held at the time and place and in the presence and under the direction of the officers provided by law in the case of general elections.

3. That on the 6th day of November, A. D. 1874, the county clerk of Douglas county delivered to said Cournoyer, in manner and form as stated in the complaint, a certificate of his election to said office of county clerk.

4. Afterward, on the 10th day of November, 1874, the said Cournoyer duly executed as and for his official bond, the bond set forth in the complaint, and conditioned as in the complaint stated, which bond was approved as stated in the complaint. And on the 20th day of November, 1874, the said Cournoyer filed in the office of the county treasurer of Douglas county the said bond, together with his, the said Cournoyer's, oath to the effect stated in the complaint, as and for his official oath.

5. On the first Monday, the fourth day of January, A. D. 1875, the said Cournoyer, at the office of the county clerk, in the courthouse of the county of Douglas, demanded of and from the said Richard Relf the possession of said office, and of all the books, records and papers thereto pertaining, and demanded that the said Relf surrender the same to him, the said Cournoyer, as the said Relf's successor in said office. And the said Relf then and there refused to comply with the said demands or any of them.

6. That there was no meeting of any inspectors of election as a board of registry for the town of Superior, (the same composing one election-district,) held in said town on the Tuesday three weeks preceding the said election of November 3d, 1874, and no lists of any persons, qualified and entitled to vote at the said general election of November 3, 1874, was made by the said inspectors or by the said board of any such meeting.

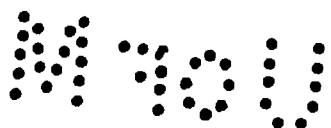

7. That no meeting was held in said town by said inspectors, or any board of registry therein, on Tuesday of the week preceding said general election at the place designated for holding the polls of election, for the purpose of revising, correcting, and completing any such list, and no such list was revised, corrected or completed at any such meeting, and none of the persons who voted at such election did furnish the board of inspectors any affidavit in writing, giving his reasons for not appearing on the day for correcting the alphabetical list, nor prove by the oath of a householder of the district in which such election was held, that such householder knew such person so voting or offering to vote, to be an inhabitant of such district.

8. The relator, Vincent Cournoyer, was born in the United States, has been a resident of the county of Douglas for more than nineteen years last past, is about twenty-four years old, is a civilized person, and is not a member of any tribe of Indians. His father is a white man, his mother is a mixed blood half-breed, of the Chippewa Indians.

And I further find and decide as conclusions of law:

1. That the relator, Vincent Cournoyer, is a citizen of the State of Wisconsin, and a legal elector of the town of Superior, in the county of Douglas, and eligible to the office of county clerk in said county.

2. That the said election so held in the town of Superior, as and for the general election on the 3d day of November, A. D. 1874, was null and void, because no registry or list of persons qualified and entitled to vote was made, as required by law, for the purposes of said general election, and no affidavit or proof was furnished as hereinbefore stated.

3. That the defendant is entitled to the office of county clerk of Douglas county, and to hold the same until his successor is elected, or appointed, and qualified.

4. That the relator, Vincent Cournoyer, is not entitled to the said office.

5. That the defendant is entitled to a judgment in this action, declaring and establishing his right and title to said office, and that the said relator is not entitled to the same, and for the recovery of his costs and disbursements.

S. H. CLOUGH,
Circuit Judge.

Dated, July 10, 1875.

So that it will appear therefrom that the votes in the county of Douglas, at said election, which were counted in said election, should not be counted therein.

Senator Hudd moved that further consideration of the memorial and pending amendment, be postponed until 11 a. m. of Wednesday next.

The motion prevailed.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Senator Ryan asked leave of absence for Senator McFarland until Monday evening.

Leave was granted.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Claims, to whom was referred

Mem. No. 11, S.,

Petition of Conrad Krez for service as Colonel 27th Regiment, Wisconsin Volunteers.

Memorial of Wm. P. Stowe, account against State of Wisconsin for services as chaplain of 27th Regiment Wisconsin Volunteers.

Report the same back, and recommend that they be spread on the journal.

FRANCIS CAMPBELL,
Chairman.

So ordered.

To the Honorable the Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin:

GENTLEMEN:—The petition of Conrad Krez, of the city of Sheboygan, respectfully shows, that on the 2d day of September, 1862, he was commissioned by the Governor of the State, colonel of 27th regiment Wisconsin volunteers, without his applying for said office. From that day he was in the service of this State, executing the orders of its Governor, and discharging the duties of said office until March 7, 1863, when he was mustered in the service of the United States. He was not sooner mustered into such service, because his regiment had not the requisite number of men, and the regiment fell short of that number because several squads of men had failed to report, notwithstanding the orders of the Governor, for the reason that towns for which they had enlisted failed to pay the bounties promised by those who recruited them. At the time your petitioner accepted said commission of colonel, the full number of men had been assigned, or were ready to be assigned, to him by the Governor, and he had a right to expect his immediate muster in, but on account of the failure of said men to report, his muster was delayed until the 7th day of March, 1863, when the regiment was full; and he received no pay under his commission of colonel for the time which elapsed between the 2d day of September, 1862, and March 7, 1863. Under a commission, however, of post-commandant he received five dollars per day from September 17, 1862, to March 7, 1863.

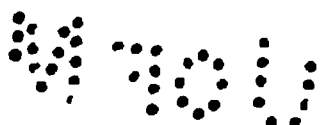

Your petitioner claims, that he is justly entitled from the State, in whose sole service he was, to full pay and allowances of colonel for 186 days, from September 2, 1862, to March 7, 1863. The full pay of colonel of infantry was $198 a month, after deducting the allowance for forage, which was furnished in kind. The State, however, should be credited for 171 days with the $5 daily pay on said commission as post-commandant. Reckoning the daily pay allowances of colonel at six dollars and sixty cents, and deducting the amount received as post-commandant, there is due to your petitioner fifteen day's full pay, and one dollar and sixty cents difference between colonel's pay and pay received as post-commandant for 171 days; making a total of $372.60 due; as will more particularly appear by the verified account annexed.

Your petitioner further shows, that this claim was allowed by the Senate, at their session of 1870, by bill No. 94, but was indefinitely postponed by the Assembly without just reason, as your petitioner believes.

As your petitioner believes that the State of Wisconsin is not only able but willing to pay what it owes, not only to creditors who hold bonds under the seal of the State, but also to its simple citizens, who, in performing service for the same, have no other security than the sense of justice in their legislators, he respectfully asks you to allow the accompanying account and pay it in the same manner as other debtors are required to pay their debts, namely, with interest thereon from the time it was due.

Your humble servant,

CONRAD KREZ.

To the Honorable, the Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin:

The undersigned would respectfully represent that on the 27th of October, 1862, he was commissioned by the Governor of Wisconsin chaplain of the 27th Regiment of Wisconsin Volunteers, with rank from the 23d of that month.

That on the last mentioned date he had entered upon the duties of that office at Camp Washburn, Milwaukee; that a sufficient number of enlisted men had been assigned by the Governor to said regiment, so as to entitle him to an immediate muster, but that some of the squads so assigned failed to report to camp as they were ordered, because, as your petitioner is informed, the towns where they enlisted failed or refused to pay the promised bounties, and the Governor was unable at the time to furnish others in their stead, but it now seemed apparent that the enforcement of the draft, already ordered, would very soon fill up the regiment, but in consequence of the frequent delays in the draft by the State authorities, and the unpleasant circumstances and delay in effecting the same and securing those drafted, the regimental organization was left incomplete until March 7, 1863, and that the rules and regulations of the United States army do not entitle the chaplain to muster until the completion of the regimental organization.

Your petitioner would further state that he was constantly on duty as chaplain, and was under orders of the Governor of the State of Wisconsin from the said 23d day of October, 1862, until March 7, 1863, and that in addition to the regular duties as chaplain of the regiment, he was detailed as regimental post-master, and furnished a horse and transported the mail from the post-office, in Milwaukee, to Camp Washburn, a distance of three miles, daily; that by personal effort he procured a very respectable library for the use of the soldiers, and for the services above mentioned he has never received pay for any part thereof, and believing the same to be a just and equitable claim against the State of Wisconsin, he prays your honorable body to pass a bill granting him relief.

Very respectfully.

WM. P. STOWE.

MADISON, Jan. 20, 1876.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,

To WILLIAM P. STOWE, DR.

To four and one-half months' service as chaplain of the 27th Reg't Wis. Vols., from Oct. 23, 1862, to Mar. 7, 1863, $527 00
And interest from March 7, 1863.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, Dane County, ss:

Wm. P. Stowe being duly sworn, deposes and says that the above account accrued as stated in the annexed petition, by him subscribed, that the same is a just claim against the State, as he is advised and verily believes, and has not been paid.

W. P. STOWE.

Subscribed and sworn before me, this 20th day of January, 1876.

WM. P. LYON,

Associate Justice Supreme Court.

On motion of Senator Flint,

By Senator Douglas:

Res. No. 19, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish a statement relative to lumber consumption in the State of Wisconsin.

Resolved, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to furnish the Senate, as soon as they can do so, a brief statement of the average distance or center of lumber consumption in the State of Wisconsin, from mills situated on railroads within the State, or from shipping-ports on Lake Michigan, or in other words, to furnish the Senate an estimate of the average number of miles which each car-load of lumber used in the State is hauled by the railroads within the State. And they are also requested to inform the Senate of the rate per ton per mile now allowed by law on lumber for such average distance, and also whether such lumber is loaded and unloaded at the cost of the railroads, or at the cost of the owner.

On motion of Senator Douglas,

The rules were suspended, and the resolution was adopted.

By Senator Welch:

Res. No. 20, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish a copy of financial circular of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company.

Resolved, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to furnish the Senate a copy of the financial circular issued by the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company in the city of New York, and signed by the treasurer of said company, said circular bearing date on or about July 21, 1875.

On motion of Senator Welch,

The rules were suspended, and the resolution was adopted.

By Senator Welch:

Res. No. 21, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish information relative to railroad revenues.

Resolved, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to inform the Senate of the average gross revenues per ton per mile, in such year for the last five annual reports of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, on all classes and kinds of cheap and dear freights carried from Prairie du Chien to Milwaukee; and also from La Crosse to Milwaukee; and also to furnish the Senate with the rate per ton per mile now allowed by law on car-load lots of grain and flour carried from the now competing stations of Boscobel to Milwaukee, and West Salem to Milwaukee.

On motion of Senator Welch,

The rules were suspended, and the resolution was adopted.

The Committee on Privilege and Elections, to whom was referred the petition of Col. Reuben May, contesting the right of the Hon. J. Henry Tate to the seat as Senator of the fourth district, and to be admitted himself to such seat, together with the testimony, depositions, &c., relating thereto.

Have had the same under consideration, and have directed me to report that they have carefully and fully examined all the documents submitted to them, and heard the arguments of counsel relating to the matter of such petition. And after such examination they are of the opinion that of the legal votes cast in the 4th Senate District, at the election held on the 2nd day of November, 1875, for the office of State Senator, J. Henry Tate received a majority of said votes, and is entitled to retain and hold his seat in this body, as such Senator, and that Reuben May is not entitled to such seat.

In accordance with such opinion, your committee submit and recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved by the Senate, That J. Henry Tate, having been duly elected, is entitled to retain and hold his seat in this body as Senator from the 4th district.

And your committee would further report that the contestant, Reuben May, requests to be heard upon the floor of the Senate in reference to this contest.

And your committee, upon the request of the contestant, recommends that all the evidence and documents relative to this contest be printed.

A. FARR,
Chairman.

Which motion prevailed.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGE.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
MADISON, January 28, 1876.

To the Honorable, the Senate:

Pursuant to the provisions of chapter 193, laws of 1873, I hereby nominate and appoint, subject to the approval of your honorable body, George W. Burchard as a director of the State Prison, to hold for the term of six years from the first day of January, 1876, vice Joel Rich, term expired.

H. LUDINGTON,
Governor.

Referred to Committee on State Prison.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
MADISON, January 27, 1876.

To the honorable, the Senate:

I have received a copy of Senate Resolution No. 15, requesting me "to inform the Senate by what authority and under what law, if any, the agents of the State, or either of them, appointed by the Governor to protect the timber growing on the lands granted by the State to the St. Croix and Lake Superior Railroad Company, have sold to homesteaders, settlers, and loggers, in Barron, Burnett, Polk, or any other county in the State, permits to cut grass on said lands for hay, and also requesting me to inform your honorable body, "whether the reports or accounts of said agents on file in this office show that any permits have been sold or money received therefor."

In reply, I know of no such provisions of law authorizing said agents of the State to sell permits to cut grass on said lands, or to forbid persons to cut the same without first paying therefor. The records of the executive office do not show that any instructions for such purpose have been given, and the reports and accounts of the several State agents, on file, do not show that any such permits have been sold, or that any moneys have been received, or paid, or deposited with the State Treasurer.

H. LUDINGTON,
Governor.

MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

MEMORIALS PRESENTED AND REFERRED.

By Senator Hiner:

Mem. No. 32, S.,

Of David Taylor, M. D. Moon, C. H. Benton, and 24 others, for an increase of the annual appropriation for the State Historical Society.

To Committee on Claims.

By Senator Barron:

Mem. No. 33, S.,

Of the officers of the State Historical Society.

To Committee on Claims, and ordered spread on the journal.

To the honorable, the legislature of the State of Wisconsin:

Your petitioners, officers of the State Historical Society, respectfully represent: The State has made the book collection of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, now numbering 65,000 volumes, for all practical purposes, the State library—absolutely so, in all things, save in works pertaining to law. The Society is faithfully collecting files of nearly all the newspapers of the State, filled with thousands of legal notices which it is important to preserve for possible evidence in our higher courts of judicature; and, moreover, taking especial pains to collect from other States all documents bearing upon topics of legislation and humane institutions, to aid legislative committees, our Board of Charities, Railroad Commissioners, and members of the State Geological Survey. In these departments, all so important to the best interests of the State, it is altogether probable that no other State in the Union has preserved records so full and so valuable.

The library of the Society has come to be recognized as a most important adjunct to the State University, furnishing facilities of investigation to the Board of Instruction, and especially to the students in preparing for their exercises in debate and composition, and for much of their general reading—embracing a collection of books, which, for their variety and character are excelled but by few of the higher literary institutions of the country.

With the Society's best intentions, it has been impossible to supply but a small part of the works inquired for; or to bind up for ready reference but a very small portion of our thirty-two thousand pamphlets, our newspaper files, our magazines, and books unbound or in ancient broken binding.

The Society's library and collections are the pride of the State, and well deserve the fostering care of the legislature. We heartily unite in asking the further appropriation of $1,500 a year to the Society to enable its board of managers, (of whom the Governor, Secretary of State, and State Treasurer are ex-officio members,) to meet the more pressing demands constantly made for increased means of literary, scientific, and useful investigation. The sum asked will never be grudged by our people for so worthy an object; for it would amount to only one cent to every eight of our population, or an increase of a cent to every $4.34 of the State-tax, according to last year's apportionment. And, as in duty bound, will ever pray.

COMMUNICATIONS.

OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
MADISON, January 31, 1876.

HON. C. D. PARKER,

Lieutenant-Governor and President of Senate:

DEAR SIR:—I herewith transmit a reply to the resolution of the Senate in relation to the West Wisconsin Railway Company, and request you to present the same.

Very respectfully,

A. SCOTT SLOAN,
Attorney-General.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the resolution adopted by the Senate, requesting the Attorney-General to report:

First. The present status of the case of the State of Wisconsin against the West Wisconsin Railway Company, now pending in the Supreme Court, to forfeit the charter of the company.

Second. His opinion as to the effect of the further prosecution of the case, whether it would prevent, for a time, the operation of any portion of the line of the West Wisconsin Railway Company.

Third. What legislative action, if any, in regard to such case, and the subject matter thereof, would in his opinion best subserve the interests of the State, and would respectfully submit the following reply:

Chapter 31, laws of 1873, provided, in substance, that in case the West Wisconsin Railway Company should neglect or refuse to re-lay its track from Warren's Mills to Tomah, and operate the same by running daily passenger and freight trains thereon, by the first day of June, 1873, the said company should thereby forfeit all the rights, franchises, powers, privileges, and grants conferred upon said company by the legislature of the State of Wisconsin; and it was made the duty of the Attorney-General, and he was by the act required to bring suit in the Supreme Court in the nature of quo warranto against said company to enforce said forfeiture, which said suit was to be prosecuted to final judgment with all convenient speed, and the Governor was authorized to employ counsel to assist the Attorney-General in the prosecution of said suit.

In pursuance of this act, the company having failed to relay the track, Hon. H. L. Palmer was employed by Gov. Washburn as counsel in the case, and on the 11th day of September, 1873, an action was duly commenced in the Supreme Court to enforce said forfeiture.

The defendant, the West Wisconsin Railway Company, demurred to the information, the court overruled the demurrer, (34 Wis. Rep., p. 197,) and the defendant thereupon filed its answer, to which the State interposed a demurrer. The issue thus formed came on for argument at the June term, 1874, when the demurrer was sustained, the court holding that the act of the defendant in discontinuing and taking up its road between Tomah and Warren's Mills, was such a violation of its charter and of public law as to work a forfeiture. (36 Wis. Rep., 466.)

The defendant had leave to answer over, and on the 12th day of January, 1875, filed its amended answer, setting up substantially the same facts embraced in the original answer. To this the State demurred, and the case was put upon the calendar for argument at the last August term.

In the meantime Mr. Palmer had withdrawn from the case, and ex-chief justice Dixon employed in his stead, who had entire control of the case until the latter part of September, 1875, when he withdrew in a letter, of which the following is a copy:

MILWAUKEE, September 20, 1875.

HON. WILLIAM R. TAYLOR,

Governor of Wisconsin:

MY DEAR SIR:—In the case of the State vs. the West Wisconsin Railway Company, action of quo warranto, now pending in the Supreme Court, in which I have the honor to be employed as counsel for the State, I have advised the people of Tomah, as parties locally and specially interested in the litigation, that I look upon it as unwise and wrong, under existing circumstances, to press the action to judgment of forfeiture at this time; giving as my reasons the fact, which is one of public notoriety, and which I thoroughly believe to be true, that it is a physical or pecuniary impossibility for the railway company to re-lay its track from Warren's Mills to Tomah during the present season; and the further fact, on conclusion of law, which I believe also to be well-founded, that the judgment of forfeiture entered now, would deprive all the people along the line of the company's road of the facilities and advantages afforded by the road. After forfeiture of its franchises, the company would have no right to operate its road for a single day, and, as I understand the law, no such right would exist on the part of any other person or corporation. If I am correctly informed, no receiver, or agent, appointed by any court, would have such right.

Entertaining these views, it has seemed to me that the public wrong and injury to be endured by the disfranchisement of the company would be far greater than that which has been or must be endured by the failure of the company to comply with the requirements of the law of 1873, under which the action was instituted. Such a proceeding would not only defeat the object to be attained by the inhabitants of Tomah, but would deprive, for a time, at least, all the inhabitants along the line of the road of the benefit afforded by it. I need not say that this would be a public calamity; everybody knows that it would. Neither need I say, that it would be a result not contemplated by the legislature at the time of the passage of the act. The object of the act was to secure railway connection with Tomah, and not to destroy it elsewhere, including the very link which was to be made with Tomah. Forfeiture was inserted as an additional sanction or guaranty for the making of the connection, assuming it to be possible for the company to make it. Assuming it to be impossible for the company to relay the track, I cannot think for a moment that the legislature intended that the people of a larger section of the State, should be deprived of the advantages offered by the road. This is a contingency not contemplated by the legislature, and not provided for by the act in question, nor by any other, so far as I know or can ascertain. Convinced that judgment of forfeiture must follow, I have regarded it as my duty, as counsel for the State, and representing the people, not of Tomah alone, but of the State at large, to withhold application for such judgment until such time as by proper legislation the evils to which I have directed your excellency's attention might be averted.

These views, and my reasons for them, I have freely and fully communicated to the people of Tomah, and have endeavored to convince them of the propriety of my action, but without success. Regarding me as specially and peculiarly employed to represent their views, and be governed by their wishes and directions, they are wholly dissatisfied and discontented.

Under these circumstances I have been at great loss to know what course it was proper for me to pursue. I should be glad to learn that I am mistaken in my views of the effect of the judgment, and that, if entered, it would not result in the evils which I anticipate.

The interests of the people of Tomah, in the object which the legislature had in view by the passage of the act, are more direct and appreciable, than those of the people of any other part of the State. I recognize this fact, but still cannot recognize their right to control the litigation under existing circumstances. They think such is their right, and make demands accordingly. I may be wrong in my views upon this point, other counsel may say that I am wrong. It seems proper that the people of Tomah, through your excellency's appointment, should have the opportunity of obtaining the opinion of other counsel. I have concluded, therefore, with your excellency's permission, to withdraw from the case, and I hereby ask leave to do so.

Most respectfully, your obedient servant,

L. S. DIXON.

This action of Judge Dixon brought the case within the direct supervision of this office, and although Governor Taylor employed the Hon. Geo. Graham, of Tomah, as associate counsel, I considered that the responsibility of future proceedings devolved mainly upon the Attorney-General.

My first impression was, that it was my duty to proceed without delay, and steps were accordingly taken to bring the case to a hearing, and final judgment about the first of December, but further and fuller consideration of the circumstances, and of the important interests involved, led to the conclusion that the best interests of the people of the State would not justify the extreme measure of forfeiture at that time, especially in view of the embarrassments of the company, its alleged inability to relay the track, and the fact that the legislature would soon be in session, and could take such action as would best subserve the interests of the State.

I therefore continued the case until the present January term of the Supreme Court, under a stipulation from defendant's attorneys, that judgment might be entered upon the pleadings according to the prayer of the information, at any time after the adjournment of the next (this) legislature, unless such legislature should take such action as ought to prevent judgment of forfeiture. Such is the present condition of the case.

In reply to the second inquiry, I am of opinion that the prosecution of the case to a judgment of forfeiture would deprive the company of all right to operate its road, and the effect would be to prevent for a time the operation of any portion of the line of the West Wisconsin Railway Company. This result would seem to follow on general principles, but chapter 329. of the laws of 1875, is so explicit as scarcely to leave room for doubt. That act, among other things, provides "that after such judgment of dissolution the corporation shall exist until a receiver shall be appointed, qualified, and duly invested with the property of said corporation, but such corporation shall not, after such judgment of dissolution, be able to do any other act than to make over its assets," and this is but a re-enactment of the general provision relating to corporations, section 8, chapter 75, Taylor's Statutes, page 1,028, which, after providing that the corporation shall continue for certain purposes after judgment of forfeiture, adds the following language, "but not for the purpose of continuing the business for which such corporations have been or may be established."

The third inquiry, it is respectfully submitted, is one peculiarly and wholly within the province of the legislature to consider and determine, and upon which I do not feel at liberty to express an opinion.

Very respectfully,

A. SCOTT SLOAN,
Attorney-General.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, JAN. 31, 1876.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

The undersigned. Railroad Commissioners. have the honor herewith to transmit, for the use of your honorable body, the accompanying answer of the land commissioner of the West Wisconsin Railway Company, to inquiries from this office, made on the 21st inst., in pursuance of the request contained in Resolution No. 9, S.

Respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOS. H. OSBORN,
Commissioners.

WEST WISCONSIN RAILWAY COMPANY, LAND DEPARTMENT,
HUDSON, WIS., January 24, 1876.

To the Honorable, the Board of Railroad Commissioners, Madison, Wisconsin:

GENTLEMEN:—In reply to your communication under date of 21st inst., transmitting copy of resolution, adopted by the Senate, requesting certain information as to the transactions of this department, I have the honor to submit the following report, upon the points indicated in the resolution:

First. The number of acres sold and deeded to January 1, 1876, was 60,929.28. (Note.—The number of acres sold and conveyed to June 30, 1875, was as heretofore reported to you, 50,567.70.)

The number of acres contracted to be sold to January 1, 1876, was 114,542.49.

All the lands sold have either been deeded to purchaser, or are held under contract of sale. In no instance has the company taken a mortgage to secure the payment of the purchase-money.

Second. The highest price paid per acre was $35.00. (Note.—This was a sale of a small tract of land, on the line of the railroad, to a wealthy firm of business men, who bought it as a speculation in view of its eligibility for town site and manufacturing purposes.)

Third. The lowest price paid per acre was $1.25. (Note.—This is one-half the price per acre of all government land within limits of twenty miles on either side of the railroad.)

Fourth. The average price paid per acre was $5.35. (Note.—This average is of all the lands deeded and contracted to be sold. The sales have been upon from five to eight years' time, and in very many cases upon a cash payment of ten dollars. In most of the sales the cash, or first payment, has been small; it has been the uniform practice of the department to make the earlier payments small, in order to enable the purchaser to improve and cultivate the land, that he might, from the products of the same, more easily meet the last and largest instalment.)

Fifth. No lands have been leased or rented for any purpose, and therefore no revenue been derived "from lands rented for various purposes and exempt from taxation."

Though not expressly called for by the resolution, I trust it will not be regarded as improper for me to say, for the information of your honorable board, that the lands of the company were in 1872, for the first time explored, and reports made as to character, quality, location, and the other elements entering into their value. Upon these reports, and information subsequently acquired, the prices have been fixed. While I am not fully advised as to the prices at which lands similar in character are held by individuals for sale within the limits of the grant, I am gratified to be able to state that with the easy terms given by the company, settlers have invariably manifested a disposition to purchase of us, at the prices fixed, rather than of individuals.

Prior to the year 1872, when I assumed the management of the department, a large number of settlers had, without color of right, entered upon and improved lands belonging to the company. To all such I was instructed to sell at the fair market value of the land in a state of nature, regardless of improvements, and upon the same terms of payment given to others. While in some cases, by reason of the vast details involved in the business of the department, and of imperfect knowledge as to particular tracts of land, errors of judgment, may have worked injustice. I have endeavored to carry out both the letter and spirit of these instructions.

In no instance has any land-contract been canceled, or any purchaser ejected, because of failure to make payments according to the contract, when he was sufficiently desirous of an extension of time to request the same.

It may not be improper, also, to say that the lands which have thus far been sold, having been selected out of the entire grant by early purchasers, were among the choicest which the company had acquired. While there still remains unsold, and open for sale, a large quantity of good land, candor compels the statement that at least one-third of the lands undisposed of are sandy, barren, bluffy, and comparatively worthless.

I have been and am instructed to push the sales of land as rapidly as possible. This I have done, am doing, and shall continue to do. No land has been, or is, or will be reserved from market, or held for enhancement in value.

Lists of all lands sold and conveyed, and of all lands held under contract, have been annually furnished to the proper officers of each county, as required by chapter 104, of the general laws of 1870, to the end that they might be assessed and taxed as other property, with the exception of Trempealeau, Pierce, and Pepin, where, inasmuch as all the lands which the company had acquired were assessed and taxed, whether sold or not, the department was advised that it was needless to furnish the lists.

Yours, respectfully,

H. H. WEAKLEY,
Land Commissioner West Wisconsin R'y Co.

The President presented the following report of the State Treasurer:

STATE OF WISCONSIN, TREASURER'S OFFICE,
MADISON, February, 1876.

To the honorable, the President of the Senate:

SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of Senate Resolution No. 23, and to submit the following reply thereto:

There has been received by me during the years 1874 and 1875, as one of the School Land Commissioners, fees as follows:

In 1874.....	$2,160 00
In 1875.....	1,573 58

I have also received as interest on the deposit of State funds, during said term of two years, the sum of $24, 334.31.

Not being aware of any law requiring any part of these sums to be credited to the general fund, I have retained the whole amount in accordance with the uniform practice of my predecessors.

Very respectfully,

FERD. KUEHN,
State Treasurer.

The President presented the following report of the Secretary of State:

STATE OF WISCONSIN, SECRETARY'S OFFICE.
MADISON, February 1, 1876.

To the honorable, the President of the Senate:

SIR:—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Resolution No. 24, Senate, and in reply would respectfully state that the fees received during my term were as follows:

From Fire and Marine Insurance Companies.....	$16,078 99
Of such fees there has been paid into the State Treasury to the credit of the general fund, under chapter 56, general laws of 1870, including $674.50 expended in currency	13,015 10
There was received from life and accident companies.....	3,627 00
From land office.....	3,733 58
From incidental fees (certified copies, etc.).....	1,368 30

These fees have been retained for services in accordance with existing laws and the settled and uniform practice of this department.

It may not be improper to add that notarial fees, payable by law into the State Treasury, are frequently sent to the office of the Secretary of State. Such fees are invariably turned over to the State Treasurer and placed to the credit of the general fund.

Very respectfully,

PETER DOYLE,
Secretary of State.

The President presented the following report of the revisers of the statutes:

MADISON, February 2, 1876.

To the President of the Senate:

The revisers, in compliance with the resolution of the honorable the Senate of the State of Wisconsin, adopted on the 27th day of January, 1876, respectfully submit the accompanying report.

Your obedient servant,

DAVID TAYLOR,
Chairman.

To the Senate:

The undersigned, the revisers who were appointed by the justices of the Supreme Court, "to collect and revise the general laws of this State, for the purpose of preparing a new edition of such laws for publication," in pursuance of chapter 203, of the general laws of the year 1875, have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of the resolution adopted by your honorable body, by which, after reciting the universally acknowledged importance of the early completion of the work, and the desire of the people to be informed of the progress already made, and the probable length of time which will be required to complete the revision, the revisers are requested to report to your honorable body:

First. What proportion of the laws they have already revised;

Second. What number of days they have been employed in such work to this time;

Third. What further number of days they will probably require in which to complete such revision;

Fourth. What the compensation of each of such revisers and their clerk amounts to at the present time.

In making response to the particular inquiries so put to them, the undersigned beg the indulgence of your honorable body to enable them to state, with the view of inviting the attention of Senators to the subject, and of informing through your honorable body, all persons interested, not only the quantity of work actually done, the time and money expended, and that will probably be consumed, but especially the revisers' conception and understanding of the character and quality, as well as the magnitude and importance of the work devolved upon them by the act of 1875; and also, the plan with which they have entered upon its performance.

They feel that there is a double necessity for this course ; for the undersigned cannot but be conscious that there is a general inadequacy of conception, on the part not only of the people at large, but also of persons whose professional avocation directs their attention more especially to the statute laws of the State, of the delicate and time-consuming nature of the task with which they are charged ; because, although they entered upon it only after much consideration and with many misgivings upon this account, their own preconception was in this particular astonishingly disproportionate to the real truth, which, as their labor progresses and their experience of it enlarges, is forced upon their minds. If, however, it shall appear that the view they entertain of the requirements imposed upon them to satisfy by the act of 1875, construed in the light afforded by the results of similar labor in other parts of the country which have excited the approbation of the enlightened public, is of too high a character, and beyond what the exigencies of this State demand, or its pecuniary resources can, with due regard to the other unavoidable drains upon them, justly and properly sustain, it will be a conspicuous advantage that this be immediately known, in order that the wisdom of the legislature may discover and define the needed limitations. The mandate of the act of 1875 was not only to "collect," but to "revise" the general laws ; to review, alter, and amend them, according to the approved definition of the latter verb when so employed. It can require no great degree of reflection to enable an intelligent citizen to thoroughly comprehend that such an undertaking is one of peculiar delicacy, and of the greatest importance.

The general laws, under the constitution, support, direct and control not only all the public institutions of the State, and the exercise of the public functions of its administrative officers and magistrates, from the highest to the lowest rank, but also to a large extent the rights and duties of every citizen in his relations to the State and to his fellow-men, both in individual and corporate capacity. There are few interests of the citizen, either in his personal or domestic relations, his associated enterprises, or his social or public duties, not directly and immediately affected by statute law, and no line of that law can be wisely touched, without an intelligent and comprehensive understanding and consideration of these varied interests.

To adequately accomplish the great end sought in the undertaking upon which they have entered, the revisers have considered to be proposed to them by the legislature, besides desiderata of lesser moment, which they now forbear to recapitulate, the leading and principal objects to be attained by the revision of the laws herein mentioned:

First. A careful and critical analysis and intelligent arrangement, in proper divisions, subdivisions, chapters, and sections, as harmonious parts of one entire body of law, of all the general laws.

This required that all the general laws should be considered, first in their comprehensive general relations, the several general divisions then reviewed and subdivided in a natural array; and, descending to the lesser parts, that these should be minutely regarded, both in detail and in view of their relations to the rest. It required that thereafter all the general laws which have been enacted should be carefully examined, in order that such as have been repealed should be omitted. Such as were local or temporary in character should be put to one side, and no enactment which was of permanent and general efficacy should be lost to view, and that thereupon such as remained of force, should be collocated and distributed to their proper departments.

The chief result from this disposition should be, that each title of law should contain, so far as the nature of the whole subject will permit, every provision of statutory enactment relating to it; that each chapter should embrace fully all that pertained to its subject, and no more; that each section should exhaust the limited detail to which it should be directed, and extend not a line beyond. From this it might be hoped it would follow, that when any person, whether lawyer or layman, should read and rely upon the law laid down in a section or chapter, which professed to inform him of his rights and duties on a particular subject, he might not be subsequently disappointed in his respect for the law, and suffer injury in his property or personal privileges, by the too late discovery that some other obscure or recondite passage of the same body of law in reality destroyed and reversed the obvious meaning and sense of that which he had read and acted upon. Few persons, whose thoughts and observation have been turned to the existing laws, but have hitherto witnessed repeated experiences of such discomfiture.

We venture to add, that it may also be hoped, should this object be attained, that it will be unnecessary in subsequent legislation to secure some particular end, that the act to provide it shall take no care for the law as it exists, and like a cannon ball shot through a house, cleave a violent passage through every previously constructed room and apartment of the law, making a rent here, and wholly destroying there, by direct force or inevitable consequence; as a certain necessity, resulting from confusion, has of late years so often caused to be done. But that it will be possible to engraft such changes and emendations upon the appropriate and peculiar branch to be remedied, without injury to the rest of the legal anatomy. No attempt to set forth all the advantages of the successful accomplishment of the object mentioned is, however, now permissible to us, nor needful. The longer the mind dwells on it, the the more striking they appear.

Second. The suggestion to the legislature of additions to or corrections of the various parts, both in the smaller details and the more important particulars, in which a clear analysis and correct collocation will serve to show them deficient.

Anything beyond, however, such verbal and lesser alterations as will in no grave manner change existing law, the revisers regard as but sparingly required of them. Yet to discharge their full duty in this particular, it is incumbent on them to examine the revised laws of other States with a particular care, to compare them with our own, and endeavor to avail the people of such results, as the wisdom and researches of learned men in other commonwealths have wrought, which seem peculiarly appropriate and beneficial to the conditions of things here.

Third. To amend the phraseology in which the statutes are written, wherever needful, so that every provision shall be expressed in clear and perspicuous modern language, readily intelligible to every man, of whatever profession or calling, capable of reading with intelligent understanding the American English tongue.

It is the cardinal rule of courts, "that the acts of the legislature are to be construed according to the intent of the legislature which passed them; that in ascertaining that intent, we are first to look to the language in which they have spoken; and if that language is plain and unambiguous, interpretation is not allowable." Ogden vs. Gliddon, 9 Wis., 46; opinion, page 52.

How manifestly it follows that never ought interpretation to be allowable; because, never ought a statute to be other than plain and unambiguous in expression! Yet a large number of the causes reported in every volume of adjudication, by our highest court, have been carried there, and a still greater number are, term by term, litigated in our circuit courts, upon controversies turning merely on the true reading of the statutory law; a law that should be, if the State discharged its duty, so plain and unambiguous that an intelligent man should not mistake the intention of it, and the Supreme Court not find it allowable to read it otherwise.

Descending to us either as the inheritance of the craft, the carelessness or ignorant unskillfulness of remote ancestors—an inheritance nourished certainly by the combined effects of all together, within our own observation—is the whimsical notion, not uncommonly entertained, and, unfortunately, too commonly fruitful of the worst results, that statute law should not be written in the simple and intelligible speech and perspicuous sentences in which educated men convey ideas, but in an involved, long and turgid phrase that perhaps, to the intelligent and cautious, shall seem to mean one thing and really enact another, and that, to many minds, both means and enacts nothing at all.

While a considerable part of our statutes are not obnoxious to severe criticism in this respect, many portions are so to such an extent as to have been for years the object of ridicule, and yet have been suffered to remain uncorrected, as if to serve no other purpose.

Fourth. To consolidate statutes, relating to the same subjects, reconciling inharmonious provisions, and purging them of redundancy and tautology.

This object may perhaps be considered as included within the first and third before mentioned, since the perfect accomplishment of them would necessarily effect the end. But its importance requires that it should be distinctly and independently placed in view. There occur in the laws, several instances of a double series of acts upon the same subject, or subjects so kindred as should be treated together, which after various amendments to each, have become so involved that no lawyer can safely predict what rights or remedies belong under them to his client, in advance of the decision of the Supreme Court. In other instances the court, after having interpreted a statute before them, have found themselves compelled by the effect of others and former decisions based on them, and a just regard for the rights of property presumably vested in the judicial action, to recant their interpretation and determine against the plainer and clearer reading, in favor of one, before thought inadmissible. Witness, chapters 78, and 148, of the revised statutes of 1858, with their amendments, on the subject of corporations; and Lawrence vs. Kenney, 32 Wis., 281, on tax title limitations. This of statutes that ought to be so plain and unambiguous, that interpretation should not be allowable!

When a careful consideration shall have been bestowed upon the present condition of the statute law, and it shall have come to be clearly perceived, how immeasurably short that condition is of the objects so indicated, which they cannot but regard as proposed to their endeavors by the act of 1875, and what are the difficulties that must inevitably oppose success, it will not be esteemed an affectation in the undersigned, that they declare with how heavy a look they contemplate the prospect, and the insufficient abilities they can bring to the task.

The revisers appointed by the court were each employed in active professional practice, and were each engaged, before the time of their appointment, in numerous causes to be tried during the year. Not only because of their obligations to clients, but because their employment for the public was to be for a limited period only, it would have been unreasonable to have expected, and at the time of their appointment it was not required of them to renounce their engagements or wholly to surrender their practice at the bar. It was supposed that they would reasonably subordinate future business to the work of revision, and, disposing of previous engagements as rapidly as might be done consistently with duty, would apply themselves with reasonable diligence and devotion to their duties to the State. This has been done; yet, unavoidably, previously-contracted obligations have consumed much time during the past year. With the relief which they have obtained, they hope to be able to meet hereafter every reasonable requirement. Some delays were, during the past year, occasioned by the opinion entertained that a part of the work already demanded the joint action of at least two, and from inconvenience in arranging their meetings, arising from conflict in the time of their individual engagements, the fall terms of court necessarily suspended their work, from the causes already explained, and which are not expected to operate again so unfavorably. They then suspended the employment of a clerk. It has seemed a matter of personal justice to themselves that attention should be called to the circumstances here recounted.

The commission was organized on the 2d day of April last,

David Taylor being chosen as chairman of the board, and E. A. Spencer, as clerk. After consideration of the plan upon which they should proceed, it was determined to begin by a joint analysis and arrangement of the general statutes into five principal parts, with division into titles and subdivision into chapters, leaving the analysis of the chapters to be settled as the work proceeded. This was provisionally done in a few days.

The general laws were then to be carefully examined, from the first session of the territorial legislature in 1836, up to the session of 1875, and those of general and permanent character noted, provisional memoranda made for their incorporation in their proper place, and for the repeal of such as should be revised. This was thoroughly done, mostly by David Taylor, with the assistance of Mr. Spencer. It will perhaps show the necessity of such an examination to remark, that it was proved that some acts of importance and general character still survive from territorial times. The plan adopted, then required that the statutes should next be collocated, and their general arrangement and distribution into sections be made, and thus the contents of each section and chapter, with the source from which it was to be taken, be provisionally determined, by the joint action of at least two revisers. Upon the accomplishment of this, the work was to be distributed, in parts, to the several revisers, by a mutual partition, and the parts designated carefully reviewed by the respective individuals, errors noted and corrected, or reserved, if doubtful, for consultation by correspondence or on meeting; and subsequently the whole was to be re-examined by all together, and thus completed for submission to the legislature. This scheme, it was believed, provided for the benefit of joint action in the most important particulars, and secured all that could be well attained of expedition, by separate individual action on different parts. Our subsequent experience, although it has corrected some preconceived ideas in other respects, has fully confirmed our judgment, that this plan is best adapted to achieve as expeditiously as possible the objects proposed.

Entertaining the belief that they should, without doubt, accomplish that part of the work during the year 1875, the revisers began during the summer months to collate and arrange the laws into the designated chapters, and distribute into sections. It was not designed to change a considerable number of them as they are now disposed.

But almost from the very beginning it proved apparent, that there had been an entire misconception of the time which must needs be consumed if the task should be faithfully done. It became necessary to study with care each new chapter considered, and every section prepared, in its relation to the whole work, and to the subjects to which it applied. While all the revisers thought themselves ordinarily familiar with the general statutes, and one at least, (this is written of him,) had enjoyed peculiar and superior advantages for acquiring that knowledge, it transpired that the familiarity which is abundant for the uses of interpretation and application to practice, is greatly inferior to that which will enable to arrange, distribute, and revise. The former is a knowledge which no lawyer ever makes use of without special and particular study of the statutes, in each case which requires his action. He rarely presumes to speak or act upon statute law without the open page before him. Said Lord Coke, "If I am asked a question of common law, I should be ashamed if I could not immediately answer it; but if I am asked a question of statute law, I should be ashamed to answer it without referring to the statute book." It transpired, also, that such and so many have been the changes in the revision of 1858, and such the necessity for new construction of sections, that very many more required re-writing, than it was pre-supposed; and in order to state accurately the law as it is, often a considerable time must be devoted to examining many statutes and determining their true meaning, involving the consultation of judicial decisions upon them, and the application of the rule for interpretation.

It has thus happened that many hours have sometimes been necessary to prepare a single section. Now ought this to provoke surprise? The courts are in the daily habit of hearing arguments to aid them, and of employing sometimes hours of research, in order to settle the vexed question of statutory construction, which spring from the application only of occasional passages in the general laws. It is the duty of the revisers, so far as they can, to anticipate the difficulties of construction that might arise upon any point, determine what the statute is, and, if possible, to prevent controversy by a plain and unambiguous expression of its meaning. It has been a hope from the beginning, and the results so far accomplished fully confirm its reasonableness, that if the statutes in pari materia, shall be properly consolidated, and all shall be purged of their redundancy and tautology, the whole body may be so condensed as to be containable within a single volume of no very inconvenient size. Should this be successfully and satisfactorily done, the retrenchment in the expenses of printing and binding on such a number of copies as the State would probably cause to be printed would more than cover the whole expense of revision. Every page of matter saved by the expurgation of unnecessary and superfluous words, is indeed a pecuniary gain; yet of trifling moment compared with the benefits which ought to follow the greater perspicuity in expression from the happy performance of such a task. It is, however, within the experience of every one, whose habits have turned him to it, that no labor of literary composition is so slow as that of writing little to express much. It is doubly true of the composition of a sentence to be exactly expressive of the law.

Further comment in just explanation of the character and quality of the labor assigned the revisers might well be made, but must be foreborne. Anything less it has seemed might expose to unjust misconception the labors which have been performed by the revisers so far as they have gone, and their expectations for the future.

It is not sought to show that others of greater abilities and powers of comprehension and composition might not have done better and worked faster than the present commission. Nor to maintain that others might not prosecute the work in the future more cheaply and with greater expedition and satisfaction.

The foregoing remarks in response to the resolution of your honorable body and their protracted character illustrates the defects of hasty composition, are submitted to explain the statement that what the revisers have already done is, proportionally to the whole work, perhaps one-fourth, by estimate; less rather than more; and the answer which they are compelled to submit to the third question, that they are unable, utterly unable to predict, with any sort of probability, how many days or weeks, even, will be required to complete the work.

It is expected that no serious interruption arising from the engagements of the undersigned, will disturb the progress of the work before April, and it is hoped May next. That it may then shortly be resumed and prosecuted during the summer, with perhaps some interferences which the nature of the of the hundredth year will beget. It is hoped that by mid-summer or autumn the arrangement and distribution into chapters and sections, on which they are now engaged, may be completed. It cannot be candidly promised, that the whole work can be ready for submission to the next legislature, if it shall go on according to the plan proposed, although perhaps not absolutely impossible. It can be promised with safety, at most, that if it should be desired, the first and possibly the second parts covering in a general way the subjects embraced in the first volume and part of the second, of Taylor's Statutes, may be prepared and reported at the next session. The present law would not authorize that course.

It may be added that those revisions which have elsewhere obtained the approbation of the public have not, so far as we are advised, been more speedily accomplished.

The revision of the statutes of New York, known as the revision of 1830, which has maintained high celebrity in the profession, was begun in 1825. The revision now in progress in the same State, was begun in 1870, and has as yet progressed so far only as the complete preparation of the third part, and partial preparation of the others corresponding, generally, though with necessarily many more provisions, touching the numerous courts of that State, to the third part of our revised statutes. Yet the revisers say they have almost surrendered practice in order to give it unintermitted devotion. The revision of the statutes of the United States was begun and partly finished under the act of 1866, and revived and completed under the act of 1870, so as to be enacted in 1874.

It is understood that above three full years have been employed in Illinois upon the revision. The justices of the Supreme Court fixed the compensation of the revisers at fifteen dollars per day for each day actually employed. It was difficult to apply any other than a per diem compensation. It results, however, that much labor is really bestowed for which no time is charged. The undersigned have each charged only for the days spent in their joint labors with others of the commission.

David Taylor drew from the State Treasury for 67 days in 1875 $1,005, and labored nine days more, not yet paid for. His actual expenses of attendance have been $215. William F. Vilas drew for 44 days in 1875, $660 in full for that year. Jedd. P. C. Cottrill has as yet drawn no money from the treasury. He has attended the joint action of the revisers at Madison 39 days, and his actual expenses of attendance have been $129.60. In addition to the foregoing, the revisers have been engaged since the beginning of the past week. The days stated above include only the actual attendance at Madison, during which the revisers, or a majority of them, have been employed there. In addition, the revisers, during many of the days since their appointment, have worked separately and at home upon the subject committed to their charge. Among their first acts was the issue of a circular letter to all the judges, and to the entire bar of the State, inviting their attention to the subject of the revision, and asking for such suggestions in that behalf as occurred to them. They have received many letters and personal suggestions relative to the matters involved, and to all thus far received, have given careful attention, so that they may fairly say that the matter of the revision has been constantly before them, and has been constantly pressed upon their attention.

The justices fixed the compensation of a clerk for the revisers at $150 per month. Mr. Spencer was paid at this rate from the 21st day of April to the end of October. At that time his functions were suspended on account of the engagements of the revisers before spoken of.

Respectfully submitted,

DAVID TAYLOR,
WM. F. VILAS,
J. P. C. COTTRILL.

By Senator Rounds:

Res. No. 26, S.,

Relating to pay of clerks.

Resolved, That the clerks of the several committees shall be entitled to draw pay from the commencement of the present session.

The resolution was adopted.

By Senator Downs:

Jt. Res. No. 11, S.,

Proposing an amendment to the constitution of the State of Wisconsin.

To Committee on Legislative Expenditures.

By Senator Hiner:

Res. No. 25, S.,

Relating to an increase of tax levied on suits.

WHEREAS, Section 18, of article 7, of the constitution imposes a duty upon the legislature in the following language, to-wit:

"The legislature shall impose a tax on civil suits commenced or prosecuted in the municipal, inferior, or civil courts, which shall constitute a fund to be applied toward the payment of the salary of judges."

In conformity thereto, section 84, of chapter 133, of the revised statutes provides that a tax of one dollar be paid on all suits commenced in the circuit courts.

We are informed by the report of the State Treasurer, on page 15, that the gross receipts for the year ending 1st October, 1875, arising from this source, was $3,532.97, and on page 19 of the same report, that the disbursements on account of salaries for the supreme and circuit judges, for the year aforesaid, amounted to the sum of $50,174 08, which facts clearly show, that the purposes of the provisions of the constitution aforesaid are practically defeated, therefore

Resolved, by the Senate, That the Committee on Finance be instructed to inquire into the propriety of increasing the tax on suits, so that suitors shall, in some reasonable degree, contribute to the maintenance of the courts as contemplated by the constitution; and report to the Senate at an early day, by bill or otherwise.

The resolution was referred to the Committee on Finance.

MESSAGE FROM THE ASSEMBLY.

By R. M. STRONG, Chief Clerk thereof:

MR. PRESIDENT:—I am directed to inform you that the Assembly has passed, and asks the concurrence of the Senate in,

No. 61, A.,

A bill for division of the counties of Clark and Marathon, and the erection of the county of Langlade.

M. C. No. 2, A.,

Memorial to Congress for an extension of mail route and increase of service thereon, in Green county, Wisconsin, from New Glarus via Dayton to Brooklyn Station.

And has adopted, and asks the concurrence of the Senate in,

Jt. Res. No. 6, A.,

Tendering thanks to the President of the United States, and other officers.

Jt. Res. No. 10, A.,

Relating to Centennial appropriation.

ASSEMBLY MESSAGES CONSIDERED.

No. 61, A.,

Was referred to the Committee on Town and County Organization.

M. C. No. 2, A.,

Was referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

Jt. Res. No. 10, A.,

Was concurred in.

Jt. Res. No. 6, A.,

Tendering thanks to the President of the United States, and other officers.

The question being on concurring in its passage,

Senator Hudd offered the following substitute :

That the thanks of the people of Wisconsin are tendered to Secretary Bristow and subordinates, especially to J. C. McKenney, Esq., the able and efficient assistant district attorney, and to Hon. Luther S. Dixon, his associate, for the vigorous prosecution of the violators of the revenue laws of the United States.

Resolved, further, That while heartily approving of the words said to be used by President Grant, viz: "Let no guilty man escape," we are anxious that a full and fair trial be given to the President's secretary, General Babcock, charged with complicity in the revenue frauds, to the end that, if found guilty, he may be dismissed the civil and military service, positions that he now holds with the approval of President Grant.

Resolved, further, That his excellency, the Governor, is requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to the President of the United States, Secretary Bristow, at Washington, D. C., and to J. C. McKenney, and Hon. Luther S. Dixon, of Milwaukee.

On motion of Senator Barron,

The resolution and accompanying substitute was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

THE SPECIAL ORDER.

M. C. No. 3, S.,

Requesting an investigation to be made into the right of Geo. W. Cate to occupy a seat as member of Congress for the 8th district of Wisconsin, and the pending amendment offered by Senator Silverthorn, on the 27th ult., being the special order for this hour; and

The question being on the adoption of said amendment,

Senator Barron asked for a division of the question on striking out and inserting, as proposed by said amendment.

The question being divided, the Senate refused to strike out as proposed by said amendment.

The question then being on adopting said amendment, to be inserted before the last paragraph, commencing on page four of the printed memorial,

Senator Flint offered the following amendment to the amendment:

Amend the amendment offered by Senator Silverthorn, by striking out the last paragraph thereof, and insert in lieu thereof the following:

"And your memorialists further represent upon information, that in the town of Eagle Point, in the county of Chippewa, 95 votes were cast for A. S. McDill, and 263 votes for George W. Cate, and in the town of Bloomer, in said county, 88 votes were cast for A. S. McDill, and 121 for George W. Cate, and in neither of said towns, as we are informed, was there any registry of electors whatever, but the votes cast were returned and canvassed for the persons receiving them."

And your memorialists further represent that the votes so cast as aforesaid in the town of Superior, in the county of Douglas, and the towns of Eagle Point and Bloomer, in the county of Chippewa, were properly counted for the respective persons receiving them, for we should deem it an act of gross injustice and against all precedent, to reject the votes of persons legally entitled to vote, for no better reason than that officers charged with conducting elections neglected some of their minor ministerial duties, when no actual fraud on the part of such officer or the persons voting is alleged. But, if the failure of the boards of registry in the town of Superior, Douglas county, and in the towns of Eagle Point and Bloomer, in Chippewa county, rendered the votes cast in those towns illegal, then 292 votes cast for Mr. McDill and 424 votes cast for Mr. Cate must be subtracted, leaving the vote to stand as follows:

A. S. McDill received, 9,248 votes.

George W. Cate received, 9,078 votes.

—a majority of 170 for A. S. McDill.

The question being on the adoption of the amendment to the amendment, it prevailed,

And said amendment, as thus amended, was then adopted.

Senator Hudd offered the following amendment:

And it is also understood and charged that said A. S. McDill did agree, by himself and his political friends that, in consideration of receiving the appointment of superintendent of the State Insane Asylum at Madison, Wisconsin, (which appointment said McDill did receive, and enter upon the discharge of the duties of such superintendent,) he, said McDill, would abandon all claim to a seat in the House of Representatives by virtue of the said claim of election under the vote so cast on the 3rd day of November, 1874, and, accordingly, did so stipulate and agree to waive all claim or right to a seat in the House of Representatives.

The question being on adopting the amendment,

The ayes and nays were called for,

Ayes—Senators Barney, Cavanagh, Eastman, Hudd, McFarland, Mitchell, and Silverthorn—7.

Nays—Senators Baker, Barden, Barron, Blair, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Farr, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Nevins, Rounds, Scott, Tate, Treat, and Welch—19.

The Lieutenant-Governor presiding.

Prayer by the Rev. E. D. Huntley.

The roll was called, and the following Senators answered to their names:

Senators Baker, Barden, Barney, Barron, Blair, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, R. E. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Eastman, Farr, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Hudd, Jacobs, McFarland, Mitchell, Nevins, Potter, Reed, Rounds, Ryan, Schuette, Scott, Silverthorn, Tate, Welch, and Wilmot.

On motion of Senator Barron,

The report of the revisers received on yesterday, was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To the Legislature of the State of Wisconsin:

I would respectfully report to your honorable bodies that the amount of logs scaled, and timber and sawed lumber measured in Lumber District No. 10, of the State of Wisconsin, for the year ending December 31, 1875, to be as follows:

	Feet.
Logs scaled.....	1,251,844
Sawed lumber measured.....	49,394
Total	1,301,238

I would respectfully report further to your honorable bodies that the foregoing figures do not approximate to a representation of the annual product of logs and lumber in this district, for the reason that the inspector of the district, as the law now stands, is not called upon by loggers and lumbermen to perform any official duties, except now and then upon small outside lots. Therefore, for the purpose of showing as nearly as possible the amount of logs cut and lumber manufactured in this district, for the year ending December 31, 1875, I have carefully made the following estimates, viz.:

AMOUNT OF LOGS CUT.

	Feet.
Wisconsin River.....	22,700,000

RECAPITULATION.

Total amount of logs cut.....	87,100,000
Total amount of lumber manufactured.....	53,500,000

I would respectfully suggest to your honorable bodies, that the law be so amend as to provide as follows:

1. All persons who shall hereafter cut and manufacture logs and lumber in the several lumber districts of this State, shall, within thirty days thereafter, file an accurate description of their several marks upon said logs and lumber, in the office of the lumber inspector of their district; and it is hereby made the duty of the lumber inspectors to record said marks, the description of which shall be filed in their office as aforesaid, for which they shall be entitled to receive as fees, the sum now provided by statute therefor.

2. Any person who shall hereafter cut and manufacture logs and lumber in the several lumber districts of this State, and shall neglect or refuse to comply with the requirements of this act in relation to the filing of the descriptions of said marks, as set forth in the preceding section, is hereby declared to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than one hundred dollars, of which offense justices of the peace shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court.

3. The lumber inspectors of the several districts of this State, shall annually, on the first day of May, report to the several assessors of the cities, villages, or towns in this State, in which the parties reside (if their residence is known to him,) who have cut or own logs, or who own or have had lumber manufactured within their district, the amount in feet, of logs so cut or owned, or of lumber manufactured or owned during the past year.

4. It is hereby made the duty of the lumber inspectors of the several districts of this State, to enter upon and scale all logs cut and lumber manufactured within their districts, and when the said logs, lumber, and marks shall have been so surveyed, the owner or owners of the same shall pay, upon demand therefor, as the fees of said lumber inspector, the sum now provided by statute therefor.

Respectfully submitted,

H. L. WHEELER,
Lumber Inspector, 10th District.

R. H. BAKER,
Acting Chairman.

The Joint Committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions ask leave to submit the following report:

Mem. Nos. 15 and 16, S.,

Asking that the law authorizing the payment of five dollars per month to soldiers' orphans until they arrive at the age of 14 years, be so amended as to entitle said orphans to the same monthly payment until they are 16 years of age.

Have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report them back with the following statement: Your committee find that a little over seven hundred, out of more than five thousand soldiers' orphans in this State, availed themselves of the advantages of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home. For these orphans the State has expended to the present time a little over three hundred thousand dollars for their education and support. There has been left to them by generous friends nearly thirty thousand dollars to be divided among them as they shall severally become of age. And in addition to this, nearly every one of these orphans are drawing pensions of two dollars per month from the United States.

It will be seen that the State has pursued a generous policy towards these public wards, and your committee do not deem it wise, viewed as a question of public policy, and the unfavorable effect it will be likely to have upon the orphans themselves in preventing that self-reliance which they should begin to exercise at the age of 14 years, to recommend the continuance of this allowance beyond the time now fixed by law. We therefore recommend that no amendments be made to the present law for this purpose.

H. N. DAVIS,
Chairman.

The Committee on Agriculture, to whom was referred bill
No. 95, S.,

A bill relating to county agricultural societies, and to appropriate a sum of money therein named.

Respectfully report that they have had the same under consideration, and report the same back to the Senate with the recommendation that it do pass.

L. W. BARDEN,
Chairman.

The Joint Committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions, to whom was referred,

No. 103, S.,

And

Mem. Nos. 30 and 46, S.,

Have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report the same back, and recommend the passage of the bill.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,

MADISON, February 4, 1876.

To the honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

The undersigned, Railroad Commissioners, have the honor to transmit herewith a copy of a communication this day received from Albert Keep, Esq., president of the Chicago & Northwestern tern Railway Company, in response to requests from this office of the dates January 30 and January 31, made in pursuance of resolutions No. 19 and 20, S., and resolution No. 24, A.

Respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOS. H. OSBORN,
GEO. H. PAUL,
Commissioners.

[Copy of letter from Mr. Albert Keep, President Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company.]

CHICAGO & NORTHWESTERN RAILWAY CO.,
OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT,
CHICAGO, February 3, 1876.

DEAR SIR:—I am in receipt of your favor of the 29th of January, and herewith send you a copy of the circular issued by our treasurer, in New York, bearing date July 21, 1875, as requested.

I also wish to acknowledge the receipt of your other letter of same date, asking for an estimate of the average number of miles which each car load of lumber used in the State is hauled by the railroads in this State, and so forth. I am not able to give an intelligent answer to this question, at the present time, but have handed the letter to our general freight agent, with a request that he should immediately investigate the subject, and report at the earliest practicable moment.

As soon as I am able to obtain the information, so as to make any statement in which I have confidence, I will send it forward.

I also acknowledge receipt of your letter of January 31, making inquiries in regard to wheat shipment, and will take similar action in regard to it.

Yours truly,

ALBERT KEEP,
President.

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOS. H. OSBORN,
Railroad Commissioners, Madison, Wis.

[Copy of financial circular of July 21, 1875, called for by Res. No. 20, S.]

General consolidated gold loan bonds of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company :

Nominal issue	$48,000,000
Reserved for substitution.....	35,349,000
Residue as authorized.....	12,651,000

These bonds bear date of November 30, 1872; are in denominations of $500 and $1,000, in coupon form; and of $1,000, $5,000, and $10,000, in registered form, the coupon bonds being convertible at the will of the holder into registered bonds, and the latter transferable as often as described on the books of the company; all bear 7 per cent. gold interest, payable June 1 and December 1; principal payable in gold, in A. D. 1902, at the office of the company in the city of New York. The Union Trust Company, of New York, trustee.

The mortgage provides for a total issue of $48,000,000, reserving therefrom $35,349,000, which can be issued at the option of the company, but only in substitution of other prior bonds which are recited in the mortgage, and were outstanding at the date thereof, as follows:

Chicago and Northwestern currency bonds of various issues.....	$8,812,500
Chicago and Northwestern gold bonds of Madison and Menominee extensions	5,850,000
Peninsula Railroad Company bonds	695,000
Galena and Chicago Union currency bonds	3,068,000
Beloit and Madison currency bonds.....	324,000
Total.....	18,749,500

The same being the bonds of the consolidated Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company, and covering 1,058 miles of railway, at an average rate of $17,700 per mile.

Reservation is also made for the following bonds, payment of which is assumed by the company's guarantee, or by ownership of the lines, viz.:

Chicago and Milwaukee currency bonds.....	$1,724,500
Iowa Midland currency bonds.....	1,350,000
La Crosse, Trempealeau and Prescott currency bonds.....	1,000,000
Winona and St. Peter Railroad.....	4,400,000
Winona and St. Peter Railroad gold bonds	4,625,000
Northwestern Union Railway gold bonds.....	3,500,000
Total reservation.....	35,349,000

These latter bonds cannot be substituted except upon consolidation of their respective roads, whereby the lien of the mortgage is extended over the same.

This mortgage was created in 1872, to provide means for the completion of the extensions and new lines then under construction, but since finished; for new equipment; new machinery and carshops; for extra cost of steel rails over iron, in reconstructing the track with steel; for extra cost of iron bridges in renewals, and for other works of permanent improvement, which greatly add to the value of the company's property, and is secured by mortgage liens on all the franchises, income, and property of the company, consisting of *1,058 miles of railway, as follows, viz:

The old Chicago and Northwestern Railway, from Chicago to

* Exclusive of 85 miles of Chicago and Milwaukee Railway, and 356.6 miles of Iowa roads under perpetual lease.

Green Bay, via Janesville, and the new Menomonee and Madison extensions.

The old Galena and Chicago Union Railroad and property.

Beloit and Madison Railroad and property.

Kenosha and Rockford.

Peninsula Railroad and property.

With all the equipment, depot grounds, shops, and machinery, leaseholds, and proceeds of land-grant lands, subject only to the liens of prior bonds, amounting to $18,749,500, or to $17,700 per mile, as before described.

The increase of bonded debt consequent upon the issue and sale of the entire residue of the gold bonds will be $12,651,000, which is equal to $12,000 per mile for the 1,058 miles constituting the consolidated Chicago & Northwestern Railway covered by the mortgage. The total of bonded debt will then be $31,400,500 for the 1,058 miles, which is equivalent to $29,700 per mile of road, the actual cost of which is upwards of $59,000 per mile. Up to the 1st of June last, $9,758,000 of the gold bonds had been sold.

The net earnings of said company, exclusive of the proprietary roads, after payment of operating expenses, rent of leased roads, interest on bonds, including the interest on gold loan bonds, were $1,366,167.54 for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1875.

The bonds of the proprietary roads, for which reservation is made in the mortgage, amounting to $16,599,500 as herein described, are secured by mortgage liens upon their respective lines of road, and for the most part by guarantee and indorsement of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company; but they are not secured by mortgage lien upon any of the franchises, earnings or property of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company.

The entire property and revenue of said company are held under and by virtue of the mortgage to protect and satisfy the principal and interest of the gold loan bonds, as against any and all obligations and indorsements on any of the bonds of the proprietary roads.

M. L. SYKES, JR.,

Treasurer.

Double 1st class.....	20.60 cents.

In reply to the request of the Senate, that the commissioners should make an estimate of the "average number of miles which each ton of merchandise purchased in Milwaukee and consumed in Wisconsin, is hauled by the railways," the commissioners would state that they have no data in their possession which would enable them to make the estimate desired, but should they be able to procure it, will forward the same at the earliest practicable moment.

The commissioners also append herewith, a statement of the West Wisconsin Company, in regard to the through rates in force upon their road, January 3, 1873, and which rates would yield per ton per mile as follows to-wit:

FROM MILWAUKEE TO BLACK RIVER FALLS.

First class.....	8.87 cents.
Second class.....	7.87 cents.
Third class.....	6.10 cents.
Fourth class.....	5.10 cents.

FROM MILWAUKEE TO EAU CLAIRE.

First class.....	9.00 cents.
Second class.....	8.00 cents.
Third class.....	6.40 cents.
Fourth class.....	3.91 cents.

Respectfully,

J. W. HOYT
J. H. OSBORN,
GEO. H. PAUL,
Commissioners.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 9, 1876.

GENTLEMEN:—The first through rates made between Milwaukee and Black River Falls, or Eau Claire, went into effect January 3, 1873, and were as follows:

TO BLACK RIVER FALLS.

By Senator Potter:

Res. No. 37, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish certain information:

WHEREAS, It has been asserted in the newspapers that under the Minnesota railroad law, enacted in 1874, the rates fixed by the commissioners of that State was higher than those fixed in the "Potter-law" in Wisconsin; therefore,

Resolved, That the Railroad Commissioners of Wisconsin are requested to report to the Senate the rate per car load on wheat fixed under the Minnesota law of 1874, by the Minnesota Commissioners, from St. Paul to Duluth, from New Ulm to Winona, and from Mankato to Winona; and the Railroad Commissioners are requested to report the rate allowed by the law of Wisconsin respectively on car loads of wheat for the same distances; and they are also requested to report the difference in elevator charges permitted to the railroads in Minnesota, and the rates charged by the railroad elevators in the city of Milwaukee.

The resolution lies over.

By Senator Potter:

Res. No. 38, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish certain information.

Resolved, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to inform the Senate of the advance in price, between January 1, 1874, and February 8, 1876, of the common stock of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, and of the common stock of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway; and also the advance in price during the same period of the preferred stock of each of said railroad companies.

By Senator Welch:

Res. No. 39, S.,

Relating to printing.

Resolved, That the Committee on Printing be and they are hereby requested to consider the propriety of amending the law relating to public printing, requiring all local laws, to be published in local papers only, and that expense of such publication to be charged to the city, town or incorporation which it may effect, and report by bill or otherwise.

The resolution lies over.

By Senator Barron:

Res. No. 40, S.,

In relation to expenses and allowances for legal services for the State.

WHEREAS, the records of the executive office, of the Secretary of State, and the State Treasurer's office, show that the amount paid during the past two years by the State for legal services, exceeds the sum of forty-two thousand dollars, and it is believed that all claims for legal services within said time are not yet audited and paid,

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee are instructed to take the subject of such expenditures into consideration, and report a bill making it the duty of the Attorney-General and his regularly-appointed assistant, to conduct and do the legal business of the State, prohibiting the employment of additional counsel except in extraordinary cases, in which the judges of the Supreme Court, or the Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer shall certify it to be necessary, and providing, further, sufficient salary for said Attorney-General and an Assistant Attorney-General, if it deems the present compensation insufficient, the same to include all matters where the State is directly interested, or where the interests of any trusts or funds which it holds or has in its keeping are involved.

The resolution lies over.

Jt. Res. No. 18, S.,

Requesting the establishment of a signal-station at Madison, Wisconsin.

WHEREAS, The signal service of the War Department of the United States army has become of incalculable importance to the interests of commerce and agriculture; and

WHEREAS, It is desirable that the service may be afforded more complete data for its weather predictions by increasing its facilities for observation; therefore be it

Resolved, by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That Brigadier-General Albert J. Meyer, chief signal officer of the United States Army, be and is hereby earnestly and respectfully requested, to establish, at the earliest period practicable, a signal-station at the University of Wisconsin, located at the city of Madison, where now are being erected ample buildings for strictly scientific purposes.

Resolved further, That the State Board of University Regents be requested, in the name of the State of Wisconsin, to tender to the chief signal officer aforesaid the free use of rooms for such officer in the building herein referred to, and to forward to him a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolution.

The rules were suspended, and the resolution was adopted.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, Feb. 11, 1876.

Hon. C. D. PARKER,

Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate:

SIR:—I herewith transmit, for the use of the Senate, portions of the information called for by Resolution No. 20, S., requesting the Railroad Commissioners to furnish information relative to railroad revenues; also, communications from officers of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, touching the information requested by Resolution No. 19, S., and by Resolutions 24 and 27, A.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS.

MADISON, February 10, 1876.

To the Honorable, Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

We have the honor herewith to transmit, for the use of your honorable body, the inclosed copy of a communication from this office, made on the 29th ult., to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, in pursuance of Res. 19, and 21, S., and of Res. 24, and 27, A., together with the reply of S. S. Merrill, Esq., General Manager, and an inclosure therewith from the auditor of said company.

We also have the honor to communicate the fact, that, although every effort has been made to procure and furnish the information requested by Res. No. 20, S., relating to the average receipts per ton per mile, of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company, from freights carried from Prairie du Chien and La Crosse, respectively, to Milwaukee during the five years last reported, we have at length found it impracticable to do so, without considerable delay; the reasons for which will appear from the accompanying letter of John C. Gault, Esq., Assistant General Manager.

In view of the facts stated in said letter to this board, we deem it proper to inquire whether it is desired by your honorable body that the Commissioners shall insist that the information in question be furnished.

"The average rates per ton per mile, on car-load lots of grain and flour, carried from the non-competing stations of Boscobel and West Salem to Milwaukee," are as follows:

Average rate from Boscobel to Milwaukee, 2 40-100 cents per ton per mile.

Average rate from West Salem to Milwaukee, 2 35-100 cents per ton per mile.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOSEPH. H. OSBORN,
Railroad Commissioners.

Communication from the Railway Commissioners to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,

MADISON, January 29, 1876.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul R'y Co., Milwaukee:

GENTLEMEN:—By resolutions of the legislature we are requested to furnish to that body, as early as practicable, information as follows:

1. The "average gross revenue per ton per mile in each year for the last five annual reports of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company on all classes and kinds of cheap and dear freights carried from Prairie du Chien to Milwaukee, and also from La Crosse to Milwaukee."

2. The "average distance of wheat-center from the city of Milwaukee."

3. "Whether such wheat is (universally) loaded and unloaded at the cost of the owner."

4. The "average revenue per ton per mile on all classes of freight carried by said road from Minneapolis or from St. Paul, and destined for either Chicago or Milwaukee, or points beyond" * * * by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

5. "The average distance (of lumber haul) or center of lumber consumption in the State of Wisconsin, from mills situated on railroads within this State, or from railway shipping ports on Lake Michigan; or in other words, to furnish * * * an estimate of the average number of miles which each car-load of lumber used in this State is hauled by the railroads within the State."

It will be manifest that the greater part of the information demanded can only be furnished by your company. You are therefore respectfully requested to forward to the commissioners, as early as practicable, the fullest and most accurate information on the several points above mentioned, and, also, to give, in connection therewith, the particular facts, with their sources, on which your answer is based.

So far as the average haul of wheat and lumber are concerned, we only expect, of course, that you will give the earnings for your own line.

We further request that you will have the kindness to forward, per express, copies of your annual reports for the years 1869, 1871, and 1873.

On behalf of the board.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner.

Reply of S. S. Merrill, General Manager C. M. & St. Paul Railway.

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE, & ST. PAUL RAILWAY,

GENERAL MANAGER'S OFFICE,

MILWAUKEE, February 9, 1876.

Hon. John W. Hoyt, Railroad Commissioner:

DEAR SIR:—I send you herewith letter of our auditor, Mr. Whaling, who has charge of the statistics of this road, relative to the information requested in yours of the 29th ult.

To arrive at accurate answers to the questions, except No. 3, would require an immense amount of labor and considerable expense, but we will undertake it, if required. It would, however, be utterly impossible to furnish the information during the session of the present legislature, unless they continue in session much longer than usual.

In reference to question No. 3, we would say that wheat is not universally loaded and unloaded at the cost of the owner.

As previously advised, we sent you on the 31st ult., copies of our annual reports for 1869, 1871, and 1873.

Respectfully yours,

S. S. MERRILL,
General Manager.

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY,
AUDITING DEPARTMENT,
MILWAUKEE, February 2, 1876.

S. S. Merrill, Esq., General Manager.

DEAR SIR:—I have read the communication from the Railroad Commissioners, asking for statistics. I am sorry to be obliged to say, that it would be almost impossible to give the information asked for.

In order to so, I should have to refer to every way-bill that has been made for the last five years. After careful investigation as to the detail of the work required to answer the questions asked, I think it would be very tedious and very expensive, and that it would take ten good men three months to accomplish it.

Yours, very respectfully,

JAMES P. WHALING.

Letter of Mr. Jno. C. Gault, Ass't General Manager C., M. & St. Paul Railway.

FEBRUARY 8, 1876.

To the Board of Railroad Commissioners:

GENTLEMEN:—In regard to the information desired by Resolution No. 20, S., I would say that we would be very glad to furnish the average rate per ton per mile which we have received for the past five years from the two competing points, La Crosse and Prairie du Chien, on all kinds of freight destined to Milwaukee.

Unfortunately, our annual reports are not so made that the information can be derived from them.

The freight which we received from the public at both of these places is included in the tables of "through tonnage," and is mixed in with the tonnage coming from all points in Minnesota and Iowa, and passing through this State to Milwaukee and Chicago, and upon which no legal rates are established.

The through tonnage for the years 1870, 1871, and 1872, as shown in the reports, includes all tonnage destined both to Chicago and Milwaukee markets.

The Chicago freight from La Crosse and points beyond destined for Chicago, for these years, was sent via Watertown and the Chicago & Northwestern Railway, and the earnings on it cover only one haul from La Crosse to Watertown. All Chicago freight for these years from Prairie du Chien and points beyond, was sent via Janesville.

The amount of freight sent to Chicago cannot be determined from the reports.

I presume it was not the intention of the resolution to make the rates on inter-State traffic a subject of inquiry.

We are very willing to furnish you the actual rate per ton per mile received by us on freight earnings from Prairie du Chien and La Crosse, proper, for the first year named. But to do so it will be necessary to send men to those stations, and take off the business from the station books.

This could be done, I have no doubt, within twenty days, and will be so done if you desire.

Yours respectfully,

JOHN C. GAULT,
Assistant General Manager C., M. & St. P. R'y.

SENATE RESOLUTIONS CONSIDERED.

Res. No. 37, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish certain information,

Introduced on Thursday by Senator Potter.

Senator Flint was called to the chair.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution, Senator Baker offered the following amendment:

Amend by adding the following:

Resolved, That the Railway Commissioners furnish the Senate with the local tariffs of the several railroads in the State of Minnesota.

Senator Barron offered the following amendment to the amendment submitted by Senator Baker:

Amend the amendment by adding thereto the following:

"And that said commissioners ascertain whether said Minnesota rates have been modified or changed by the legislature, and if so to what extent, whether the people on the line of any railroads in said State of Minnesota have by public meetings generally and largely attended, asked any such railroad company to abandon the rates of 1874, and return to the rates established previous to 1874, and whether any railroad company or companies in the said State of Minnesota, did abandon said legal rates of 1874, at such public request and continue so to do without complaint or molestation from any one residing on the line of or doing business with any such road or roads, and whether any other railroad, especially the Winona and St. Peter Railroad ever complied with the rates fixed by the act of 1874, and whether any complaint was ever made to the courts against said company, because of such failure."

The amendment to the amendment was adopted, and said amendment as thus amended was agreed to, and the resolution as thus amended, was then adopted.

Res. No. 38, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish certain information.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the secretary of the State Agricultural Convention:

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY,
MADISON, February 14, 1876.

HON. CHARLES D. PARKER,

Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate:

MY DEAR SIR:—By request of the State Agricultural Convention, held in the rooms of the State Agricultural Society, February 8 to 11, 1876, I herewith present you a copy of resolutions adopted and ask that they be spread upon the journal of the Senate.

Very respectfully,

W. W. FIELD,
Secretary.

WHEREAS, In the administration of government there should be a settled and permanent policy as to all great measures, and they should be wisely maintained and firmly enforced for periods sufficiently long to fully test their efficacy and bearing upon human society, unchanged by either caprice, folly, or as a temporary expedient of the hour; and,

WHEREAS, There is greater danger and loss to communities from weakness and vacillation in public measures than would probably arise from their rigid enforcement, even in cases where defects are palpable; and,

WHEREAS, After two years of expensive litigation in the highest courts of the country, to vindicate the constitutional rights of the State to control its incorporated companies, it is unwise and wrong, in the moment of victory, to abandon the ground thus gained; to surrender the fruits of the struggle, and return to the same condition of indifference to extortion and abuse as at the outset, and that no cause or emergency has arisen to warrant any such betrayal of the rights and interests of the industrial and labor classes of the State; therefore,

Resolved, That we as agriculturists do hereby protest against the repeal of the law known as the "Potter-law," but would recommend a modification of its provisions, if deemed unjust and oppressive to the railroads of the State.

Resolved, That we recommend the continuance of a railroad commission, with full powers to ascertain the real investments of capital in the several roads; their expenses and earnings, that the legislature may know what constitute "fair and reasonable rates." And we believe it to be the duty of the Attorney-General, to defend any complaint at the expense of the State, in any action brought by any citizen of the State for any violation of the provisions of said "Potter-law," and that the cost thereof be paid from the public treasury.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing preamble and resolutions, be forwarded by the secretary of this convention to the presiding officer of the Senate and Assembly, with a request that it be spread upon the journal of each house.

Ordered spread upon the journal.

By Senator Douglas:

Res. No. 42, S.,

Requesting Secretary of State to furnish information relating to West Wisconsin Railway Company.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is requested to furnish the Senate with a certified copy of so much of the affidavit made September 26, 1873, which is printed on page 112, of the report of Secretary of State for 1873, as relates to a detailed statement of the cost of right-of-way, buildings, bridges, grading, iron, engines, and cars, and other items, and the total cost of the property of the West Wisconsin Railway, from Elroy to Hudson, Wisconsin.

The resolution lies over.

By Senator Welch:

Res. No. 43, S.,

Requesting the Railroad Committee to report whether in their judgment the "Potter-law" rates are liberal and remunerative, or otherwise, and also directing Railroad Commissioners to report to the next legislature whether the State has been deprived of any of its lawful tax, and upon other matters.

WHEREAS, It appears from the ninth annual report of the Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway, that there was forwarded during that year from Prairie du Chien, from La Crosse, and from Winona Junction, to or through the city of Milwaukee the following commodities, to wit:

Four million and ninety-eight thousand, eight hundred and twenty-nine bushels of wheat; 3,120 bushels of rye; 190,731 bushels of barley; 50,539 bushels of oats; 4,995 bushels of corn, 78,080 bushels of potatoes; 966 bushels of beans; 6,141 bushels of grass-seed; 385,977 barrels of flour; 226 barrels of pork and beef; 6,791,290 pounds of dressed hogs; 2,788,140 pounds of hides; 280,820 pounds of eggs; 735,580 pounds of butter; 119,480 pounds of lard; 147,220 pounds of wool; 142,470 pounds of tallow; 6,344,943 pounds of merchandise; 24,320 pounds of hops; 6,692 horned cattle; 13,162 live hogs; 6,732,700 pounds of mill-feed; 9,485,350 pounds of miscellaneous: making the total tonnage so as aforesaid forwarded, according to said report, of through eastward bound freight, to equal 372,612 tons; and the gross revenue earned for such forwarding was $929,652.90, being less than an average of $2.50 per ton, or a fraction less than 7½ cents for each 60 pounds of all kinds of freight; and being about 13 mills per ton per mile; in which sum as aforesaid was included the expense of terminal charges at Milwaukee, on all of said freights except grain, which grain was compelled to pay elevator charges; and,

WHEREAS, By the printed reports issued to the stockholders and directors of said company, which were from time to time deposited with the Secretary of State, a similar state of facts is shown to have existed for the said business of the said railway company for the preceding year, and for each subsequent year, and it appears by the said ninth annual report that out of the earnings of the company for that year, two dividends were paid on preferred stock in money; and,

WHEREAS, It is a matter of public notoriety that the West Wisconsin Railway, and the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, under contracts with fast freight lines and otherwise have forwarded flour and other products from Minneapolis and St. Paul to Chicago, at rates yielding from 7 4-10 mills to 10 mills per ton per mile, including, except upon bulk grain, terminal charges and expenses; and,

WHEREAS, It is estimated, upon the basis of an average distance of 100 miles, that the grain of Wisconsin which is marketed in the city of Milwaukee, now pays under the Potter-law for forwarding by rail to that city an average of 30 mills per ton per mile, besides liberal tolls for terminal charges at the railroad company's elevators in Milwaukee; therefore,

Resolved, That the Railroad Committee of the Senate, to whom was referred that portion of the message of his excellency, the Governor, in regard to repealing the Potter-law, be requested to report specifically whether, in their judgment, the Potter-law rate on grain is liberal and remunerative to the railways, or otherwise.

Resolved, further, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to furnish the Senate with an abstract of the commodities forwarded to or through Milwaukee, from Prairie du Chien, from La Crosse, and from Winona Junction for each of the years 1872, 1873, and 1874, together with the average gross revenue each year per ton; and also the number of mills per ton, per mile in each year.

Resolved, further, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to prepare for the next legislature, from the aforesaid abstract of commodities, and from the books of the railway company, a statement showing the average rate received per ton from Prairie du Chien, from La Crosse, from Winona Junction, and all other competing points, to Milwaukee, on each commodity named in said abstract for the business of each of the years from 1871 to 1875, inclusive.

And the Railroad Commissioners are also requested to report to the next legislature, whether, in their opinion, there exists probable ground for a belief that there has been an erroneous presentation and adjustment of the account of said gross earnings on freight so as aforesaid forwarded, whereby the State of Wisconsin has been deprived, in any of the aforesaid years, of any part of its lawful tax on the same.

The resolution lies over.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Joint Committee on Claims, to which was referred,

Mem. No. 26, S.,

Memorial of Rosella M. Bowman,

Beg leave to report:

Your committee find that the memorialist, Rosella M. Bowman, in the year 1861, was the widow of Samuel H. Donnell, deceased; and at that date the said Mr. Donnell held a claim for services as architect against the State of Wisconsin amounting to $3,900, which amount did not become due until the completion of the State Capitol.

The State officers offered to pay the said Rosella M. Donnell, the widow of the said Mr. Donnell, the sum of $2,500 in full payment for the $3,900, which would have become due on the completion of the State Capitol, which sum of $2,500 was accepted in full payment for said claim, as the time of its completion was then very uncertain.

Your committee being of the opinion that the claim was paid to the satisfaction of the claimant in the year 1861, see no reason why this subject should now be re-opened, and believe that the said Rosella M. Bowman has no just or equitable claim against the State,

And have instructed me to report the same back to the Senate, with the recommendation that the further consideration of the memorial be indefinitely postponed.

FRANCIS CAMPBELL,
Chairman.

The recommendation of the committee was adopted.

Has had the same under consideration and instructed me to report it back with the recommendation that it be committed to the Committee on Incorporations.

H. D. BARRON,
Chairman.

So ordered.

The Committee on the Judiciary, to which was referred,
No. 263, S.,

A bill to regulate the times of holding the circuit court in Dane county.

Has had the same under consideration, and instructed me to report it back with the recommendation that it pass.

H. D. BARRON,
Chairman.

On motion of Senator R. E. Davis,
The rules were suspended, and the bill passed.

The Committee on Engrossed bills have examined and find correctly engrossed the following bills:

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 14, 1876.

HON. C. D. PARKER,

Lieut.-Governor and President of the Senate:

SIR:—I have the honor to transmit, for the use of the honorable Senate, the enclosed communication, in reply to resolution No. 37, S., and respectfully request that the same be presented.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 14, 1876.

To the honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

In reply to Res. No. 37, S., I have the honor, on behalf of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, to submit the following statements:

The rates per 100 lbs., in car-loads, of wheat, fixed by the Railroad Commissioners of the State of Minnesota, "under the law of 1874," and chargeable between the points named in said Res. No. 37, were as follows:

St. Paul to Duluth, 155 miles.....	16.80 cents.
Mankato to Winona, 131 miles.....	14.86 cents.
New Ulm to Winona, 170 miles.....	17.20 cents.

The present legal rates in Wisconsin for the distances above named are—

For 131 miles.....	18 cents.
For 155 miles.....	20 cents.
For 170 miles.....	21 cents.

The request for information concerning "the difference in elevator charges permitted to the railroads in Minnesota, and the rates charged by the railroad elevators in the city of Milwaukee," has received attention, and the information will be furnished so soon as received; also, the desired information as to the local tariffs now in force on the several railroads in the State of Minnesota.

The rates fixed by the Railroad Commissioners of Minnesota, under the laws of 1874, above referred to, have been abolished by an act of the legislature, and the several railroad companies now fix their own rates, subject only in this regard, to the provision of law that "no railroad company shall charge, demand, or receive, from any person company or corporation, an unreasonable price for the transportation of persons or property, or for the loading or storing of any freight, or for the use of its cars, or for any privilege or for service afforded by it in the transaction of its business as a railroad corporation."

The remaining inquiries embraced in resolution No. 37, S., have also received due attention, but from their nature, cannot be answered without considerable delay.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner.

The communication was ordered spread on the journal.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

Senator Bryant presented to the Senate, the following communication from the Fish Commissioners, which was ordered spread on the journal:

At a meeting of the Fish Commissioners of the States of Ohio, Michigan, and Wisconsin, held at the office of Governor J. J. Bagley, in Detroit, on the 2d day of February, 1876, by previous appointment, to consult upon measures for the propagation and protection of the food-fishes within and adjoining the States mentioned, a committee was appointed, consisting of Gov. J. J. Bagley, and George Clark, of Michigan, Wm. Welch, of Wisconsin, and Emery D. Potter, of Ohio, to prepare a plan to be submitted to the legislatures of the several States represented, and request them to enact suitable laws for carrying out the objects contemplated.

This committee met on the 7th of February, 1876, at the office of Gov. Bagley, in Detroit, and agreed upon the following provisions:

First.—It shall be unlawful for any distillery, coal-oil refinery, or gas-works, to discharge any refuse, or offal from their works, into any of the lakes or rivers in or adjoining the States represented, or into any stream putting into them or either of them.

Second.—It shall be unlawful to catch in any pound, or sweep net, any white-fish, or lake trout, between the fifteenth day of November, and the tenth day of September.

Third.—It shall be unlawful to use any gill, drag, or float-net at any time, for catching fish, in any of the waters herein mentioned, within ten miles of the shore.

Fourth.—It shall be unlawful to catch, kill, or offer for sale any white-fish weighing less than one and a half pounds.

Fifth.—A base shall be established in seven feet of water, along the shores, and it shall be unlawful to extend any pound net more than one mile from such base line; provided, that in the indentations of the lakes and bays said pound nets may be extended one and one quarter miles from said base line.

The committee unanimously recommend the passage of laws in conformity with the foregoing plan, with suitable penalties to enforce them.

Dated at Detroit, the 7th of February, 1876.

JOHN J. BAGLEY,
GEO. CLARK,
WM. WELCH,
EMERY D. POTTER.

Ordered spread upon the journal, and referred to the Committee on State Affairs.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Attorney-General:

OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
MADISON, February 15, 1876.

To the honorable Senate, of the State of Wisconsin:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of Senate resolution No. 35, and in response thereto would state, that in my opinion, no legislation is required in relation to the deposit of State funds in the suspended Corn-Exchange Bank at Waupun. I have submitted to the Register in Bankruptcy proofs of the claim in behalf of the State, and am of opinion that under the provisions of the bankrupt law, it is a preferred debt, and that there will be sufficient assets to pay the claim in full.

The proceedings in bankruptcy are not yet finished, and such further steps will be taken as may be necessary to protect the interests of the State.

Very respectfully,

A. SCOTT SLOAN,
Attorney-General.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, Secretary's Office, ss.

The Secretary of State of the State of Wisconsin, hereby certifies that the foregoing has been compared with the original, on file in this office, and that the same is a true and correct copy thereof, and of the whole of such original.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the great seal of the State, at the Capitol in Madison, this 16th day of February, A. D. 1876.

PETER DOYLE,
Secretary of State.

The President laid before the Senate the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 17, 1876.

HON. C. D. PARKER,
Lieut.-Governor and President of the Senate:

SIR:—I have the honor, in behalf of the board of Railroad Commissioners, to transmit herewith a communication to the honorable Senate, in relation to elevator charges in the State of Minnesota and in the city of Milwaukee, respectively, in pursuance of a request contained in Res. No. 37, S., and respectfully request that the same be presented.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 17, 1876.

To the honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

In response to that portion of Res. No. 37, S., which requests the Railroad Commissioners "to report the difference in elevator charges permitted to the railroads in Minnesota, and the rates charged by the railroad elevators in the city of Milwaukee," we have the honor to transmit herewith, first, a copy of a letter from Hon. Wm. R. Marshall, Railroad Commissioner of Minnesota, concerning the elevator rates allowed in that State, with an extract from the law to which he refers; and secondly, a copy of a letter just received from Mr. S. S. Merrill, General Manager of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, giving full and detailed information of the rates charged by the railroad elevators in the city of Milwaukee.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOSEPH H. OSBORN,
Railroad Commissioners.

Letter of Hon. Wm. R. Marshall, R. R. Commissioner of Minnesota.

OFFICE STATE RAILROAD COMMISSIONER,
ST. PAUL, February 15, 1876.

DR. JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner, Madison, Wisconsin:

DEAR SIR:—In reply to yours of the 14th, I inclose a copy of the law of 1874 in regard to elevator charges. There have been no complaints under the law, to my knowledge. My impression is that the elevators on the railroads in this State are managed by the owners in a way to give general satisfaction to the public.

Yours truly,

WM. R. MARSHALL,
Railroad Commissioner.

Section 1, of an act for the regulation of grain elevators and warehouses:

"Section 1. It shall not be lawful for any railroad, or person, association or corporation, engaged in the business of keeping an elevator, or warehouse, situated upon the line of any railroad in this State, for receiving and handling grain for other persons, to charge any greater sum than two cents per bushel for receiving, elevating, handling, and delivering such grain, nor shall it be lawful for any such railroad company, person, association, or corporation, to employ, or allow any person to act as inspector of the grain received into their elevator, or warehouse, who is in any manner, directly or indirectly interested in the purchase or shipping thereof."

Letter of S. S. Merrill, General Manager Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad.

CHICAGO, MILWAUKEE & ST. PAUL RAILWAY,
GENERAL MANAGER'S OFFICE,
MILWAUKEE, February 16, 1876.

HON. J. W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner:

DEAR SIR:—* * * * * The rates established in this city are, for the first twenty days, or part thereof, two cents per bushel; for each additional ten days, one-half cent per bushel. Winter storage, grain received between the 20th of November and the 15th of April, is subject to the above rates until four cents storage has accrued, after which it is not subject to additional storage within the rates named.

The foregoing rates cover all expenses of receiving and delivery of grain.

Respectfully, yours,

S. S. MERRILL,
General Manager.

By Senator Treat:

Res. No. 44, S.,

Requesting Railroad Commissioners to furnish information regarding freights.

Resolved, That the Railroad Commissioners are requested to furnish the Senate with a written statement of their views, based upon their study of the railway question, as to the rates of grain and other produce freights, provided in bill No. 95, A., now pending in this body; and also, to inform the Senate, whether in their opinion the average rate permitted to the railroads, under the present law, upon grain raised in Wisconsin, which is marketed in Milwaukee, is above or below 30 mills per ton per mile, and also whether, in their judgment, such rate is liberal and remunerative to the railways, or otherwise.

The resolution lies over.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

STATE OF WISCONSIN,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
MADISON, February 17, 1876.

To the honorable, the Senate:

I herewith transmit to your honorable body the report of Professor T. C. Chamberlin, Chief Geologist, giving his judgment of the value of the library and cabinet of the late Dr. I. A. Lapham, as requested by Senate resolution No. 33.

HARRISON LUDINGTON,
Governor.

MADISON, February 16, 1876.

HON. HARRISON LUDINGTON,
Governor of Wisconsin:

In accordance with your communication of the 8th inst., inclosing Senate Resolution, No. 33, relating to an examination and appraisal of the cabinet and library of the late Dr. I. A. Lapham, I beg leave to report that I have made the examination indicated, and so far as possible verified my estimate. The value of the entire collection of rocks, minerals, fossils, zoological, and botanical specimens, books, pamphlets, and maps, together with the cases containing them, exclusive of a few duplicates—not more than one hundred—and of the unpublished manuscript of Dr. Lapham, which the family desire to retain as mementoes, is in my judgment, $10,150, that being the average of four estimates.

Respectfully submitted,

T. C. CHAMBERLIN.

On motion of H. N. Davis,

The communication was referred to Committee on Education.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President presented the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, Feb. 18, 1876.

Hon. C. D. PARKER,
Lieut.-Governor and President of the Senate:

SIR:—I have the honor, in behalf of the board of Railroad Commissioners, to transmit herewith a communication in answer to resolve second, of Res. No. 37, S., and respectfully request that you present the same to the honorable Senate.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner.

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 18, 1876.

To the Honorable Senate of the State of Wisconsin :

In reply to that portion of resolution No. 37, S., which requests the Railroad Commissioners to "furnish the Senate with the local tariffs of the several railroads in the State of Minnesota, and that said commissioners ascertain * * * whether the people on the line of any railroad in * * * Minnesota have, by public meetings generally and largely attended, asked any such railroad company to abandon the rates of 1874 and return to the rates established previous to 1874, and whether any railroad company or companies in said State of Minnesota did abandon said legal rates of 1874, at such public requests, and continued so to do, without complaint or molestation from any one residing on the line of, or doing business with any such road or roads, and whether any other railroad, especially the Winona & St. Peter Railroad, ever complied with the rates fixed by the act of 1874, and whether any complaint was ever made to the courts against said company because of said failure," we have the honor to submit the inclosed copy of a communication this day received from the Hon. Wm. R. Marshall, Railroad Commissioner, of Minnesota, in answer to inquiries made by this commission, in pursuance of said resolution.

The railroad tariffs of rates now in force, on the railroads of Minnesota, to which the honorable commissioner refers in his communication, will be transmitted so soon as received.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOS. H. OSBORN,
Railroad Commissioners.

Communication of Hon. Wm. R. Marshall, Railroad Commissioner of Minnesota.

OFFICE OF STATE RAILROAD COMMISSIONER,
SAINT PAUL, February 16, 1876.

DR. J. W. HOYT,
Railroad Commissioner:

DEAR SIR:—Yours of 14th, with Senate resolutions, is received.

I mail you to-day, copies of local tariffs of all the railroads that have offices in this city, and have written to Winona and St. Peter Company, and Southern Minnesota Company, to send you theirs.

In answer to other matters, I would say that the railroads in 1874, generally conformed to the law and commissioners' tariffs. They varied their tariffs to conform to the general requirements, such as progressive rates—an increase for each mile of distance, &c., on freights. Probably they did not adopt the specific rates of commissioners' tariff, except as to passengers. There were, however, no complaints from shippers. In at least one instance, the St. Paul & Sioux City Railroad, the public petitioned the commissioners, to restore former passenger rates (5 cents, where it had been reduced to 4 cents) to enable the railroad company to continue a service which they would not keep up at the reduced rate. The commissioners restored former rates. It was manifest the roads could not live at the reduced rates. Merchants and shippers generally believed that the commissioners' rates were oppressive. This feeling led to the repeal of the law last year.

I do not remember on the Winona & St. Peter road any such action as is referred to in your Senate resolution. Probably this case of the St. Paul & Sioux City railroad was meant.

The commissioners having performed their duty of prescribing rates, publishing tariff, etc., were disposed to leave it with the public and the roads; and there being no complaint, the law was enforced for only a few months; from August, 1874, until repealed in the winter following. They did not think it wise, or feel called upon to take action to compel strict compliance with the tariff.

You doubtless know there was, in 1871, a law fixing rates on grain, lumber, &c. That was a dead letter, except the test case of Blake vs. Winona & St. Peter Railroad Company, now in the United States Supreme Court.

Yours, truly,

WM. R. MARSHALL,
Railroad Commissioner.

P. S.—The tariffs sent you are the ones now in force.

W. R. M.

COMMUNICATION.

The President presented the following communication from the Railroad Commissioners:

OFFICE OF RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS,
MADISON, February 19, 1876.

HON. C. D. PARKER,

Lieut.-Governor and President of the Senate:

SIR:—We have the honor, in further compliance with Resolution 37, S., to transmit herewith, for the use of the honorable Senate, the local freight tariffs now in force on the following railroads in the State of Minnesota, to wit: The St. Paul and Sioux City, and Sioux City and St. Paul Railroad, the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad, and the Iowa and Minnesota, Iowa and Dakota, Hastings and Dakota, and River Division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, and respectfully request that the same be presented.

Very respectfully,

JOHN W. HOYT,
JOS. H. OSBORN,
Railroad Commissioners.

The communication and accompanying documents were referred to a select committee, consisting of Senators Barron, R. E. Davis, and Potter.

On motion of Senator H. N. Davis,
No. 95, A.,

A bill to amend chapter 273, laws of 1874, entitled, an act relating to railroads, express and telegraph companies in the State of Wisconsin, and to repeal other sections and acts named therein,

Was taken up at this time.

Senator Potter, by unanimous consent, offered the following amendment:

Amend by adding to the end of the bill, the following:

Section 14. The commissioner appointed under the provisions of this act shall receive for his services the sum of three thousand dollars, per annum, payable monthly, at the end of each month, and three dollars per day for traveling expenses, for each and every day actually traveled in the performance of the duties hereby required. He shall be furnished with an office, furniture and stationery, and necessary books and maps, at the expense of the State. And the said commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered to employ a clerk at an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars, payable at the end of each month. The office of said commissioner shall be kept at Madison, and all sums of money authorized to be paid by this act, out of the State Treasury, shall be paid only on the order of the Governor; provided, that the total sums of money to be expended by said commissioner, for office rent, furniture, and stationery shall in no case exceed the total sum of eight hundred dollars per annum.

Section 15. This act shall be in force from and after its passage, and publication.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The President presented the following communication from the mayor of Atlanta, Georgia:

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, February 1, 1876.

To President and Members of Senate of Wisconsin:

GENTLEMEN:—The representative people of Georgia wish to become acquainted with the representative men of all classes of the great Northwest—a people so noted for their energy, intelligence, progressiveness, liberality, and patriotism, as well as independence and magnanimity. We desire to have a visit from you as of old; to have you mix with us, to see us in our homes, in our public and private places. We wish to extend to you the hospitality of old days, to the extent of our means. With that end in view, an excursion has been organized, to which you are cordially invited, with a request that you extend the invitation to others at your discretion. We offer you a free ride from Chattanooga, in Tennessee, to Atlanta, Georgia, (138 miles,) from thence to the following beautiful cities, viz: Augusta (171 miles,) thence to Port Royal (112 miles,) when an opportunity will be given of visiting its splendid harbor, and the United States squadron, now concentrating there, thence to Savannah (79 miles,) thence to Thomasville and Albany (258 miles,) and return. Several other road officials have declared that if the excursionists wished to see more of the State than will be seen by the trip marked out, they will pass them over their roads. Arrangements are being made by which it is expected half-fare tickets will be on sale to Chattanooga from all the larger western places, and our hotels will provide for you at reduced prices.

In passing over the several roads, many of the lofty mountains, (including the greatest curiosity in the South—Stone Mountain,) beautiful rich valleys, fine timber, creeks and rivers, and a portion of the vast mineral regions of North Georgia, and the productive cotton plantations of Middle and Southern Georgia, will be seen. There are no finer plantations in the South than are found around Thomasville, and its citizens have pledged themselves to give all an opportunity to see the mode of preparing the ground, the raising and preparing the cotton for market, as well as a full insight into the homes of the colored folks who do the work, with all the novel surroundings incident to their every-day life. We frankly admit that our chief object in inviting representative citizens of the liberal West is, that they may see and examine for themselves not only our vast resources, but more especially to have them the better understand the friendly feeling existing among our people toward our Northern brethren, with the further hope of setting at rest forever the clamors so often raised, and kept alive by misrepresentations made because of a want of a knowledge of the true facts.

Ours is now a common country—our interests are one; we buy your produce, you our cotton, &c.: why longer remain separate? We are satisfied your report will be such as to remove all doubts, and do much toward harmonizing the sections.

Invitations to participate in this excursion have been extended to all the cities and leading places of the Northwest. Already many have signified their intention of coming to visit us.

Parties accepting this invitation, to be recognized by the railroad conductors, must be provided with a credential signed by the mayor of a city and its seal attached, or the official certificate of any railroad president. The visitors are expected to be in Atlanta by the 15th of March, as on that day or the day following the party will leave Atlanta for the several cities above marked out to be visited. You will please advise the committee on invitation, at the earliest day possible, of your acceptance or rejection of this invitation—if the former, the number that will probably come—that proper arrangements may be made.

Respectfully,

C. C. HAMMOCK,
Mayor of Atlanta, Ga.

The communication was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations, and ordered spread on the journal.

The Committee on Judiciary, to which was referred:

No. 57, S.,

A bill relating to verdicts of juries.

Has had the same under consideration and instructed me to report it back with the recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed.

Although the committee is clearly of the opinion that such a change in jury verdicts as is proposed by the bill under consideration would have a demoralizing effect upon ordinary juries, from the sense of less responsibility that would naturally prevail among them, if unanimity were not required in the giving of verdicts, it is not upon this consideration that the principal objection of the committee is based.

It is a question of the gravest doubt whether the legislature of any of the United States has the constitutional right to pass a law interfering in any manner with the jury trial in criminal cases, a mode of trial which has come down to us unchanged since the days of Magna Charta, firmly established as an inviolable, uniform and universal custom of the Anglo-Saxon race, known of all men, and made certain and permanent by every fresh charter or constitution, to which the assent of Anglo-Saxon people has been given.

According to innumerable decisions of the courts of England, and of this country, a trial by jury means the trial by twelve men, from whom a unanimous verdict is required, and though the right to such trial may be waived by consent of parties in civil cases, it has been held by the court of appeals, of the State of New York, (The people vs. Cancemi, 7 Abbott's practice reports 304, old series,) that it cannot be waived even by express consent of the parties in a criminal case, for the reason that said right is inalienable under the constitution of the State of New York, which does not differ, so far as relates to the point in question, from the constitution of Wisconsin. The Federal Constitution is almost equally explicit when it says: "The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury," and under that clause your committee considers it questionable whether even a constitutional amendment in any State infringing upon or altering the right of a defendant in a criminal case to a jury trial, in the established and uniform manner, would be unsound and void.

But however this may be, the Supreme Court of this State has repeatedly decided that there can be no infringement on the common-law right to jury trial in criminal cases under our own constitution. It will not be necessary at this time to cite the opinion of the court in more than three important cases, which are given below:

These opinions are as follows: "The constitution provides that the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate," which evidently had reference to the condition of the law as it existed when the constitution was adopted. Stillwell, et al, v. Kellogg, et al, 14 Wis., 461. The same opinion is expressed by the court, in Norval v. Rice and wife, 2 Wis., 29, and in the same case on the preceding page, the court says: "The constitutional provision, securing the right of trial by a jury, means a jury of twelve men, according to the known technical meaning of the term. Of his right to such a jury the defendant cannot be deprived, except by his own consent." In the case of Gaston v. Babcock, 6 Wis., 506, the following language is used in relation to the clause of the State constitution, which affirms, that the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate:

"We suppose this expression must have reference to the state of the law as it existed at the formation of the constitution, and means that this right shall continue as it was at the time of the formation and adoption of the constitution by the people of this State; or to speak perhaps with greater precision, that it shall remain as full and perfect as it was at that time."

In view of these decisions, the committee is unanimous in the recommendation herein given.

NOTICE OF AMENDMENT TO THE RULES.

By Senator Barron:

Notice is hereby given that on to-morrow a motion will be made to amend joint rules numbers 18, 19, and 20, of the Senate and Assembly, by substituting the following therefor:

Rule 18. When a bill shall have been duly reported as correctly enrolled, it shall be the duty of the chief clerk of the house in which it originated, to present the bill first to the presiding officer of the house in which it originated, and next to the presiding officer of the other branch of the legislature, for signature, which duty shall be performed at as early an hour as possible, consistent with the proper discharge of his other duties as chief clerk.

Rule 19. After a bill shall have been signed by the respective presiding officers of the two houses, it shall be presented by the chief clerk of the house to which it originated, to the Governor, in the executive chamber, for his approval, it being first indorsed on the back of the roll, certifying in which house the same originated, which certificate shall be signed by the chief clerk of such house. In case the bill was passed by the ayes and noes being taken thereon, the number of affirmative and negative votes in each house shall be indorsed on the back of the bill.

Rule 20. All orders, resolutions and votes which are to be presented to the Governor, for his approval, shall, also, in the same manner be previously examined, enrolled, and signed, and then presented in the same manner as is provided in case of bills.

And further, that a motion will then be made to add the following to stand as joint rule No. 21:

Rule 21: It shall be the duty of the chief clerk of each house to keep a Senate and Assembly book of enrolled bills, in which shall be accurately minuted the exact time at which each bill or resolution (indicating it by its number,) was presented to the presiding officer of each house for signature, and to the Governor for his approval. Such books shall always be open for inspection, and shall be deposited with the Secretary of State, to be preserved by him, at the close of the session. The books shall be substantially in the following form:

SENATE BILLS,

PRESENTED FOR SIGNATURE AND APPROVAL.

No. of bill.	Presented to President.		Presented to Speaker.		Presented to Governor.
	Date.	Hour.	Date.	Hour.	Date.	Hour.
No. 1, S ..	Feb. 14	9, A. M.	Feb. 15	10, A. M.	Feb. 15	2, P. M.

and a like book for the bills originating in the Assembly shall also be kept by the Chief Clerk thereof.

And further, that a motion will then be made to make rule No. 5, of Senate rules, No. 3 of said rules, and to re-number the rules following it.

No. 5, S.,

Be recalled from the Committee on Claims; which motion prevailed.

The President presented the following communication:

PARK HOTEL, MADISON, February 28, 1876.

To the Honorable Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

SENATORS:—You have before you for consideration No. 98, Assembly, which is the notorious “Dalles bill;” a bill which authorizes the city of Eau Claire to construct a dam sixteen feet in height across the Chippewa River, at any point within the city limits which it may elect, covering a distance of more than six miles of river channel, nominally for municipal purposes, but really and primarily for private uses and private benefits.

The advocates of this measure assert with great apparent confidence that your concurrence is already assured; nevertheless I venture to ask at your hands a careful, critical, and unbiased examination of this most extraordinary bill.

To be sure the subject is not altogether a new one, it having besieged the legislature under various forms, pretenses, and guises at frequent intervals during the past sixteen years; in 1860, when it experienced a double defeat at the hands of the executive after its covert passage, and by the Assembly on its subsequent introduction in a modified form; in 1867, when it was thoroughly considered and was overwhelmingly defeated in the Assembly; in 1870, when it was closely contested in, and passed the Assembly too late for consideration and action by the Senate; in 1871, when it passed both branches by a majority of one in each, and was vetoed by the executive on the grounds of corruption and bribery; in 1872, when, originating in the Assembly, it commanded so little strength that it was abandoned by its friends, was committed to the member introducing it to perform the ignoble service of a “dead head;” and again, in 1875, when it assumed the guise, or more properly speaking, disguise in which it now comes to you, passed both houses, was approved by the Governor, and in a case brought to test its validity was adjudged by the highest judicial tribunal of the State to be unconstitutional. While the bill now before your honorable body is the lineal descendant of the bill of 1860, covering the same intent, and having the same primary and paramount objects and purposes, nevertheless the situation has greatly changed, adding new objections, and making old ones more potential. The interests to be affected by the proposed dam are vastly increased and more diversified, little hamlets have grown to important and populous cities, the hunting grounds of the wild Chippewa are now teeming with agriculture, water-powers have been developed, and the incidental industries multiplied, and the commerce of this most valuable river now aggregates more than five million dollars per annum.

Our State, too, is awakening to the importance of fostering and protecting her natural highways, the free highways of the people, the poor as well as the rich—the conservators of the people’s rights against unjust discriminations and extortions, and to this end she resisted the attempt of Duluth to destroy the Superior City Harbor for her own upbuilding—to that end you have wisely placed a contingent fund in the hands of our Governor, to be used in the interest of the Fox and Wisconsin River Improvement, under the auspices of the general government, which has already expended a million dollars in the improvement of those rivers; and to that end this legislature has memorialized Congress for an appropriation to improve the navigation of the Chippewa River, a work already undertaken, the examinations and surveys for that purpose completed, and the work likely to go forward during the present year, unless the State policy shall be suddenly changed, by committing six miles of this chief of her navigable waters to the private use, guardianship, and control of the city of Eau Claire. Such an act would indeed be anomalous.

If it were a fact that the enactment of this measure and its affirmation by the courts would result in paupering only one citizen of the State, such a prospective result might be passed lightly over; but when it shall appear that the private fortunes of thousands will be jeopardized, and many absolutely destroyed by it; that a large, prosperous, and growing section of the State, including a city of 6,000 souls, a large and rapidly settling agricultural district, numerous valuable water-powers, some of which are already developed, timbered lands more extensive than any in the known world, saw-mills with an annual cutting capacity of more than eighty million feet of lumber, and other mill products in proportion, giving employment to thousands of laborers and supporting other industries and other interests; when it is known that all these vast interests have been developed by, and are dependent upon, the advantages afforded by this river, and must be affected adversely by the passage of this bill to an extent entirely beyond computation, it becomes a matter worthy of more than ordinary consideration.

In the opinion of the undersigned, the fact that this bill is essentially the same as the statute of last winter, which was declared to be null and void, as I have before stated, would be sufficient ground for non-concurrence, but should such not be your determination, its general policy and consequences should command your most careful and critical scrutiny. How is this to be done? Certainly not by simply listening to the contradictory statements of the friends and opponents of the bill. Such was our position in the other branch, and we asked the committee of that house, to receive sworn testimony. This was disallowed, the statements of the opposition discredited, and consequently a favorable report and the passage of the bill by that body. We now earnestly ask your honorable body to take such steps as will enable you to determine the facts affecting this momentous question, irrespective of the ipse dixit of either party, before saying aye or nay thereupon.

This result may be attained in two different modes, without delay: one, by requiring each and every allegation of fact made before the committee having the bill in charge to be made under oath; the other, the personal inspection, on the part of the entire Senate, of the site of the proposed dam and other works, as well as all other improvements and interests to be affected, favorably or unfavorably, in the cities of Eau Claire and Chippewa Falls and vicinity. This would engage two days of your time, employing the night-time to go and return; and, should it result in the final determination of this vexed and expensive question, it will be a service of inestimable value to the State. If, upon deliberation, you shall decide to adopt the latter mode, I hereby tender the necessary transportation and other expenses attending such tour of inspection, free of cost to the State. Awaiting your pleasure,

I am, very respectfully, your obedient servant.

THAD. C. POUND.

Referred to Committee on Incorporations, and ordered spread on the journal.

The Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred,

The invitation of the mayor of Atlanta, Georgia, addressed to the President and members of the Senate of Wisconsin, conveying an invitation to the legislature of Wisconsin to visit the State of Georgia, and in which communication occurs the following expression of the object of the contemplated excursion: "We frankly admit that our chief object in inviting representative citizens of the liberal west is that they may see and examine for themselves, not only our vast resources, but more especially to have them the better understand the friendly feeling existing among our people toward our northern brethren, with the further hope of setting at rest forever the clamors so often raised, and kept alive by misrepresentations made because of a want of a knowledge of the true facts. Ours is now a common country—our interests are one; we buy your produce, you our cotton, &c.; why longer remain separate? We are satisfied your report will be such as to remove all doubts, and do much toward harmonizing the sections."

Would respectfully report:

We fully appreciate the kind and fraternal spirit and language in which the invitation is made, recognizing a pleasant and happy beginning of future friendly social, political, and commercial relations between sections of the Union, that though lately in warlike arms against each other, now are harmoniously inclined to extend the arms of a common and re-united brotherhood, knowing no north, no south, no east, no west, in our loves, hopes, and aspirations for the continued future of the American Union. Wisconsin will ever second Georgia, or any other State of that Union, in the effort to bury out of sight and memory the political faults and errors of the past.

Let us bury the past, the coming waits
The while with magic hand on memory's gate;
A welcome give to the city-robed guest,
Bringing our eagle back to its ancient nest!
As rests our troubled ark on victory's hill,
Send forth the dove, the olive in its bill,
Heaven shall smile; a radiant arch again,
Attests God's bridging the gulf for angry men.

In replying, then, to the request to once more unite with our brothers of the South, in a renewed social and commercial interchange, we, on behalf of the Senate of Wisconsin, representing in part a million and a quarter of people, pledge our State to unite with the citizens of Georgia in a renewed covenant of fidelity to the common ark of national security—"the Union now and forever." Your committee submit the following resolutions to accompany this report:

Resolved, That the Senate of Wisconsin receive with pleasure the invitation of the mayor of Atlanta, Georgia, to an excursion from Chattanooga, in Tennessee, to Atlanta and other prominent cities and points in the State of Georgia.

Resolved, That all Senators, officers, and employees of the Wisconsin State Senate, who desire and can join in the contemplated excursion, without delay notify the mayor of Atlanta, Georgia, of their intention to unite in the inter-State visit.

Resolved further, That the Chief Clerk of the Senate transmit to the mayor of Atlanta, Georgia, a copy of the foregoing report, together with these resolutions.

A bill making an appropriation to the Northern Wisconsin Agricultural and Mechanical Association.

Report the same back with amendments, and recommend the passage of the same when so amended.

W. P. ROUNDS,
Chairman.

The amendments were adopted.

On motion of Senator Hudd,

The rules were suspended, the bill was read a third time and passed by the following vote:

Ayes—Senators Baker, Barney, Barron, Blair, Bryant, Cavanagh, H. N. Davis, R. E. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Hudd, Mitchell, Nevins, Rounds, Ryan, Scott, Silverthorn, and Wilmot—21.

Nays—Senators Barden, Eastman, Schuette, Tate, and Welch—5.

The title was amended so as to read as follows:

A bill to provide for the publication of the transactions of the Northern Wisconsin Agricultural and Mechanical Association.

The select committee, to which was referred,

No. 57, S.,

A bill relating to verdicts of juries, and

Jt. Res. No. 17, S.,

Proposing an amendment to section 5, of Article I, of the constitution of the State of Wisconsin, so as to dispense with the requirement of unanimous verdicts of juries.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That section 5, of Article I, of the constitution of the State of Wisconsin, be so amended as to read as follows: Section 5. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate and shall extend to all cases at law, without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases, in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature may provide, however, that a less number of jurors than the entire number impaneled to try any cause or action may return a verdict,

Have had the same under consideration, and respectfully submit the following report:

Trial by jury may be properly classed with the most venerable of our cherished institutions of civil government. It comes down to us from the remote past. By reason of its great antiquity there is much doubt and uncertainty concerning its precise origin. It is not the province of your committee to speculate or theorize upon the dim records and uncertain traditions that cluster around its cradle. It is enough for us to know that the present form of jury-trial, is our direct inheritance from English ancestors. That it has been productive of vast benefit to the human race in times past; that it has been a shield for the common people against the encroachments of power in monarchical governments, may be admitted. But a system which may have acquired renown in one country may, when applied to another under a new order of things, be productive of inconvenience, uncertainty, and oft-times injustice.

The right of trial by jury should by no means be abolished, though your committee is strongly of the opinion that a change in some of the essential features would make the system more in accord with the spirit of our free institutions, and better serve to insure equal and exact justice between man and man. The particular change that seems to be desired, is to abolish the requirement of unanimity in rendering a verdict. The principle involved certainly seems to be in accord with reason and common sense. It is no new theory. Even prior to the present system verdicts were made without this requirement. In fact, the unanimous verdict of twelve jurors appears to be rather the result of accident than design. By reference to a distinguished legal authority the following statement may be found:

"The unanimity of twelve men, so repugnant to all experience of human conduct, passions, and understandings, could hardly, in any age, have been introduced into practice by a deliberate act of the legislature. But that the life, and perhaps the liberty and property of a subject, should not be affected by the concurring judgment of a less number than twelve where more were present, was a law founded in reason and caution, and seems to be transmitted to us by the common law, or from immemorial antiquity. The grand assize might have consisted of more than twelve, yet the verdict must have been given by twelve or more; and if twelve did not agree, the assize was afforced, that is, others were added till twelve did concur. This was a majority, and not unanimity. A grand jury may consist of any number from twelve to twenty-three inclusive, but a presentment ought not to be made by less than twelve. The same is also true of an inquisition before the coroner. In the high court of parliament, and the court of the lord high steward, a peer may be convicted by the greater number; yet there can be no conviction unless the greater number consists of at least twelve. Under a commission of lunacy the jury was seventeen, but twelve joined in the verdict. A jury upon a writ of inquiry may be more than twelve. In all these cases, if twelve only appeared, it followed as a necessary consequence that to act with effect they must be unanimous. Hence it is suggested, as a conjecture respecting the origin of the unanimity of jurors, that, as less than twelve, if twelve or more were present, could pronounce no effective verdict, when twelve only were sworn, their unanimity became indispensable." Cooley's Black., vol. 2, p. 314, (note.)

Thus was the requirement of unanimity in our present jury system crystalized into common law; and though centuries have passed away since the time of its adoption, though the state of society, the circumstances and conditions that brought it into being, and even the form of government itself, have materially changed, yet this ancient relic of an irrepressible conflict, that has long since passed away, still clings to our system of jurisprudence in spite of its apparent faults and palpable inconsistencies.

The attempted introduction of the English system of trial by jury into Scotland, in 1815, very forcibly illustrates the effect of the illogical requirement of unanimous verdict upon our enlightened people, who formerly decided their causes by the verdict of a majority, and who were not afflicted with a senseless veneration for an antique absurdity. The act of parliament designed to confer upon the Scottish people this so-called "palladium of liberty," contained the following provisions:

Be it enacted, &c., That all verdicts shall be given by the whole number of the jury agreeing to the verdict, &c. 55, Geo. 3, chap. 42, sec. 34.

This statute, so repugnant to a people not trained to traditional veneration for the jury system, proved to be exceedingly unpopular. They could not see a logical conformity in making twelve men swear that they would do justice according to their consciences, and then coercing them by confinement and starvation until they had agreed to be all of one mind. In speaking of the innovation, a Scottish judge is said to have remarked that "no act of Parliament will make twelve Scotsmen of the same opinion on any given point," and the history of jury trials in this country will furnish many examples, showing that the Scotch juries are not the only juries that agree to "disagree."

In obedience to the popular demand, the rule of unanimity was relaxed in 1854 by the following section in an act of parliament of that year:

Be it enacted, &c., From and after the passage of this act, if upon the trial by jury of any civil cause in the court of session in Scotland the jury are unable to agree upon a verdict, and if after having been kept in deliberation for a period of six hours, nine of the said jury shall agree, the verdict agreed to by such nine may be returned as the verdict of the jury, and shall be taken and shall have the same force and effect as if found unanimously by the whole of said jury, any statute to the contrary notwithstanding. (17 and 18, Vict., chap. 59.)

In 1859 an act was passed, (22 and 23, Vict., chap 7,) giving still greater latitude to the verdicts of jurors; providing that if after three hours' deliberation, nine of the jury agree, a verdict may be returned, and that the jury may be discharged without a verdict after six hours' deliberation.

The foregoing furnishes at least one example where, after a thorough trial of the present jury system, for a period of about forty years, the requirement of unanimity was abandoned, and the right of nine jurors of the twelve to return a verdict was established by law.

In an article published some years ago in the Knickerbocker Magazine, a distinguished writer set forth his objections to the present system in an able contribution, which so clearly presents the case that we make the following extract:

* * * * * "In civil cases the man who sues should stand on the same footing with the man that is sued. The legal rights of each should be the same. The jury trial, requiring the agreement of twelve men, is destructive of this equality. For although the creditor have the suffrages of eleven of the jury in his favor, that of one juror given in favor of the debtor is permitted to outweigh those of eleven. Laws are established to guard against fraud. Is there no danger of fraud when it is in the power of the defendant, by corrupting one juror, to frustrate the operation of justice? And, supposing a moderate degree of corruption to exist among us, what is more likely than that one man, vulnerable to seduction, can be selected from twelve? This argument of itself would seem to be decisive against a jury trial in civil cases. There are, however, other arguments scarcely less powerful. In cases of any difficulty, it is no easy task to command the full attention of twelve men in the midst of a crowd of spectators; and one man will insensibly rely upon the vigilance of another. In consultation, the body will be too numerous for a cool and dispassionate discussion. Their capacities will be generally very unequal, and they will be guided too often by a tenacious adherence to ill-digested thoughts, or by a spirit of concession. In cases in which their feelings are but little interested, they will feel a constant impulse to sacrifice their own opinions in order to get rid of an irksome duty. Facts abundantly show the extreme difficulty of obtaining the concurrence of twelve men, or that under the restraints imposed upon them, they too frequently compromise, or submit to lot, their varying opinions. Hence, the truth is, that this boasted rampart has already lost much of its original character, and is experienced, in many instances, to be an evil rather than a benefit.

That it is promotive of delay is most obvious from a single consideration. In proportion to the difficulty of obtaining the concurrence of twelve men, will be the difficulty of drawing an action to a close; and the history of courts proves, that jury after jury is frequently dismissed, from their inability to agree."

In this connection, your committee cannot forbear to reproduce an extract from a vigorous article upon the same subject, which appeared in the National Intelligencer, published a number of years ago. The writer sets forth the absurdity of a unanimous verdict in the following positive terms:

* * * "It were strong language to use we acknowledge, but, it is a settled opinion with us, that as much felony is committed within the jury boxes as is brought before them for trial! At any rate, more perjury is there perpetrated, than is ever put regularly on trial before courts of justice; and most of this is brought about by the obstinacy or stupidity of the minor number. It is not often that the jury decides the case. It is perhaps a single one of the number.

A single juror cannot, to be sure, give a substantive verdict against the opinions of his eleven compeers, but he can always, and very often does, perform acts that amount to the same thing. He can prevent the administration of justice; he can nullify the honest efforts of his brethren, and render of no avail all their disposition to do right; he can save from the gallows or the penitentiary the criminal whose punishment is essential to the well-being of society; in short, he can, by his own stupid sic volo, set aside not only all the interests of the community, but he can abrogate all the laws of the land. He not only holds a veto on the entire criminal code, but he has in his hands the power of perverting the course of justice in all its channels. Every contract between man and man, every issue on which depend the rights of individuals, is at his mercy.

An Englishman or an American has very little reason for the boast that he finds safety and protection in the juries of his country. He finds no such thing. Juries, as juries, are utterly powerless in the premises; for eleven of the number are completely controlled by any duodecimal fraction that may choose to make itself of more arithmetical consequence than the whole number.

Of the utter absurdity of this system, as it regards the trial of all causes, it seems to us there can be but one opinion, at precisely the moment when the mind will divest itself of the prejudices which education and tradition have thrown around it. Its manifest injustice in the adjudication of civil suits, may be argued without any great fear of encountering either the demagogue or the quite as formidable folly of the tremblingly scrupulous. The barbarism may be met [in that respect without being obliged to combat the ad captandum hobbies of the liberty-lovers.

We can speak of a jury decision affecting the right of citizen A to "four acres of arable," unjustly withheld from him by citizen B, without any special peril of the wrath of the electioneerer. We suppose most people who have thought at all, will be willing enough to think with us, that seven out of twelve men are about as likely to be right in giving their opinion on the validity or invalidity of an alleged act as five, and that eleven jurors, who should say on their oaths that C signed a promissory note to D, were quite as much entitled to respect as one juror who believed no such thing.

But it is in criminal proceedings that people cling most tenaciously to their prejudices. They will agree with you in the absurdity of requiring unanimity in the jury in the trial of civil causes, but where the "life or liberty of the citizen is involved," they cannot consent that any less than the whole jury shall assent, or at least two-thirds. Let us look a little into the soundness of this notion. It is our purpose to show its utter absurdity in one case as well as the other—its absurdity, in fact, in all possible cases.

If it be an object of the laws to provide impunity for their own transgression, and if legislators, while they enact punishments for crime, have at heart at the same moment the wish of furnishing facilities for escape from them, we know of no mode more effectual than that of appointing twelve men to go through the farce of sitting in judgment on the criminal, while any one of the number has the power of putting his own opinion in opposition to all the rest, in deciding the case."

Coming down to a more recent period, we find the jury-system still attracting public attention to such an extent as to call forth the following observation from Ex-Governor Cyrus C. Carpenter, of Iowa, which we extract from his valedictory message delivered in January of the present year.

"The Jury System.—Entertaining as I do the profoundest veneration for this legacy of our ancestors, I yet do not think it beyond the reach of improvement. The requirement of unanimity in a jury in order to a verdict, I cannot but look upon as an antique absurdity, which has too long fettered the administration of justice. I therefore recommend that steps be taken to do away with the requirement, and thus to conform our jury-system more nearly to modern ideas, and practical common sense."

It would, therefore, seem that this question has deeply impressed itself upon public opinion, and the principle involved, so consonant with the spirit of our free institutions, has more friends and advocates than is generally believed. Whether this be true or false can best be determined by the adoption of this joint resolution amending our State constitution, and the submission of the same to a vote of the people as provided by law.

The Judiciary Committee are of the opinion that it would be unconstitutional to enact a law that a less number than the entire panel of twelve jurors might return a verdict, and they intimate that it is even doubtful if the Federal Constitution would not forbid a State from amending its constitution so as to prevent anything but unanimity in verdicts. The latter proposition cannot be admitted for a moment, for nothing, in the judgment of your committee, is clearer than that the people of a State have a right to determine the number of persons that shall compose the jury, and the number that may return a verdict. The fifth amendment to the Federal Constitution provides, in absolute terms, that "no person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentation or indictment of a grand jury, * * * nor be deprived of life, liberty, or happiness, without due process of law."

The constitutional provision above referred to was once thought to be binding upon the several States as well as the Union, most of which at an early day incorporated into their respective constitutions a similar provision, but in later times it has been held otherwise, and expressly decided that this provision in the Federal Constitution, is applicable only to cases cognizable in the courts of the United States, (8 Vermont reports, 57, State vs. Keyes, also Com. R. Baker vs. People, chap. 2, sec. 52.) To the same effect may be cited the opinion of Chief Justice Marshall, who says of the entire fifth amendment of the Federal Constitution, it must be understood as restraining the power of the General Government, not as applicable to the States. (7 Peter's R., 243, Barron vs. mayor and city council of Baltimore.) In the same case, referring to the amendments generally, he says: "These amendments contain no expression indicating an intention to apply them to the State government. This court cannot so apply them." Again, he says: "The unwieldy and cumbrous machinery of procuring a recommendation from two-thirds of Congress, and the assent of three-fourths of their sister States, could never have occurred to any human being as a mode of doing that which might be effected by the State itself." In a later case, (5 Howard, 410,) the same question arose before the Supreme Court of the United States, and was treated as a settled question. The Supreme Court of our own State has held that the provision abrogating the grand jury system was an amendment that might be rightfully incorporated into our State constitution, and if in the face of the provision in our Federal Constitution, the grand jury system could be abrogated, it need not be doubted that the people of a State may also provide in their fundamental act what number of jurors may return a verdict. In the language of a distinguished jurist: "The several States are free to adopt such constitutional provisions on the subject as they see fit, and in the absence of such provisions, the several State legislatures are equally free."

The Supreme Court of our own State, 30 Wis., State vs. Rowan, use the following language: "It would be a very laborious task, and would really serve no useful purpose to refer to all the authorities where the expressions, "by due process of law;" "by the law of the land;" "on presentment or indictment by a grand jury" have been considered and defined. But the result of the better opinion of courts and commentators in this country, in respect to the meaning of the words, "by due process of law;" "by the law of the land," as used in the Constitution of the United States, and in various State Constitutions is, that they are equivalent expressions, and in the language of Judge Bronson, cannot and do not "mean less than a prosecution or suit, instituted and conducted according to the prescribed forms and solemnities for ascertaining guilt or determining the title to property." Taylor vs. Potter, supra, 147. Thus, the larger and better definition of those terms, spoken of by Chancellor Kent, is that they mean, "law in its singular course of administration, through courts of justice," and the object of this limitation upon the powers of the States, is to secure to every person within their jurisdiction, irrespective of color or previous condition, the equal protection of the laws," and that every one should be judged, and have his rights determined by the same rules which are applied to settle the rights of the rest of the community.

The only question that remains is the expediency of the measure itself.

Your committee are not unmindful of the fact that an amendment to our organic act, which shall authorize an innovation on a practice which has prevailed for so many years, is not to be treated lightly nor disposed of flippantly. It cannot be doubted, however, that the public mind is largely occupied with this question, and many of our most earnest and profound thinkers have reached the conclusion that unanimous verdicts are not suited to the spirit of the age. This proposed amendment does no more than to so change the phraseology of our State constitution as to authorize the legislature to dispense with the necessity for unanimity in verdicts.

We are not disposed to admit that the spirit of our State constitution now requires such unanimity; but some cases have been decided that seem to indicate that our Supreme Court might hold to that opinion. It is therefore best, in our opinion, that an amendment should precede legislation, so that there need be no necessity for retracing our steps, on the ground that the authority of the constitution has been exceeded. If the amendment proposed by this resolution should prevail at this session of the legislature, the attention of the next legislature would be brought directly to it, and if ratified by it, then the whole question would have to be referred to the people, for their approval or disapproval. If the proposed amendment should be ratified by the legislature, and subsequently by the people, it would do no more than to leave the legislature at liberty to abrogate unanimous verdicts, or not, as in its judgment might seem best. Surely the people, if they desire to avail themselves of the principle contemplated by this amendment, should not be restricted by a constitutional provision that thwarts their will instead of subserves it.

Your committee do not entertain for a moment the belief that, if called upon to act in this matter as an original proposition, any considerable number of people would be found advocating unanimous verdicts. Perhaps they might not be willing to introduce an absolute democracy into the jury box; but we feel sure that few would be willing to deny, that if eleven out of twelve minds should concur on any controverted point, the judgment of the eleven ought to control as against the one. We shall be met with the remark, that the one, the obstinate juror, may be right. It is true; and it is also true, that twelve men agreeing, are also sometimes wrong, for human testimony is uncertain, and human judgment cannot always be right. To suppose otherwise would be to suppose that man is but little below deity.

Having seen the realms of the old grand jury system so successfully and beneficially invaded in this State, we do not halt at proposing a reform in another branch of the jury system, which is no more sacred and venerable than was the grand jury system.

We attack it because it prescribes rules and perpetuates methods for determining differences between men that are rejected by all men in all other matters that concern their material interests.

We condemn it as giving a single mind, and not always an honest one, equal consideration with that of eleven, that have reached a conclusion through clearer perceptions and greater integrity.

We arraign it before the bar of public opinion, as being contrary to the spirit of a more enlightened age than the one in which it had its origin.

We have no veneration for it, for though it be ancient, it has no gray hairs, and is no more entitled to veneration on account of its antiquity than is an Egyptian mummy.

We put it behind us, as belonging to the ancient past, serving its purpose well enough in its day, perhaps, but it has no place in the machinery devised in a more progressive age for determining differences, where it can only obstruct, instead of assist, in promoting the ends of justice.

We denounce it as fruitful of litigation, as retarding justice, as shielding crime; we doubly denounce it as absurd.

Your committee, therefore, entertaining these views report back bill No. 57, S., with the recommendation that no further action be had thereon; and with the further recommendation that joint resolution No. 17, be agreed to.

Respectfully submitted,

R. J. FLINT,

THE SPECIAL ORDER.

No. 258, S.,

A bill relating to trespassing on State lands, and for the repeal of chapter 21, of the general laws of 1871, entitled, "an act to consolidate and amend the laws relating to trespassing on State lands."

Being the special order for this hour, was taken up.

Senator Barron offered the following amendment:

Amend by substituting "Commissioners of School and University Lands," for "Governor," in 12th, 13th, and 14th lines, of section 4.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Barron offered the following amendment:

Add to section 1; provided, however, that this act shall apply only to lands which are subject to entry and purchase at the office of the Commissioners of School and University Lands.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Barden offered the following amendment:

Amend by inserting in 8th line, of section 4, of printed bill, the word, "five," between the words, "the" and "most," so that it will read, "in the five most public places," &c.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Hudd offered the following amendment:

Amend section 9, by adding to said section; provided, nothing in this act contained shall interfere with any pending suit for trespass on State lands, or any seizure and settlements now pending.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Hudd moved to re-commit the bill to the Committee on Judiciary,

Which motion was lost by the following vote :

Ayes—Senators Barney, Cavanagh, R. E. Davis, Eastman, Hudd, McFarland, Mitchell, Potter, Ryan, and Silverthorn—10.

Nays—Senators Baker, Barden, Barron, Blair, Bryant, H. N. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Farr, Flint, Hathaway, Hiner, Nevins, Rounds, Schuette, Scott, Tate, and Wilmot—18.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
MADISON, March 1, 1876.

To the honorable, the Legislature:

I herewith transmit, for your information, a copy of a joint resolution adopted by the legislature of Minnesota, approved January 25, 1876, and a copy of the letter of transmissal from the Secretary of State, dated at St. Paul, Minnesota, February 25, 1876.

H. LUDINGTON,
Governor.

ST. PAUL, MINN., February 25, 1876.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, H. LUDINGTON,
Governor of the State of Wisconsin:

I have the honor herewith to transmit to you a copy of a joint resolution passed by the Minnesota legislature, approved January 25, 1876.

The duty of forwarding a copy of the resolution is one that properly belongs to this office, and it would have been promptly attended to had not the resolution in express terms requested the Governor so to do.

This has created some confusion or misunderstanding about it, and will explain the delay that has occurred.

Your obedient servant.

J. S. IRGENS,
Secretary of State.

JOINT RESOLUTION,

Appointing a committee to confer relative to the harbor at western end of Lake Superior.

WHEREAS, The harbor formed by the St. Louis River, at the western end of Lake Superior, is within the limits of both the States of Wisconsin and Minnesota, and both States are directly and equally interested in its proper improvement by the General Government, to the end that it may be speedily fitted for use by the great commerce seeking that natural gateway to the northwest; and,

WHEREAS, Unhappy differences have arisen between the State of Wisconsin and a municipality of this commonwealth, as to the mode of such improvement, which tend to delay and defeat the realization of the result desired by both these communities, and to produce ill feeling and misunderstandings between the sister States; and,

WHEREAS, It will be in every way to the best interests of the States of Wisconsin and Minnesota to have an amicable arrangement of the pending differences, and united efforts for the protection and improvement of our common harbor take the place of divided opinions and hostile movements; therefore,

Resolved by the legislature of the State of Minnesota, That a committee of five, two from the senate and three from the house, be appointed to meet a similar committee, should one be appointed by the legislature of Wisconsin, and consider the questions at issue between the two States, making report to the legislature of their conclusions and recommendations in reference thereto.

Resolved, That the Governor is requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor of Wisconsin, with a request that it be laid before the legislature of that State.

Approved January 25, 1876.

STATE OF MINNESOTA,
OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE.

I certify the foregoing to be a true and correct copy of the original on file in this office.

Witness my hand, and the great seal of the State, this 25th day of February, A. D., 1876.

[SEAL.]

J. S. IRGENS,
Secretary of State.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations, and ordered spread upon the journal.

By Senator H. N. Davis:

Jt. Res. No. 23, S.,

Relating to the location of the State Prison, and a hospital for the incurable insane.

Resolved by the Senate, the Assembly concurring, That,

WHEREAS, The State Board of Charities and Reform, in their annual report to the Governor, dated December, 1874, say: "We very much doubt whether the State Prison can be made to support itself under any system of management, while located at Waupun, that its present location is too far removed from supplies, and from available market for manufactured articles, and submit to the next legislature in its wisdom, to determine whether it is good policy for the State longer to continue the State Prison at Waupun, at such an enormous expense to the State;" and,

WHEREAS, The increasing number of incurable insane in the hospitals of the State, and the very large number now confined in jails and poor-houses, make it absolutely necessary that the State, at the earliest practical moment, establish an institution for the better care and maintenance of the incurable insane: Therefore,

Resolved, That the Governor, the Board of State Prison Directors, and the State Board of Charities and Reform, are hereby constituted a commission to consider the feasibility and expediency of such change and removal of the State Prison. And if, in their judgment, such removal is for the best interest of the State, and the present building of the State Prison can be made available for the use and better care of the incurable insane, then they shall proceed to select a suitable site for the State Prison, and purchase the same, and the Governor shall draw his warrant on the State Treasurer, and pay for the lands so selected, taking a warranty deed in the name of the State of Wisconsin, and it shall be the duty of said commission to report a bill to the next legislature, providing for the erection of suitable buildings on the site so selected for a State Prison.

Resolved, That after a full and careful examination of the State Prison, with a view to its being made available for a hospital for the incurable insane, if they shall come to the conclusion that the buildings and location are not adapted to this purpose, and that it is not in the interest of the State to remove the State Prison, then said commissioners shall first determine as to the propriety of erecting suitable buildings for the incurable Insane on the grounds of the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, or on the grounds of the Northern Hospital for the Insane; and if they shall decide that it is in the interest of the State to occupy these grounds for this purpose, it shall be their duty to report a bill to the next legislature, providing for the erection of suitable buildings for said hospital, either in connection with the Wisconsin State Hospital, or the Northern Hospital for the Insane; but if, in the judgment of the commissioners, a separate hospital for the incurable insane should be established, then they shall proceed to select a suitable site, and purchase the same, and the Governor shall draw his warrant on the State Treasurer, and pay for the lands so selected, taking a warranty deed in the name of the State of Wisconsin. And it shall be the duty of said commissioners to report a bill to the next legislature, providing for the erection of suitable buildings for said hospital, on the lands selected for that purpose.

Resolved, That said commissioners shall meet at the capitol, in Madison, at such time as the Governor shall designate, and shall immediately enter upon the duties provided for in the foregoing resolutions.

The resolutions were referred to the Committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

The special committee, to whom was referred No. 30, S., in relation to the university and the experimental farm, having had the matter under consideration, beg leave to report:

That we have had every facility afforded us by the resident regents of the university and the farm superintendent to examine into the conduct of affairs, the character, quality, and quantity of work performed, and the system of accounting for the same.

We have visited the university and carefully examined the buildings, farm and grounds, and the property connected therewith; we have also examined their books of account, and find in them a clear, perspicuous detail statement of all transactions in relation to the farm. The system of accounts is most admirable and satisfactory, with this single criticism: under the head of "experimental farm" we find the total expenses $4,071.29, which, without explanation, would tend to mislead, and indicate a much larger expense upon the farm, and especially in experiments, than is in fact made.

A careful examination and analysis of the accounts discloses that not exceeding one-third of that amount was consumed in conducting actual experiments. The balance having been used for clearing, grubbing and preparing new lands, the general care and improvement of the entire farm together with the drive-ways and the extensive grounds of the university proper.

The farm superintendent, with his laborers and teams, have been employed much of the time in the general care and improvement of the entire property; the result of which is apparent, and also in the preparation and delivery of fuel at the university, grading and clearing up the university grounds, transplanting trees, and the general work always required in keeping up, and in repair, extensive buildings of the character of those on the university grounds.

All this, in the classification of accounts, has been charged under the head of "experimental farm," conveying the impression that the expense of conducting the experiments, has been nearly three times what it in fact has been.

While we are satisfied that the accounts are correct and the expenses not unreasonable, we would suggest that hereafter, if practicable, the account should be so kept and reported, as to more clearly show the actual costs of conducting the experiments.

It should not be expected that experimental farming can be made remunerative in the way of immediate returns for products sold, but it is hoped the general benefits to be derived from the results attained, will compensate the people of the whole State.

The opportunity given to us to look into the management of the affairs of the university generally, has increased our faith in its usefulness, and, while we saw the need of much that ought to be done, we can but commend the general policy of the regents in keeping their expenses within the means at their commands. It is too apt to be the case that state institutions over-draw their funds, and are not as particular in this respect as they might be.

We find here an exception to the general rule, and are glad to commend it.

In the future, as the means will allow, we look to see permanent improvements and useful and ornamental changes, that will greatly add to the charm of the beautiful location of this seat of learning, making it, as it should be, the just pride of the State, not only for its solid learning, but for its refining and elevating influences.

We have seen much to commend and but little to criticise, and, in conclusion, we cannot but express our satisfaction at the condition of the university, and its progress in the past, and its promise of great good in the future, to the people of the State.

A bill to amend chapter 184, laws of 1874, entitled, an act to revise and consolidate and amend the charter of the city of Milwaukee, and the several acts amendatory thereof.

Was recalled from the Assembly.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Engrossed Bills have examined and find correctly engrossed the following bills:

No. 209, S.,

A bill to amend section 76, of chapter 142, of the revised statutes of the State of Wisconsin, entitled, of the partition of land owned by several persons.

No. 273, S.,

A bill for the construction of a dam on Otter Creek, township 40, range 18 east, in Oconto county, Wisconsin, and maintain the same for manufacturing purposes.

D. E. WELCH,
Chairman.

The Committee on Banks and Banking, to which was referred,
No. 217, S.,

A bill to authorize town supervisors to form fire districts, and to purchase apparatus for the extinguishment of fires in unincorporated villages, and maintenance of fire departments in such villages.

No. 253, S.,

A bill to protect depositors in State and national banks.

No. 258, A.,

A bill to punish fraudulent banking.

Have had the same under consideration and directed me to report the bills back, and recommend that they be indefinitely postponed.

WM. BLAIR,
Chairman.

The majority of the Committee on Incorporations, to whom was referred,

No. 98, A.,

A bill to amend and re-enact as amended chapter 333, of the laws of 1875, entitled, "an act to amend chapter 6, of the private and local laws of 1872, entitled, 'an act to incorporate the city of Eau Claire,'" so as to authorize the construction of water-works by and for said city.

Have had the same under consideration, and report the same back without recommendation.

R. H. BAKER,
E. EASTMAN.

The undersigned, a minority of the committee to whom was referred,

No. 98, A.,

A bill to amend, and re-enact as amended, chapter 333, of the laws of 1875, entitled, an act to amend chapter 16, of the private and local laws of 1872, entitled, an act to incorporate the city of Eau Claire, so as to authorize the construction of water-works by and for said city.

Have had the same under consideration and would respectfully report: Your committee find that a dam, as asked for in this bill, to-wit, a dam sixteen feet high, with a system of piers and booms, is not necessary for the purpose of affording water-works for the city.

The real object of the bill is unquestionably to produce slack-water, for the distance of five or six miles, to enable the city of Eau Claire to make a cut-off and construct a system of dams and booms, and storage for logs necessary to accommodate the large and increasing lumber interests of the city.

The proposed water-works can be provided for without the dam asked for in this bill.

We find that the Chippewa River is navigable between Chippewa

Falls and Eau Claire, in all stages of water, from low to extremely low, for lumber and logs; that rafting and the running of timber is being done without interruption, except in extreme low water, say from five to six weeks during each season, the amount of lumber run down, said river being very large—the evidence placing it at from 65 to 79 millions annually. The lumber interest above Eau Claire, would be adversely affected by the proposed dam, for the facts conclusively demonstrate that a pond five or six miles long, forming slack-water, creating new channels, and the pond filled with piers and booms, must to a certainty obstruct the navigation of the stream. What effect the locking of lumber through the dam might have, is one of opinion, for it would be experimental at the best, and no one can say certainly what the result would be.

The question of improving the Chippewa River, as suggested by the plans submitted by Colonel Farquhar, a government engineer, as well as the constitutionality of an act for granting charters for the erection of dams on navigable streams, your committee do not undertake to solve, for we are neither lawyers nor civil engineers.

About the only question for the Senate to determine is, whether under the pretext of providing water-works for the city of Eau Claire, a bill shall be passed which has for its real purpose the erection of a dam with its attendant piers, booms, &c., to enable the lumber manufacturers of that city to increase their storage capacity, and allow them to prosecute their large and growing business with more safety and economy at the expense of other manufacturers, who are prosecuting a like business farther up the stream. In view of the foregoing facts, I cannot unite in recommending the passage of the bill.

THOMAS B. SCOTT.

The Committee on Finance, to whom was referred,
Res. No. 46, S.,

Resolved, That the Committee on Finance, to which was referred a communication from the State Treasurer in answer to Resolution No. 8, Senate, requesting the State Treasurer to furnish a statement of the receipts and disbursements of the treasurer, on the various funds between the 30th day of September, 1875, and the 1st day of January, 1876, and the balances belonging to the different funds on the day last named, be and is hereby directed to examine said communication and vouchers in detail, and report at an early day.

Respectfully report, that pursuant to said resolution, your committee have examined the said communication and vouchers, as far as obtainable, and the expenditures in detail, and your committee find as follows:

That the disbursements under the headings of the departments, are principally for the quarter's salaries of the officers employed in those departments and authorized by law; that under the heading, "Protecting State Lands," the disbursements named are for warrants drawn in payment of salaries of agents: and for the other disbursements named in said report, your committee find itemized bills on file with warrants in the Secretary's office except, in the following cases, viz:

SUPERIOR HARBOR FUND.

A warrant drawn to—

I. A. Lapham, for expenses to examine harbor.....	$58 65
Wm. R. Taylor, for expenses to examine harbor	500 00

W. R. Taylor, for expenses in examining improvement	500 00
H. Merriman	160 00
	2,260 00

That in examining the items under the heading "Governor's contingent fund," your committee found it necessary to examine the contingent-expense book in the executive office; that in doing so we find the disbursements under this heading to be during the last two years, $2,891.05.

The following entries are made in the book with no vouchers on file except as named:

Transportation of indigent soldiers, (voucher on file $6.50,).....	$26 35

Telegraphing on official business to date (only voucher on file $2.40)...	52 25

That under the heading "contingent expenses," your committee find itemized bills for all the purchases named, but the prices for most of the articles and the labor furnished and paid for, under the several headings are at full twenty-five per cent. above market value, and in some instances fifty per cent., namely, the repairs on the three boilers consisted in putting on two new sheets to each boiler, putting in eight flues, without removing them from their position or breaking steam connections, for which the iron is charged at 15 cents per pound, the rivets at $12\frac{1}{2}$ cents per pound, the flues at 90 cents per foot, were quoted in the market report at the same time for the same material used at 10 and 6 cents per pound, and the flues at 38 cents per foot, and the total expense in repairing said boilers for material and labor, amounting to \$2,390.11, and additional for brick-work, \$579.32. The same party who repaired the boilers, offers to make for your committee new boilers, of the same size, number of flues, and iron, furnishing material, and delivering the same on cars, in Milwaukee, for \$700 each.

Under the heading, "painting capitol, oils and paints," $2, 251.68 was for labor in painting the outside of capitol building; the, same work was done in the same manner in 1870 for $1,426.52. And for the amount of white lead, bills on file for said work, 7,685 pounds at 11 cents per pound. Your committee, from conversation with practical painters, cannot think that amount could be used, and that strictly pure white lead should have been purchased at 20 per cent. less at that time. The other items, including oil, are proportionately above the market price. That, in examining these accounts, your committee were led to look for some items in the superintendent of public property's office, but in doing so, could find no bills on file in that office or in the Secretary of State's office for the purchases of goods bought for this department for the past year.

At the high price paid for material and supplies purchased for the State, and from statements made, your committee are led to believe that drawbacks on much of the supplies furnished have been paid to some one, but to whom, they are unable to state, and ask to be relieved from further consideration of the subject.

Senator W. H. Jacobs instructing your committee to draw said report, but is not present to sign the same, having applied for leave of absence on account of illness at home.

To Committee on Federal Relations.

By Senator Hudd:

Res. No. 50, S.,

Of condolence to the minority of the Committee on Apportionment, and some other things.

Resolved, That the chairman of the Joint Committee on Apportionment be requested to call the next meeting of the Apportionment Committee in the post-office building at Milwaukee, and the next meeting thereafter, at the post-office in La Crosse, Ashland, or Bayfield, to the end that the federal buildings, (for such purposes at Madison,) are not exclusively taxed in any one locality in receiving and entertaining the majority of said committee.

Resolved further, That there is hereby tendered to the minority of said apportionment committee, who attended at the appointed time and place for the meeting of said committee, and waited in vain for the return of the majority of said committee from the United States post-office building, where they were supposed to be under duress, political and otherwise, the condolence and sympathy of this Senate, while for their loss of time and profane expressions, if any, we say, “Why be ye forlorn?

You may see the crib if you get no corn.”

The resolution lies over under the rules.

By Senator Barron:

Res. No. 51, S.,

Relating to evening sessions during the remainder of the session.

Resolved, That the Senate will, during the remainder of this session of the legislature, meet on each evening at seven and a half o'clock, in addition to the daily morning session.

The resolution was adopted.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Senator Barney presented the following communication:

To the Honorable, the Senate of the State of Wisconsin:

My attention has been called to a report of a Senate committee, signed by Senators R. H. Baker and J. B. Treat, made to your body March 7, 1876, in which statements are made, in my opinion, far from a just and fair conclusion from the facts, and which statement in the absence of explanation might, with persons unacquainted with the truth, do injustice to many persons.

The undersigned was for the last year Superintendent of Public Property, and in the discharge of his duties made all the purchases of supplies and employed all the general labor in and around the capitol. Your committee state that the prices for most of the articles and the labor furnished and paid for are at full twenty-five per cent. above market value. The records of the offices in the capitol show that instead of this being the fact, that the prices paid for articles furnished, and labor employed, was less than the State has paid for the same articles and labor for a long number of years. The committee mention the repairs of the boilers as an instance to sustain their report. The boilers were repaired by John W. Eviston, of Milwaukee. His bill for supplies and labor was carefully examined, compared with other bills of like character, done for other institutions, sworn to by him to be just and true, as to quantity and price. His reputation as an honest man and prominent citizen, who has done more of this kind of business than any other man in the State, will not suffer by this attack by the committee on his truth and honesty.

If his bill was not just, I submit the committee should recommend his punishment for the implied charge of perjury and dishonesty they make. It will be a surprise to many acquainted with the fact that these same boilers are insured by the State for $9,000 to learn that they can be bought for $2,100. New boilers can not be put in their place for less than $8,000. The repairs, &c., made by Mr. Eviston, make the present ones nearly if not quite as good as new, and if otherwise, the repairs were an absolute necessity.

The committee also cite the bills for painting the capitol. They do not state that three full coats of paint was put on the whole building, which had not been done before. The material was purchased from J. H. Clark & Co., and Pardee Brothers, who will be surprised to learn for the first time that they have been guilty of perjury in swearing to their account, which accounts the committee must have seen, as sworn to by them. Your committee state that they found "no bills on file in the superintendent's office for the purchase of goods in that department for the last year." If they had also said that there were none there for any other year since the office was established, no false or wrong impression would have been possible.

The bills of purchase are the superintendent's personal vouchers for money expended by him, and for which he is responsible to the State. He has no other protection for himself or bondsmen. They have never been filed in the office by any superintendent, and probably never will be. They are, however, entered on the books of the office, which fact this committee knew, and show that the prices paid for "goods in that department" were from 25 to 50 per cent lower than ever before in the history of the State, and much cheaper than some of the same kind of goods have been purchased for since. But this, probably, is not the reason the committee took no more interest in the subject

The committee also state, that they are led to believe that drawbacks on much of the supplies furnished, have been paid to someone. For the information of the Senate, I will state that the supplies mentioned were purchased of John N. Jones, Dunning & Sumner, John H. Clark & Co., S. Klauber & Co., McKee & Folds, Pardee & Brother, Mosley & Co., and McConnell & Smith. If your committee are correct, these are, with the undersigned, the guilty parties. Should they not be called upon to testify? "Let no guilty man escape."

I cannot, in justice to myself and the others thus wronged by the committee's report, close without protesting against this thing, (unheard of and unthought of in the history of investigations,) of a committee investigating the official conduct of an officer opposed to them, and all of them, politically, without at least giving him notice, or making a report reflecting upon him, without at least giving him an opportunity to explain what the committee could not, or would not understand.

Had this course been adopted, I am satisfied the committee would not have laid themselves open to the charge of attempting to injure others for political purposes.

The fact that the committee did not ask for or recommend an investigation to sustain their "belief" is conclusive evidence that such belief is at least "very thin."

I respectfully ask that this communication be placed on the journal of the Senate to correct any false impressions that might be caused by the report of the Senate committee, and if any question exists in regard to any of the above statements, that a full and thorough investigation be instituted.

Respectfully,

J. G. KNIGHT.

The Committee on Finance submitted the following letters as quotations of market value of the goods they allude to in their report, and the letter from the party who repaired the boilers as to the value of the boilers each new:

BOILER MAKERS' SUPPLY HOUSE,
CHICAGO, March 1, 1876.

Messrs. PIERCE & WHALING, Milwaukee.

GENTLEMEN:—I was selling United States boiler-plates last September and October at 10½ cts. per lb. on mill-order, delivered to consumers, Chicago, and 10½ cts. per lb. as wanted out of store. Burden boiler-rivets, to consumers, 6, 6½, and 6½ cents. Morris, Taskes, & Co., 3 inch boiler-tubes, at 35 cents a foot, less 10 per cent., and adding the freight to Chicago, at 25 cents per hundred pounds—a foot weighing about 3½ pounds.

JOSEPH T. RYERSON.

OFFICE OF C. I. RAYNOLDS & Co.,
CHICAGO, February 25, 1876.

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your favor of 24th inst. would say: During the months of August, September, and October, we sold strictly pure white lead, in ton lots at 9 cents, "size of packages no object." Our price for smaller quantities was $9\frac{1}{4}$ to $9\frac{1}{2}$ cents.

We are, respectfully,

C. I. RAYNOLDS & CO.

R. H. BAKER, Esq.,
Madison, Wis.

OFFICE MILWAUKEE STEAM-BOILER WORKS,
MILWAUKEE, February 26, 1876.

DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 25th instant is at hand. I can make you two boilers, 4 feet diameter, 12 feet long, with forty $3\frac{1}{2}$ inch flues in each boiler. Shell of boiler $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch; heads $\frac{3}{8}$ -inch, of U. S. iron; flues of Morris, Tasker & Co.'s best American lap-welded; Burden's Troy-rivet, and Ulster bar-iron for braces. Boilers to have the necessary man-hole, and hand-hole, with plates complete, with breeching for each boiler. The above to be finished in the best workmanlike manner, for \$1,400. Or, if you furnish the material, will make for 4 cents a pound.

Yours, &c.,

J. W. EVISTON.

R. H. BAKER, Esq.,
Madison, Wis.

By Senator Barden:

Ayes—Senators Baker, Barron, Blair, Bryant, Campbell, H. N. Davis, Douglas, Downs, Farr, Hathaway, Hiner, Nevins, Rounds, and Treat—14.

Nays—Senators Barden, Barney, Cavanagh, R. E. Davis, Eastman, Jacobs, McFarland, Mitchell, Reed, Ryan, Schuette, Scott, Silverthorn, Welch, and Wilmot—15.

Senator Barron then moved that when the Senate adjourn, it be until 7:30 p. m., and that,

No. 298, S.,

A bill to apportion the State into Senate and Assembly districts.

Be made the special order for that hour, and to remain so until finally disposed of.

Which motion prevailed.

Senator Bryant presented the following communication:

To the Honorable, the Senate and Assembly of the State of Wisconsin:

On behalf of the trustees of the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, the undersigned beg leave to state; that the peculiar wording of the appropriation bill recently passed, places the hospital in an unfortunate and helpless condition.

In 1873, an appropriation was made for the current expenses of said year, and for the month of January 1874. In 1874, an appropriation was made for the year 1874, which was intended and used for the current expenses of the remainder of that calendar year.

In 1875, an appropriation was made for the current expenses of the year 1875, which appropriation was all drawn and expended during that calendar year, besides leaving a small deficit for December last, unprovided for. By the bill recently passed, an appropriation of $51,700 is made for the current expenses "for the year ending March 1, 1877," leaving the months of January and February, 1876, entirely unprovided for. The current expenses of those two months just passed, as near as can at present be ascertained, amount to $16,361.70, and there is no appropriation from which a single dollar can be drawn to pay the same.

Under such embarrassing circumstances, the undersigned are unable to see how the necessities of the hospital are to be provided for, without the trustees borrow that amount of money, which will work a loss to the State and the institution of not less than $1,600 for interest.

During the progress of the bill through both Houses, and before committees, every reasonable and proper effort has been made to bring about an amendment covering those two months, but without success. The last effort was by the Senate to amend the Assembly amendment, which was adopted, but subsequently reconsidered and rejected, leaving the bill in the condition above stated.

We deem it proper to make this statement, that the legislature may understand the crippled condition in which the hospital is thus unintentionally placed.

Respectfully submitted,

SIMEON MILLS,
ANDREW PROUDFIT, Trustees.

Ordered spread on the journal, and referred to the Committee on Charitable and Penal Institutions.

The President presented a communication from a portion of the Milwaukee Delegation, in reference to certain bills,
Which was referred to Senator Mitchell and Jacobs.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Senator Barron presented the following communication:

To the Senate of Wisconsin:

The Womens' State Centennial Committee request your honorable body to enter the following statement on the journal of the Senate:

The said committee commenced and have prosecuted their work under the auspices of the State Centennial Commissioners.

All our official acts have been endorsed by them; the exhibits decided upon, approved by them. We have raised by our own efforts $3,000, and spent less than $200 of the appropriation of $1,000 made by the legislature of 1875. The exhibits now in process of execution will cost us $6,000, of which $5,000 will become the property of the State after the exhibition.

The State commission, though its Madison members assured us on their word of honor, that one-tenth of the appropriation made by the present legislature should be given to the women for their part of the Centennial enterprise.

This promise was distinctly made us for the consideration that we should not apply to the legislature for a separate appropriation.

We still trust them; we still look to them for an honorable fulfillment of their engagement, and regret that any action should have been taken by our friends in the legislature, while we are grateful for the spirit that inspired it.

MRS. J. G. THORP,
Chairman.

MRS. JOHN BASCOM,
Secretary.
MADISON, Wis., March 13, 1876.

Senator Barron presented the following communication:

OFFICE LUMBER-INSPECTOR, DISTRICT No. 8,
BARRON, March 1, 1876.

To the Legislature of Wisconsin:

I transmit herewith a statement of logs scaled, and lumber manufactured in this lumber district during the season of 1875:

Amount of logs scaled.....	None.
Amount of lumber manufactured in district.....	63,318,011 feet
Amount of shingles manufactured in district.....	20,018,894 feet
Amount of lath manufactured in district.....	9,166,250 feet
